

Dayville/Monument girls compete in Arlington

The Dayville/Monument Tiger girls split wins at Friday-Saturday Arlington Snowball Tournament after their loss on Dec. 12, 43-22 to the Condon/Wheeler Blue Devils.

"We did not play to our full potential, and it came down to basics," said head coach Cheyenne Perkins about the game against Condon/Wheeler. "We were not shooting enough, not getting the rebounds and Condon/Wheeler shot the ball really well."

For their game on Friday against the Ione/Arlington Cardinals, the team had to make a lot of position adjustments due to a minor injury to Aubrey Bowlus, who is the starting point.

"This is something that every player will have to deal with on a team," said Perkins. "I was proud of how they adjusted with a key player out of the game."

While the Tiger girls fell 18-52 to the Cardinals on Friday, they came back with a 43-20 win over the Stanfield JV team on Saturday.

Bowlus made an impact with 24 points scored in the game.

Dayville/Monument's Katelyn Barker looks to pass to teammate Miranda Cook (10) in the game against Condon Dec. 12.

"The little mistakes from previous games were not made, and Aubrey had a great shooting game," said Perkins. "Everyone on the team stepped up, and the younger players also stepped up for a great defensive game."

Going into the Union Bobcat Classic starting Dec. 19, the team will focus on playing aggressively and as a team, even when things go wrong in a game, Perkins said.
