After scoring their final points at the start of the fourth, Burns was forced back on face-mask and late-hit penalties, while Grant Union had possession.

The Whiskey Gulch Gang's cannon sounded with a bang for an apparent Grant Union touchdown — but refs' flags flew, and the play was called back. On their fourth-down try, Grant Union was stopped at the 16-yard line.

Grant Union stopped their opponents' last drive with two tackles in the backfield and a forced fumble. Burns recovered their fumble, and the game ended.

"We started off with a drive," said head coach Jason Miller. "The kids played hard. That's another physical team."

He noted the younger players on the team stepped up in the game, including Kellen Shelley who stepped in as quarterback in the fourth quarter.

"Kellen, a freshman, managed the offense fairly well," Miller said. "Defense played really well against their (Burns') run. We just let a few get by us."

Grant Union has a bye next week and will prepare for their homecoming game against the Culver Bulldogs at 7 p.m. Friday, Oct. 7, in John Day.
