

Grant Union gets a health center

Grand opening will be May 7

Blue Mountain Eagle

JOHN DAY – A grand opening for a new School-Based Health Center at Grant Union Junior-Senior High School will be from 3:30-6 p.m. Thursday, May 7.

The center, located in the GU old gym, will provide patient-centered care services for all students, regardless of other health insurance coverage, and involve students in their own health care decisions while encouraging family communication about health.

Starting Tuesday, May 12, and through the rest of this school year, the health center will be open 8 a.m.-noon and 1-5 p.m. on Tuesdays, 1-3 p.m. on Wednesdays and 8 a.m.-noon on Thursdays.

Family nurse practitioners Karen Triplett and Lindsay Maghan will be the medical providers at the center.

Some of the services offered include:

- Routine physicals, and well-child and sports exams.
 - Diagnose and treat acute and chronic illnesses.
 - Treat minor injuries and illnesses.
 - Vision, dental and blood pressure screenings.
 - Vaccinations.
 - Alcohol and drug prevention and treatment.
 - Deliver preventative health and wellness messaging.
 - Mental health counseling.
 - Reproductive health services.
 - Classroom health and wellness presentations.
 - Prescribe medication.
 - Help students find social supports.
- SBHCs have been in Oregon since 1986, and succeed through partnerships with the Oregon Public Health Division, school districts, county public health departments, parents, students, public and private practitioners, and community members.

To make an appointment or for more information, call the Grant County Health Department at 541-575-0429.

OBITUARY

Melvin Louis Moore Jr.
Aug. 26, 1948 – April 10, 2015

4-H Educational Program Assistant Christal Culley has been recognized by Oregon State University College of Public Health and Human Services for her work in building educational and 4-H programs in Grant County.

Kudos for 4-H dedication

Blue Mountain Eagle

JOHN DAY – Christal Culley didn't waste any time in making a positive impact at the Grant County office of Oregon University Extension.

After just nine months on the job as Family and Community Health Education program assistant, she has been recognized by OSU's College of Public Health and Human Services as Outstanding New 4-H Educational Program Assistant.

According to Grant County Leader Shanna Northway, Culley has done an exceptional job building local educational and 4-H programs.

"Christal is an extremely hard worker; she is flexible, determined and outstanding at building partners that help her excel at her job," Northway said.

She said Culley has been instrumental in the development and implantation of the 4-H Cloverbuds and afterschool programs, is dedicated to her work in youth development, and loves working to increase education opportunities for local youth.

"OSU Extension and Grant County are extremely lucky to have her on board," Northway said.
