Special Earth Day activities can be found at Wallowology in Joseph on Friday, April 22, from 10 a.m.-3 p.m.

Go! staff

JOSEPH — Wallowology, which runs a natural history discovery center in downtown Joseph, has planned two days of events in honor of Earth Day.

On Friday, April 22 — the official Earth Day — visitors to the center, 508 N. Main St., can help plant in the new garden, explore exhibits, listen to stories and take part in other family-oriented Earth Day activities. The center is open 10 a.m.-3 p.m.

Events continue on Saturday, April 23.

At 9 a.m., Wallowology is organizing an Earth Day service project to clean up baling twine found on the roadsides and in fields. This will help protect osprey from getting tangled in the twine, according to Wallowology.

Join a hike with Wallowology on the East Moraine at 9 a.m., Saturday, April 23.

To participate, meet at the center in downtown Joseph at 9 a.m. to pick up a route map and twine collection bags. Groups will head out by car to collect and then return to the center to celebrate their hard work. No registration is required.

For those who want a different type of adventure, naturalist Judy Swank will lead a hike up the East Moraine beginning at 9 a.m.

Participants will learn about local ecology during the two-hour hike at a family-friendly pace. Meet at the roadside

EARTH DAY CHEMISTRY EXTRAVAGANZA

LA GRANDE — Kids can learn about chemistry during a special Earth Day extravaganza event Friday, April 22, at Cook Memorial Library, 2006 Fourth St., from 3-5 p.m., in La Grande. Activities will be provided by members of the chemistry club at Eastern Oregon University in the library's community room. This event, called "Chemists Celebrate Earth Week," is promoted by the American Chemical Society, said Anna Cavinato, EOU chemistry professor.

trailhead between mile markers 4 and 5 on the Wallowa Lake Highway (used to be "green gate"). This hike is free, and no registration is required.
