This weekend

Historian/guide to talk about Lewis and Clark mistakes

Recent findings about the secondary mission of the Lewis and Clark expedition will be discussed at the next "In Their Footsteps" lecture at 1 p.m. Sunday, April 15.

Historian Steven McClure, a member of the Lewis & Clark Trail Heritage Foundation and a Lewis and Clark tour guide, will give the talk in the Netul River Room at Fort Clatsop's Visitor Center. The talk is free.

While it's usually taught that the explorers missed the mouth of the Willamette River twice when they paddled by on the Columbia, McClure contends the expedition mistook the Willamette for the Multnomah Channel.

McClure combines a close analysis of period maps and the Lewis and Clark Expedition's journals.

He's a board member of Friends of Baltimore Woods, a neighborhood group restoring a wildlife corridor along the Willamette, and has led tours to where he has determined Clark turned back to the Corps of Discovery's base camp on the Columbia.

Press Gang to do CD release show

Irish music sensation "The Press Gang" will have a new CD release show at 7 p.m. April 14 at the Liberty Theatre, 1203 Commercial St.

Tickets are $25 and available at libertyastoria.showare.com.

The Press Gang is from Portland, Maine, and includes Christian "Junior" Stevens on the accordion, fiddler Alden Robinson, flute-player and vocalist Hanz Araki and guitarist Owen Marshall.

The group blends traditional Irish music with other styles.

Radio station has 35th birthday bash

Coast Community Radio will celebrate its 35th birthday with a party for the community on Saturday, April 14.

The bash is from 6 to 10 p.m. at the Ruins of the Astor Hotel, 1425 Commercial St., Astoria.

KMUN went on the air April 17, 1983. Now called Coast Community Radio, the NPR affiliate is the only community station in the region.

Vivaldi featured in guitarist's show

Astoria Music Festival presents "Graceful Baroque: Viva Vivaldi!" at 3 p.m. Sunday, April 15, at Grace Episcopal Church, 1545 Franklin Ave., Astoria.

Classical guitarist Aaron Larget-Caplan and members of the Astoria Festival Baroque Players will perform popular concertos of Vivaldi, including "Guitar Concerto in D Major."

Admission is $20. Tickets are available online at libertyastoria/showare.com. Or call 503-325-5922, Ext. 55 for "will call" tickets that can be picked up at the church on the day of the event.

Cancer support, chronic conditions classes begin

Two new health classes start up next week and are free to attendees.

"Cancer: Thriving and Surviving" is 9:30 a.m. to noon on Mondays, April 16 through May 21. The class is open to anyone living with cancer and their caregiver/support person. The workshop is designed to enhance regular treatment and covers frustration fatigue, pain, isolation and making decisions about treatment and complementary therapies.

"Living Well with Chronic Conditions" is 9:30 a.m. to noon on Thursdays, April 19 through May 24. It's designed for people with arthritis, asthma, cancer, diabetes, heart disease, fibromyalgia and other chronic health concerns. Topics covered include pain and fatigue management, better breathing, healthy eating, medication usage and making informed treatment decisions.

Both classes are in the Knight Cancer Center Collaborative, 1905 Exchange St., Astoria.

Register at columbiamemorial.org or call 503-338-7564.
