

Clockwise from left: Linda Maldonado, Joe Boyer, Erin Smith, Colleen Lindley, Maxine Day, Catrina Gabbard, Lisa Weigum, Yao-Hui Huang, Dustin Wyllie, Elizabeth Boyer, Thad Labhart, Laura Brunton, Rick Ash, Jennifer Lyncee, Michelle Rand, Dale Stinett

GET HELP
 UNDERSTANDING & HOPE

Community Counseling Solutions

mental health services • chemical dependency • substance abuse treatment

Residents don't have to look far for quality behavioral health services. Community Counseling Solutions (CCS), a privately run, nonprofit agency in John Day has skilled staff with a mission: "Providing dynamic progressive and diverse supports to improve the well-being of our communities."

With a history that extends back to the 70s, the agency also has offices in Morrow, Gilliam and Wheeler counties with additional locations providing developmental disability (DD) case management services.

CCS Executive Director Kimberly Lindsay, working out of the Heppner office, provides oversight to all the offices.

Private insurance and the Oregon Health Plan are accepted as well as a sliding scale plan for private-pay individuals.

The office, at 528 E. Main in John Day, is located next to the Grant County Health Department.
 541-575-1466, Monday-Friday 8 a.m-5 p.m.