CLUB

Terry Harper leads the group this year as head coach with assistant coach Tye Parsons and help from volunteer parent coaches.

"We have a group consisting mainly of beginner wrestlers in their first or second year, but our first meet in Baker this last weekend proved we have a very strong team already," Harper said. "Each wrestler has improved by leaps and bounds, even in just the three weeks we've had. As my first year as head coach, I'm excited to have the opportunity to work with and watch these kids continue to grow as wrestlers."

One exciting moment from the competition came when Zeke Rookstool, who was behind 11-3, came back to pin his opponent in the final, placing first for his age group.

Will your child be left behind? Does your child struggle with any areas of development? Will your child be ready for kindergarten? If children enter kindergarten behind their peers and do not "catch up" by third grade, it is unlikely that they will have a successful educational experience. Screening young children is an effective way to catch problems and provide parents and children with needed skills when it does the most good - during the crucial early years when the child's brain and body are developing so rapidly.
