

WEEDS

Consumption is a human weed flourishing best in weak lungs. Like other weeds it's easily destroyed while young; when old, sometimes impossible.

Strengthen the lungs as you would weak land and the weeds will disappear.

The best lung fertilizer is Scott's Emulsion. Salt pork is good too, but it is very hard to digest.

The time to treat consumption is when you begin trying to hide it from yourself. Others see it, you won't.

Don't wait until you can't deceive yourself any longer. Begin with the first thought to take Scott's Emulsion. It isn't really consumption so much the better; you will soon forget it and be better for the treatment. If it is consumption you can't expect to be cured at once, but if you will begin in time and will be rigidly regular in your treatment you will win.

Scott's Emulsion, fresh air, rest all you can, eat all you can, that's the treatment and that's the best treatment.

We will send you a little of the Emulsion free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

NOT IN ANY TRUST

Many newspapers have lately given prominence to reports by irresponsible parties to the effect that the new home sewing machine had entered a trust or combination; we wish to assure the public that there is no truth in these reports. We have been manufacturing sewing machines for over a quarter of a century, and have established a reputation for our "New Home" and our "High Grade" machines in every part of the world. Our "New Home" machine has never been rivalled as a family machine. It stands at the head of all high grade sewing machines, and stands on its own merits. The "New Home" is the only really high grade sewing machine on the market.

It is not necessary for us to enter into a trust to save our credit or pay any debts as we have no debts to pay. We have never entered into competition with manufacturers of low grade cheap machines that are made to sell regardless of any intrinsic merits. Do not be deceived, when you want a sewing machine don't send your money away from home; call on a "New Home" Dealer, he can sell you a better machine for less than you can purchase elsewhere. If there is no dealer near you, write direct to us.

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

Pugilistic.—Nell—"Did Miss Elly-ums act as if it was a severe blow when she didn't get the prince?" Belle—"Yes; she took the count."—Philadelphia Record.

"What's the matter with Jimson?" "Doctor says it's a complication. Played ping-pong, golf, bicycled and got a motor-car, and the four kinds of faces were too much for him."—London Answers.

Ezy-mark.—"A lady told my fortune yesterday, and she said I would meet with a financial reverse." Septick—"And did you?" Ezy-mark—"Sure! She charged me $2."—Ohio State Journal.

"Troubled with dyspepsia, are you? Did you ever try any fancy medicine?" asked the druggist. "Oh, yes; but it wasn't that that gave it to me. I had it long before I took any of your stuff."—Yonkers Statesman.

"By the way," reminded the curious inquirer, "what's a synonymous expression for 'talking shop'?" "Well," replied Joakley, "there's 'tonorial emporium,' and 'haircutting parlor.'"—Philadelphia Press.

Hangin' On.—"Ariat Luke—"What became of the 'banger-on from the 'east'?" Horrible Hank—"He's still hangin' on." Lariat Luke—"Down at the Red Eye saloon?" Horrible Hank—"Naw; hangin' on 'twa cottonwood tree at th' edge of town."—Ohio State Journal.

The Point of Difference.—"You don't mean to cite your government as an example of a republic." "Well," answered the South American dictator, "there's only one little difference between our republic and yours. Instead of elections we have revolutions."—Washington Star.

Two Sinners.—"It is very wrong to tell a falsehood," said his mother to little Jimmie, who had caught him in one. "Then we're both offal sinners, ain't we, maw?" queried Jimmie. "Both! What do you mean?" "Why, you told Missus Smith yesterday that you hoped she'd call again, an' after she wuz gone you said you wished she'd never come again."—Ohio State Journal.

Makes a Big Difference.

Mr. Timmid—How would a girl feel if she received a proposal by letter?

Friend—If she didn't care for you, she'd feel insulted.

Um—well—er—suppose she did care for me?

She'd say 'yes' by telegraph."—N. Y. Weekly.

Not While He Knew It.

Doctor—You say your husband has been in this delirious state for the last hour? Why did you not send for me sooner?

Patient's Wife—Sure, sir, as long as he wor in his right mind he said he wouldn't hav' won' thim dom docters in the house!—Puck.

Private and Public Business.

Boy—Why do you hire that man by the job?

Father (a congressman)—Because if I paid him by the day he'd dawdle along all summer.

Does the government pay you by the job?

—No; by the day."—Good News.

Dred—knows itself.

The lammergyer, or bearded vulture, found throughout the whole mountain chains of the old world, actually shaves himself. The expert barber who has for his customer the Fifth avenue millionaires could not ply the keen-edged razor to the stubby beard of his particular patron more deftly than the monarch of the mountain top prunes his own bristly beard. The head of similar bristles begins at the eye and from the sides of the under mandible proceeds a row of black bristles. From this peculiar projection of feathers the birds derives its name. A layer of similar bristles begins at the eye and covers the nostrils, forming a fleecy mustache. With his strong and sharp claws, which act as a razor, he begins to trim his fibrous whiskers with great care and dexterity. He does this with great regularity and soon the downy beard and mustache give way to a full growth of bristly feathers.—N. Y. Journal.

Canada's Militia Force.

In the dominion of Canada there are about 43,000 militia. The permanent military forces consist of about 1,000—artillery, infantry and cavalry.—Chicago Post.

Facts Relating to Color, Size and Shape and How They Grow.

The color, size and shape of the sponges are as varied as their distribution; violets, reds, greens are frequent colors, due, perhaps, in some cases to mimicry, or protective resemblance. In shape and size, says Good Words, some are flattened, globular masses of small size, others are great tree-like growths, several feet round; others wide, deep cups, and others little lacwork tubes of the finest spun glass. Some are tough and horny, and live in shallow, and, therefore, rough water; and need a strong skeletal framework; others are delicate and brittle, and only flourish in the quiet depths of the sea. The horny sponges, as the sponges of commerce are called, from their tough, horny skeleton, which we know so well flourish in the greatest abundance in water from 50 to 40 fathoms in depth.

The delicate sponges, however, ever, which would be utterly smashed to pieces in this rough water, are only found far below the surface. Along the coasts of Portugal and Brazil beautiful specimens were found by the Challenger, flourishing in great abundance at the depth of 1,500 fathoms, and from that depth to 2,000 fathoms, or between two and three miles beneath the sea level, they were found lying upon or embedded in the soft mud which covers the bottom of the sea. The greatest number of sponges, however, grow in water from 500 to 1,000 fathoms in depth.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN'S PEACH.

A Hostess' Mistake and the Guest's Good Nature.

A young lady acends to the Chicago Tribune a little anecdote of Abraham Lincoln. She says that a good many years ago, when her father was a small boy, her grandfather brought Abraham Lincoln home one night to supper. He was then a poor young man practicing law in Woodford county, Ill.

It was a cold, stormy night, and grandma hurried around getting supper. To have something nice, she opened a jar of preserved peaches. Lincoln spent a long time over his peach, and finally left it on the plate.

Grandma noticed this, and as soon as he and grandpa had gone into another room she went to look at the dish. Then she saw that instead of a peach she had given the visitor the little muslin sack which contained the peach kernels and the spice. She hastened to the other room and began an apology, but Mr. Lincoln said:

"That was all right, Mrs. Perry. My mother used the same thing, and it was so good that I wanted to get all the juice out of it."

To Encourage Matrimony.

Belgium proposes to facilitate marriage by reducing the legal age for both sexes to 21 years, instead of 23 for the man and 21 for the woman, as the law is now, and by making the consent of the father alone necessary, instead of that of both parents.

Stub Ends of Thought.

It isn't a man's character that makes a woman love him.

Take care of the dollars and the world will take care of you.

The bag in the knees of a man's pantaloons isn't always filled with piety.

An idle brain is the anarchist's workshop.

Cupid is not an intellectual being.

A newspaper is the diary of history.

Some foolish young people don't know the difference between a broken heart and a disordered liver.—Detroit Free Press.

A Remarkable Record.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a remarkable record. It has been in use for over thirty years, during which time many million battles have been sold and used. It has long been the standard and main reliance in the treatment of croup in thousands of homes, yet during all this time no case has ever been reported to the manufacturers in which it failed to effect a cure. When given as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even as soon as the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. It is pleasant to take, many children like it. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by H. M. Horton, Burns; Fred Haines, Harney.

"After my first baby was born I did not seem to regain my strength although the doctor gave me a tonic which he considered very superior, but instead of getting better I grew weaker every day. My husband insisted that I take Wine of Cardui for a week and see what it would do for me. I did take the medicine and was very grateful to find my strength and health slowly returning. In two weeks I was out of bed and in a month I was able to take up my usual duties. I am very enthusiastic in its praise."

Wine of Cardui reinforces the organs of generation for the ordeal of pregnancy and childbirth. It prevents miscarriage. No woman who takes Wine of Cardui need fear the coming of her child. If Mrs. Unrath had taken Wine of Cardui before her baby came she would not have been weakened as she was. Her rapid recovery should commend this great remedy to every expectant mother. Wine of Cardui regulates the menstrual flow.
