ODF declares fire season in Clatsop County

Clatsop County's fire season officially begins at 1 a.m. Tuesday, June 22, the Oregon Department of Forestry declared.

Fire season begins each year when conditions are ripe for a fire, such as a buildup of weedy and woody debris, high temperatures and wind.

The declaration affects all land, public and private, in the county, which joins most other regions of the state already in fire season.

The declaration includes industrial forest operations, imposing various restrictions on operations to protect forest resources.

For the public, restriction levels move from low (green) to extreme (red), which can be found on fire information boards at major roads entering forested areas. Campfires are still allowed at campsites, both designated sites and at dispersed sites.

As conditions dry out (blue level), campfires won't be allowed.

A countywide burn ban is in effect simultaneously.

Open debris burning will not be allowed after Monday. Burn barrels require a burn permit, which can be obtained through the Oregon Department of Forestry or local fire departments, depending on the location.

For rural residences and those within the city of Warrenton, burn barrels must be made of metal, in good condition and have heavy mesh screens with holes no larger than ¼ inch. A charged water supply and hand tools are required to be on site.

ODF fire crews received their initial training this week to ensure they're ready for fire season.

For up-to-date information about fire season requirements and burn permits, call 503-861-2494 in the city of Warrenton or 503-325-7215 outside the city.

Work to begin at 'new' county park

The public boat launch site at Westport will close July 1 when Clatsop County starts construction on its long-awaited new boating recreation facility.

The closure will affect the boat ramp and adjacent parking area, and is expected to last through November.

The county project includes construction of a new boat ramp, as well as a 300-foot short-term tie-up dock and kayak launch, plus paved parking and restrooms. A second phase of the project includes construction of a picnic area and playground.

Along with funding from Clatsop County and the Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife, the project is also made possible with funding from the Oregon State Marine Board.
