BAKER CITY — When the pandemic stole Jon Deshler's weekly music gigs in March 2020, he took up his trumpet, lashed a piano into the bed of his Ford truck, and hit the road. "That's why Tune Tours was born," the Portland-based musician said. "I put a piano in my truck and went to play for the people."

He wanted to deliver music to those who were staying home. His first foray into music on the road was at the Wooden Shoe Tulip Farm near Woodburn.

"I made a video in the middle of the tulips," he said.

Then he played at Mount

Angel Abbey, and on a street in Silverton, and on the Alvord Desert. He recorded music in 25 locations during 2020, accompanied by seven different piano players. He was often joined by his son, Nate Deshler, who also found himself off work from his
