'Cars for a Cause' show to shine at Grant County fairgrounds

By Angel Carpenter
Blue Mountain Eagle

Vehicles, from classic to 4x4 to newer sports models, will shine at the "Cars for a Cause" car show from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, June 23, at the Grant County Fairgrounds in John Day.

Admission for spectators is $5, and the vehicle entry fee is $15. Vehicles will be displayed on the grassy area of the fairgrounds.

Grant Union student McKee Miller, who will be a senior next fall, is organizing the event and said the proceeds will support two good causes.

Half of the profits will benefit Blue Mountain Hospital gas cards for cancer patients who need to drive to Bend or Boise, Idaho, for treatments, and the other half will go to BrightSide Animal Center in Redmond, a nonprofit community shelter for dogs and cats that prioritizes saving the animals.

"The donations are very meaningful to me because of my family's experience with cancer; traveling for treatment can get quite expensive," Miller said.

She added, "Animal shelters work very hard to rescue and find wonderful homes for animals, so I would like to support that as well."

Some of Miller's family members plan to bring vehicles, and she has also invited local and neighboring car clubs to join the cause.

Her father, Jason Miller, is entering his rebuilt Bronco, her grandfather has a recently purchased 2017 Corvette and an uncle will bring a BMW.

She contacted the Grant County Kruzers as well as a Porsche club and Corvette club in Bend.

Miller said a first-place trophy will be awarded for vehicles in four categories, including foreign luxury, sports car/muscle car, 4x4 and classic/antique.

"I think it will be a lot of fun for people to come out and support," she said.
