DAYVILLE – The Dayville School student council and student body served an Aug. 28 spaghetti meal with a lot of heart.

The community donated over $2,780 at the fundraiser, with proceeds benefiting those displaced by the Canyon Creek Complex fire.

“It went extremely well,” said student body president Hannah Flower, who spearheaded the event. “The entire community was so supportive – the cafeteria was so full, we had to start bringing people in the classrooms.”

Hand and others made the spaghetti, and Hand, Mary Wright and Savannah Martin donated cakes. Others donated potluck dishes.

Flower and the rest of the student council, including vice president Kendall Hettinga, secretary Emma Hettinga, treasurer Skylar Powell and sergeant at arms Cody Kluser, and other students helped set up, serve and clean up.

Dayville students in grades 7-12 visited the Grant County Fairgrounds Fire Relief Center in John Day Sept. 2 to present the donations to Mary Weaver for the Fire Relief Fund, and also toured the center.

Flower said she and the other students were amazed at the amount raised at the spaghetti feed, adding they had originally intended to donate gift certificates.

“We are all super stoked that we were able to raise that much,” she said.
