Local and Personal

The children of Miss Bissell's room, the fifth and sixth grades, gave a two act comedy drama, "The Waif's Thanksgiving," at the Electric Theater Tuesday night, before a crowd that filled the house to capacity. The play was greatly enjoyed, and all the parts were excellently handled. In addition, there was a Swedish drill by the girls, and a vocal duet by Frances Kight and Fay Damon.

Over emphasized

On November 1st it was reported here that Hugh Schlichting had passed away at Prineville. Now comes Mr. Schlichting and alleges that his death was over emphasized. He is still a mortal and far from being an angel and he wants his friends in Grant County to know that it was all a mistake, and the Eagle joins with his friends in receiving the happy news with gladness.

Coleman aces Poker Run
JOHN DAY – The streets of downtown looked busier than usual Nov. 11 and 12 because local poker players were drawing cards for the second annual poker run.

The poker run was sponsored by U.S. Business Builders Inc. to thank local businesses and encourage residents to buy locally.

Thirty businesses participated. Java Jungle was the first stop for players to pick their first card, answer a scavenger-hunt question and get their entry form stamped. Each business required that players answer a question before they stamped their entry forms.

Businesses took advantage of this opportunity to acquaint players with their merchandise and see what interested them.

Brian and Sharon Whitman, owners of Pebble Creek Apparel, had each player identify their favorite style of jeans.

Dawn DeGrande, Radio Shack co-owner, had players answer questions like what was the biggest TV it sold or fastest remote-control car.

"It's fun. The players come in and look around so they know what we have and where everything is," DeGrande said.

Adam Coleman was this year's grand prize winner. Ron Larkin won second place. Even people with "unwinning" hands had a chance to take home a prize.
