Property tax bills in the mail

Property tax statements for the 2019-20 tax year are arriving in mailboxes this week.

Property tax bills this year account for $90.9 million. The taxes cover county government services, city services, education, Port of Astoria, rural fire and, in Warrenton, the city's library and future middle school campus.

Taxes increased by about 8 percent over last year.

Tax payments are due by Nov. 15 to receive a 3 percent early payment discount.

Fast food: 3 new cafes to accommodate two anticipated quick-serve restaurant uses," states her letter to the city.

Re-use of the 6,600-square-foot former restaurant first was proposed last year. More recently, the company submitted a request with plans to also put a 2,325-square-foot drive-through across the parking lot from Doogers and adjacent to Harbor. No new roads or drive-ways would be built to accommodate traffic going in or out of the shopping center.

To make the plan happen, the developer would move the front wall of the current Dooger's building back and add five new parking stalls between the front of the building and the highway right of way. The former restaurant would be divided into two separate spaces and there would be improved parking on two other sides of the building, pedestrian pathways, improved landscaping and a revised exterior garbage enclosure.

Community Development Director Kevin Cronin said he'd been given no indication of what brands of restaurants might go in. A call to Baysinger Partners wasn't returned Wednesday.

The developer that has proposed a Burger King in the North Coast Business Park is not as far along, Cronin said, and site restrictions there could pose problems.
