Fire in transient camp may be arson

A fire last week in a homeless camp may have been intentionally set, according to a police report.

The fire, about 300 feet off Highway 101 between Warrenton Kia and Ocean Crest Chevrolet, was called in at 2:23 p.m. July 8.

Residents of a transient camp closer to the highway told an officer they'd heard a loud boom coming from the direction of a second camp about 15 minutes earlier and had seen a homeless man who wasn't staying in the area go in that direction shortly before.

The owner of an off-road store a block away reported the theft of gasoline and numerous batteries from his business recently and said many of the stolen items were found in the camps.
