Service Stations on 72-hour a week basis

More evidence that the country is at war was brought home to Grant County citizens last Friday when restricted gasoline sales went into effect in Oregon, Washington, 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia and, according to Harold Ickes, federal petroleum coordinator, even further restrictions are in prospect, as gasoline rationing cards will be put into use in the restricted areas within six weeks. Service stations in the curtailment areas must limit their operations to a maximum of 12 hours in any one day and to a total of 72 hours a week. As gasoline distributors will be allotted 80 percent of the amounts used a year ago, the present restrictions leave it entirely to the retailers distributors as to who shall be allowed gasoline and in what quantities.

OUT OF THE PAST

Buddy Bears spotted in Prairie City area

Bears are loose in Prairie City and have taken over City Hall. Fortunately, these bears are rather tame - so tame, in fact, that they often ride with the local police officers in their squad cars. The Prairie City Police Department recently accepted a donation of several hand-sewn and stuffed teddy bears for distribution to traumatized children. Often times, a police officer will arrive at a scene, be it a fire, domestic problem, or automobile accident, and there will be an upset child there. In their experience, they have found that giving the child something to hold on to helps alleviate their fears and consequently makes the officers' job easier. Similar to the Buddy Bear program in John Day that is handled by the John Day Kiwanis club, the Prairie City program was undertaken by The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.
