This Weekend

'Scrooged' plays off local theme

"Scrooged in Astoria," the annual holiday musical melodrama presented by Astor Street Opry Company, begins its December run Friday.

Playgoers get to boo, hiss and cheer as the ghosts of Christmas past, present and future – Astoria style – come calling.

Tickets are $7 to $16, with all Friday performances just $5.

The show is at 7 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays through Dec. 23 with 2 p.m. matinees on Dec. 10 and 17.

For tickets and more information, call 503-325-6104. The playhouse is at 129 W. Bond St., Astoria.

Santa hangs out at Liberty Theater

Santa begins stopping by downtown Astoria this weekend.

He'll be in the Liberty Theater lobby from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturdays, Dec. 2, 9 and 16.

All children are welcome, parents may bring their cameras and there is no charge to enter the theater.

The theater is at 1208 Commercial St., Astoria.

'Nutcracker' to have three shows

Little Ballet Theatre presents its 43 annual full-length production of "The Nutcracker" this weekend.

Shows are 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 2, and at 2 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 2, on

State Park passes, foundation memberships on sale

Annual passes for unlimited access to Oregon's state parks go on sale today, Dec. 1.

The parking pass sale runs through Dec. 31, giving purchasers a $5 discount off the regular price of $30.

The permits are transferable from vehicle to vehicle.

"Give the gift that will inspire your family and friends to explore the parks and historical sites that make Oregon special," said Lisa Sumption, Oregon Parks and Recreation Department director.

Shoppers can round out their gift with Oregon State Parks-branded gear, including hats, water bottles, dog bowls, ornaments and stickers. The gear also is on sale throughout December.

Items can be purchased online at <https://store.oregonstateparks.org>.

Alternately, if you would like to give back to the parks you love, consider becoming a member of -- or giving the gift of a membership to -- the nonprofit Oregon State Parks Foundation.

The Foundation is dedicated to raising funds to enhance the state park experience. Those who give a tax-deductible donation of $45 or more will receive a 12-month day-use parking pass as a thank you.

Learn more at www.oregonstateparksfoundation.org.

Visitors are the parks' single largest source of funding.

stage in the Astoria High School Auditorium, 1001 W. Marine Drive, Astoria.

Tickets are $21 general admission, $16 for active military members, those 65 and older and those younger than 12. Tickets and seats can be reserved and purchased online at libertyastoria.showare.com or at the door one hour before each performance.

The show features a full orchestra and guest performances from Oregon Ballet Theatre.

For more information, call 503-861-1971

Weekend art sale for starving artists
The Astor Street Opry Company will have its 22th annual Starving Artist Faire Dec. 1-3 at the Astoria Armory to raise money for the acting troupe and food for area food banks.

The fair, which includes music and food, highlights one-of-a-kind handmade items and features more than 50 Northwest artists.

Admission is two cans of food or a $2 donation.

Hours are 7 to 10 p.m. Friday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, and 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday. The armory is at 407 17th St, Astoria.
