DIED.

Mrs. Effie Syme died at her home in this city Sunday evening, August 16, 1903, aged 31 years, 8 days.

The deceased was born in Virginia, August 8, 1872, her parents moving to Lane County, Oregon, the same year. She was married at Prineville in 1889 to Hutton B. Syme and was the mother of four children, three of whom, two sons and a daughter, still survive her. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Dickenson of Lawen, were at the bedside when the end came.

The funeral services were conducted from the home Monday afternoon and the remains laid to rest in the Burns cemetery.

Mr. D. P. Daugherty, well known throughout Mercer and Sumner counties, W. Va., most likely owes his life to the kindness of a neighbor. He was almost hopelessly afflicted with diarrhoea; was attended by two physicians who gave him little, if any, relief, when a neighbor learning of his serious condition, brought him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which cured him in less than twenty-four hours. For sale by H. M. Horton, Burns; Ered Haines, Harney.

The Red Front Livery barn is catering to its patronage and has improved its livery service. Feed by the day or month at reasonable rates.

(Continued from Second page.) geological survey department of the Government, Prof. Israel C. Russell, of the University of Michigan, expressed his opinion that the indications for a supply of artesian water are exceedingly favorable.

There are not many things grown in this latitude that cannot be produced in Harney Valley. They raise here their own breadstuffs, there being a flouring mill at Burns. It is unquestionably a grain producing country, and when transportation facilities are provided there will undoubtedly be an enormous export of it. Small fruits are grown with entire success, and as for vegetables, I can say that I have seen some gardens in Burns that are equal to almost any in the intermountain country.

There was a time in the history of many of our important cities when they did not give the promise of success that Burns gives today. It occupies one of the most favorable sites for a city to be found in Harney Valley. When this great country is thoroughly developed it will support a city of a large population, and there can be little doubt of Burns being that city.

It occupies a slight elevation overlooking Harney Valley, and as a traveler nears it, he is delighted with the attractive appearance it presents.

There is a population in Burns of about 1200 being the larger part of the people of the county. It is capable of supporting several enterprises that are very much needed at present. Among these are a steam laundry and a creamery.

Although Burns is 140 miles from the railroad it experiences more commercial activity than many places of the same size into which a railroad enters. To illustrate this I will give a few figures that I have obtained from reliable sources.

From the country surrounding Burns there was shipped last year 2,400,000 pounds of wool and 50,000 sheep. There were also shipped from the county 80,000 head of cattle and 4000 head of horses and mules.

There was merchandise shipped in and out of Harney County last year to the amount of 5,000,000 pounds, in addition to 210,000 pounds of salt and sulphur and 120,000 pounds of stage freight. These figures are for goods brought from railroad points. Freight from shorter distances is partially as follows: Lumber, 4,000,000 feet; wood, 4000 cords; 5000 fence posts and 1,000,000 shingles.

It is estimated that there are 80,000 tons of hay annually produced in Harney Valley.—Lionel A Johnson in the Oregonian.
