

COMMUNITIES SHOW PATRIOTIC SPIRIT

Blue Mountain Eagle

Grant County residents and visitors celebrated a grand Fourth of July weekend with parades in Prairie City, Monument and Dayville. Long Creek also held its annual July 4 Founders Day picnic. Dayville held a parade and car show on Saturday, July 2, along with contests. Monument and Prairie City held their festivities on July 4, with crowds flocking to their fireworks displays that evening.

Here are the results from the parades and contests:

Dozens of Long Creek residents turned out for the seventh annual Founders Day Celebration. The Fourth of July potluck was held at the town's city park.

Long Creek remembers founders

Long Creek residents remembered the good old days at the seventh annual Founders Day celebration.

This year's picnic at the city park had about 50 people attending.

Hamburgers and hot dogs were served up by Pastor Ed Studtmann and others brought potluck salads and desserts.

Organizers include Reiba Carter Smith, Gay Pruitt, city recorder Marcie Watson and Mayor Don Porter and his wife, Denise.

The Fourth of July gathering, held at noon, usually includes a presentation on one of Long Creek's founding families. However, this year had more casual conversation about the people and the town, which was in-
