Santa: Couple helps light up the holidays

an in-home care provider for Clatsop Care Health District.

They are limited in their appearances these days because of Ann's work. But they still serve as Santa and Mrs. Claus for the annual Crab Pot Christmas Tree Lighting in Ilwaco and for the Clatsop County Children's Services dinner and party for children in foster care and their families.

They presided over 300 people at Tuesday night's Children's Services dinner at the Astoria Elks Lodge. Donations from the Elks, Kiwanis Club and Coast Guard made it a memorable event.

"We like doing the Children's Services dinner best of all," Ann said. "You see the kids year after year. We hope and pray we don't see them, that they'll be in a better situation. Some of their Christmas wishes are quite heartbreaking."

The couple have many memories of their innumerable appearances.

They were one of the first, along with Astoria Mayor Willis Van Dusen, to ride the Astoria Trolley. Before being placed on the tracks, the three rode inside while it sat on a lowboy trailer driven through downtown in the Umbrella Parade, an annual winter kick-off event.

They got to slide into the Columbia River in a lifeboat pushed off the back launch of the U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Peacock.
