Roosevelt, re-elected, carries Grant by 66 votes; Morse, Cordon, Stockman are winners; Hazeltine wins sheriff race Grant County, like the state of Oregon and 34 other states, gave Franklin D. Roosevelt a majority over Thomas E. Dewey for president in the general election Tuesday; however, the Grant County vote was very close, Roosevelt receiving 1,072 votes to Dewey's 1,006, a lead of 66 for president.

Wayne Morse, republican, defeated Edgar Smith for U.S. Senator (long term) and Guy Cordon, republican incumbent also was victorious, winning over Willis Mahoney for U.S. Senator (short term). Congressman Lowell Stockman defeated C.J. Shorb for representative in congress for the Eastern Oregon District. Morse, Cordon and Stockman all carried Grant County by substantial margins. Of greatest local interest was the race for sheriff, this being the only county office for which there was a contest. In this race, the present incumbent, I. B. Hazeltine, defeated Martin Bragga. Hazeltine's vote was 1,190; Bragga's, 804.

50 years ago Merchants start Yule planning

Downtown John Day merchants started making Christmas plans this week, setting three Saturday promotions, Santa Claus visits and two nights of late shopping - at least tentatively. A six-member committee will meet next week to work out the details and firm up plans. The score attending the planning session agreed to award cash prizes Dec. 6, 13 and 20 and also indicated they hoped to have daily prizewinners during the pre-Christmas period.

Late hours were set tentatively for Dec. 22 and Dec. 23.

It was hoped that merchants' Santa Claus arrival could be coincided with the annual firemen's Santa Claus visit. This is scheduled for Dec. 15.

George Trahern, Johnnie Farley, Art Thunell, Mabel Sharp, Len Nelson and Naomi Sager were named to the planning committee.

25 years ago Anne Frank exhibit set for GUHS

Warner Monroe, an actress with Living Voices of Seattle, will perform in Grant County schools the week of Nov. 13-19 in conjunction with the Anne Frank Exhibit.

The presentation is a combination of live actor and historical video designed to bring to students the reality of the Holocaust in an innovative way.

"Through the Eyes of a Friend," using the diary of Anne Frank, pictures of the Frank family and World War II footage, is a dialogue between Anne and her "best friend." They talk about the changes in their lives, about being in hiding and finally about being in Bergen-Belsen, the concentration camp. The performance has received excellent reviews from school administrators, teachers and students. There will be 10 presentations in Grant County.

The Anne Frank Community Exhibit with several other exhibits will be showing in John Day at the old gym of Grant Union High School. Public hours will be Sunday, Nov. 13, 1 p.m. to 6 p.m.; Monday through Friday, 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. and Saturday 9 a.m. to noon.

Friday evening at 7 p.m. will be a performance by Heartstrings of Baker and "Through the Eyes of a Friend." Refreshments will be served both evenings and there are no admission fees attached to the exhibit or related events.

10 years ago 'Round the Campfire Hospital supporters dine and bid the night away

A record crowd turned out to gather around the campfire and support Blue Mountain Healthcare Foundation last Saturday night.

The event, themed "Meeting Us 'Round the Campfire," was the Foundation's annual banquet and auction, held at the Grant County Fairgrounds. Hospital CEO Bob Houser noted the event has grown since its early days, and even since last year. More than 180 people attended the festivities this year, up from 140 last year. Houser was grateful for the show of support, noting it comes as "the projects have gotten bigger and the challenges greater."

The Foundation has raised money for various equipment purchases, including the recent addition of cardiac monitoring equipment installed last May.

The efforts continue with a goal of raising $110,000 to replace outdated endoscopy equipment; new equipment would allow earlier detection and treatment of colorectal cancers and abnormalities.

The Foundation also is raising some $10,000 to replace the nurse call system at Blue Mountain Nursing Home.
