Sammy Kershaw has been referred to as the “heir apparent” to the legendary George Jones, with his classic country sound. He was a huge hit in the '90's and can still get a crowd wild today. You may know him for his hit songs “Cadillac Style,” “Don't Go Near The Water,” and “I Can't Reach Her Anymore,” and they don't stop there. He has true country running through his veins, growing up in the Cajun country of Louisiana, and hopes to bring back a little of those roots to today's country. Join us as we sing and dance to some of Kershaw's greatest hits, and possibly some newer ones as well!
