'Other' Flavel house featured in three-day fund-raiser

Clatsop County Historical Society is host for a three-day "Flavel Fun" series focusing on the family that had such an impact on Astoria's last century.

The event is sponsored by the society, City Lumber and the Newenhof family in honor of Greg Newenhof, who had worked to restore the long-neglected residence before he died earlier this year. The groups hope to raise money to finish the restoration.

"A Family Residence in Decline" is the topic of John Goodenberger's lecture at 7 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 20, in the Columbian Theater, 1102 Marine Dr. The lecture will trace the lives of Capt. George Flavel's descendants: reclusive, mysterious, and fodder for endless gossip.

"A lot of people run amok with the facts regarding the Flavels," Goodenberger said. "There's no need to embellish this story."

The evening includes Flavel home movies. Tickets are $10 and sold at the door.

A reception at the Capt. George Flavel residence is at 7 p.m. Friday, Sept. 21, at the home, 627 15th St.

Attendees will view home movies never seen before in public. The films span the 1930s, '40s and '50s and capture the family at home and on world travels. Tickets are $75 per person. Space is limited.

Attendees will enjoy cocktails and hors d'oeuvres. In addition, attendees will be able to bid for wine at the Capt. Flavel home and a catered dinner at the Capt. George Flavel House Museum.

Self-guided tours of the residence are from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 22. The public will be able to see work accomplished in the ongoing restoration. Tickets are $10 for historical society members and $25 for nonmembers.

Letter to the Editor

Why you should support jail bond

I have lived in Clatsop County since 1971. During that period, I was employed as an Oregon State peace officer with the University of Oregon assigned to Job Corps, a member of the Astoria Police Department and a part-time jail deputy.

Working in this field of law enforcement, I had occasion to become involved in the workings of the Clatsop County Jail.

I am familiar with many of the problems of the working conditions that staff have had to contend with. The cramped space staff must work in, the lack of living space prisoners have to share and the ongoing conditions that sometimes cause safety concerns for both staff and those incarcerated.

We have a great opportunity to move the jail from its confined area to a facility presently known as the former North Coast Youth Correctional Facility, located just a few blocks from the Sheriff's Office. I have visited these buildings many times while serving on the Warrenton-Hammond School Board, attending work sessions and graduation ceremonies of the youth who completed their certificate of learning. The buildings have great potential to hold and help and treat prisoners.

Sheriff Tom Bergin has my strong support. He's a strong proponent of remodeling the youth facility for our jail and has led the movement to lead presentations to promote the bond throughout Clatsop County. I ask our citizens to look at all accessible information and attend discussions that may help inform.
