

Local and Personal.

Thirty-five persons joined the church recently in the Sacre creek valley.

Mrs. Julia F. Sprague, wife of General John W. Sprague, of Tacoma, died in this city last Monday.

A. J. Grimmett of San Francisco recently works in this section looking for mines in the interest of capital.

Geo. S. Mchewson of Sucker creek valley, came over this week bringing Revs Jones and Sales with him.

Mr. Steelma left some new potatoes on our desk to-day. Mr. J. B. Marshall had a mess of them two weeks ago.

Robert Rutherford and his brother Arthur aged seven and five were drowned in the Willamette river at Portland, a few days ago.

Joe Scott has just returned from Riddle and will take his old place in Mr. Riddle store for a few weeks. Geo. Riddle Jr. retiring temporarily.

The band boys have commenced work on their new hall and will push it along vigorously so as to have it ready for the 4th of July celebration.

Miss Lizzie Harrison, daughter of John Harrison, of Marion county, while out getting strawberries recently, in attempting to wade a slough was drowned.

On Tuesday afternoon some of the prominent ladies of this place met at the residence of Mrs. Peterson and organized a society which they propose to call the Methodist Workers.

The Jacksonville Turnverein troupe played here Saturday night. The show was satisfactory to those who attended, and as this is a home troupe they should be liberally patronized.

J. O. C. Wimer and wife, and John Bucher and wife came down on the train Tuesday night. They left the Wednesday on the freight for Ashland. From there Mr. B. goes to Fort Bidwell where he lives.

We are credibly informed that O. J. Sautsbury of Salt Lake city, Utah, who has a contract to carry a daily mail between here and Crescent city will put the service on July 1st and no mistake; so they say.

The ladies of the Episcopal Aid Society take this means of extending their thanks to the "Band Boys," for their kindness in attending their festival and thus assist in making the entertainment a success.

Mr. G. C. Farr, of Spencer, Iowa, has bought ten acres of land near Grants Pass, and has erected there on a new house and other improvements. We take pleasure in welcoming Mr. Farr as one of our future citizens.

Mr. McCollum, of Deer Creek left the skeleton of a large black bear's head in our office a few days ago. It is a capacious and perfect machine for the consumption of grass, acorns, hogs, dogs, bees, berries and breeches.

Some of the irons for the Rogue river bridge arrived last Friday. When this and the Applegate bridges are completed we expect to see the people of the interior of the county offere, the road will be made shorter and the cost of ferrage cut off.

A correspondent writing to the Albany Democrat, from Fish Lake, under date of June 26th, says that the remains of Isaac Nicholson, who was lost on March 10th, 1884, while crossing the mountains on his way to Prineville, were found near Clear lake.

School districts will do well to bear in mind that after the tax notices have been posted the taxes become delinquent 60 days after the date thereof. The tax lists then pass into the hands of the county clerk and then into the hands of the sheriff for collection.

The Gypsies are gone, they live fat, drive good horses and do nothing, all on their ability to successfully work upon the superstition of people. When they look at a person of course they can form an opinion of the same as all of us do. There is no fortune about it.

Week before last the COURIER stated that the hall in course of construction by the band boys of this place, would be 25x50 feet. We should have stated that it will be 30x75 and 14 feet between the floor and ceiling. We beg pardon for this error and wish the boys success in their good work.

The heavy showers of last Thursday and Friday were very acceptable to everybody. The crops received large benefits from them. Rain fell about an hour each day in perfect torrents leaving the surface all afloat, doing no damage, however, to offset the immense benefits received.

On our first page will be found an interesting article on tree grafting. This article is of incalculable value to fruit growers, as it tells the whole story. This copy of the COURIER should be carefully preserved by those interested in tree culture, for future reference; the article above being worth a year's subscription to the paper.

While Wm. Crump was leading D. C. McClellens fine team from the blacksmith shop Wednesday morning, the horses took fright at some wood sticks lying on the sidewalk, one of the horses caught his foot and fell with his head striking the sidewalk, and his neck was completely broken. The value of the horse was $250.—Review.

Judge Harris, of Modoc, has had another row with Nellie Boxall, in which pistols and knives were exhibited, and a day or two after broke his leg by stepping or falling off a bank three feet high, while walking along hurriedly. Both bones of right leg were broken, and he will be laid up for some time. Verily the way of the transgressor is hard.

Rev. W. P. Williams had the honor and pleasure of preaching the first sermon in the new M. E. Church at this place last Sunday. Fifteen persons united with the church by letter and on probation. The room though 30x50 is already rather small. The building is an ornament to the town and a very creditable place to hold religious services and will probably be liberally used for the good of the people.

Mr. Crooks, of Deer creek, came in yesterday and paid for the COURIER another year. We shall soon show the new paper to the people and give more of them a chance to subscribe. As it is we get new subscribers every day, swelling our subscription list considerably during the past month. Mr. Mitchell, of Phenix, uncle of S. U. Mitchell of this place, also called to see us, as also Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bayne, of "Missouri Flat," leaving their name for the COURIER also.

The festival under the auspices of the Episcopal Aid Society last Friday evening was an enjoyable affair. The receipts were over $70. The presence of the cornet band was a pleasing feature of the occasion. The consumption of ice cream, strawberries, lemonade, cakes etc., was fully in proportion to the size of the crowd. But oh! wasn't it hot? People fanned themselves with straw hats, handkerchiefs, fans, etc. We saw one handsome young lady fanning herself with the "writer." When the new hall is completed it is to be hoped that it will be well ventilated. Fans, oranges, bouquets, etc., were kept on sale, adding much to the receipts.

Oregon, Always.

A young lady of Portland writing to the Oregonian from Sheldon, Iowa, thus speaks of her trip East: "There is one thing in this prairie country I do not like. Every bright sunny day the people are watching for a little black, funnel-shaped cloud in the west, and when this occurs the first thing to do is to see that the way to the cyclone caves are all clear. They tell me that a miss is as good as a mile. I do not think so. When I passed through Sank Rapids on my way to St. Paul, a few weeks ago, I was two or three hours ahead of the terrible cyclone which caused so many deaths and destruction of property at that place. That was as near a cyclone as I care to be. And if good fortune will permit me to see Burlington, Prairie du Chem, Chicago and St. Louis, I will be willing to return to the beautiful city on the Willamette and the "New Northwest" that has Mt. Hood in sight."

Warning.

Until further notice Horace Gasquet, John McLaughlin, Sr., O. M. Paris are hereby declared boycotted. Let all take heed.

By order of the Anti-Chinese Non-Partisan Association of Crescent City.—Record.

The people of Crescent City will not find it necessary to boycott the building of Mr. Gasquets road from his ranch on Smith river to the Oregon line.

Snake Bitten.

On the 7th inst, the eldest son of D. P. Bilderback, aged about 12 years, living on deer creek this county, was bitten on the finger by a rattlesnake. With rare presence of mind the boy wrapped his finger above the bite and walked home. Our informant J. A. Wilson says the boy was doing well at last accounts, and will doubtless come out of it all right. He was kept under the influence of liquor all night.

Important Ruling.

Judge Brower has just received a letter from A. C. Jones, receiver of the Roseburg Land Office, saying that the General Land Office at Washington has telegraphed the Roseburg land office notifying the Register and Receiver to allow no more preemption filings or desert lands or timber culture entries until further orders. By reason of this order no entries will be allowed except homesteads.

The Glorious Fourth.

The celebration at this place under the auspices of the cornet band promises to be a grand affair. The date has been fixed for Monday, July 5th. All the necessary arrangements for a glorious time have been made. Posters will soon be issued setting forth the program in full. This will doubtless be the largest celebration ever held in the county.

MINING NEWS.

ALTHOUSE, June 1, 1886.

Water drying up fast and most of us miners are laying plans for the summer's work. Some of us are going to prospect for new fields of operations—the old ground being pretty well worked out.

Hansen & Elman are hard at work cleaning up, with favorable prospects for a good return for their winter's labor.

James Turnbull has struck some good paying gravel in his tunnel, after a year's hard driving through bed-rock. He well deserves all that fortune can give him, for he has the heaviest and hardest claim to work that there is upon this creek, and for that matter any other creek that I know of in Oregon.

Joseph Trimby has, I am told, sold out his claim to a China company for $3,000. I hope the report is true. Friend Trimby is well advanced in years, has been mining for a long time and should lay down the pick and take his rest for the remainder of his days in this world. All the miners on the upper waters of the creek are busy cleaning up, but I have not been advised as to the results.

German, of Walker Gulch, has struck some new diggings on the upper waters, and is taking out some very pretty gold.

Barnett has gone to Green's Creek for a change of scene and pasture. His partner, Chas. Felt, is still quite unwell and under treatment.

Doyle & Crosby, of California Bar, Sucker Creek, have got their claim in first-rate condition for a long summer's work. I wish them success and lots of ore, for they richly deserve all they can take out.

The old man has just returned from a prospecting trip through Josephine and Canyon Creeks. He found that there was some new ground being opened on the south fork of Canyon Creek; also that there is some excitement about the mines on Chitico and its tributaries. Stewart & Company are on one of the southern prongs, and have struck a fair prospect. They have built for themselves a cabin and got out lumber for sluices, and will be all ready to commence washing this week.

John Hale, with a company of three others, will soon go over and commence operations at the same point. This gulch lies in the coast range, and about 24 miles south-westerly of Kerby. The trail runs up Canyon Creek to Lightning Gulch, and crosses the mountain down to the waters of Chitico. It was told that some coarse gold had been found in the Tin-Cup Creek. This is another tributary of the Chitico River, but lays much further west and is situated in a much rougher country. The best and most direct route to the Tin-Cup Creek is by the Illinois River, thence up Ranchee Creek across the mountain on the trail to the Springs. Here you will have to leave your horses, for you will not find any grass after you leave this point. If anyone is seeking for a rough and rugged road, with mountains of rocks and canyons of darkness, this is the country that will suit them. Yet, there is plenty of game, such as deer, elk, bear and coney to abound, though many of them are not companions of my taste. I therefore leave them for hunters of the wilderness.

PROSPECTOR.

Mr. J. E. Smith, one of the well-to-do business men and farmers in the vicinity of Central Point is putting up a fine residence, and it is also understood that he will go into the mercantile business.

On Sunday last the Central Point school held a picnic at the old camp ground on Rogue river. The ladies and friends of the district supplied a most bountiful and delicious dinner, which was heartily enjoyed by all, especially the COURIER representative. The ladies of Central Point and vicinity are certainly entitled to great praise when they undertake to get up good dinners.

The carpenters of Central Point are all busy. Messrs. Temple and Carson are engaged on Mr. Cooksey's residence and barn. J. W. Morgan & Son are putting up Mr. Smith's new house. Sims & Kearney are building Mr. Pankey's new blacksmith shop. Mr. Kemble is engaged on J. W. Hays' new shop and warehouse. These men are all first-class mechanics as the many substantial new buildings indicate.

Grandpa Constant, father of Mrs. C. Magruder, who has been sick for some time, is now getting much better. We are glad to know the old gentleman will soon be as vigorous as usual.

A Good Invention.

Dr. C. Lempert, of Jacksonville, has secured the patent for a wardrobe and trunk combined. It is to be made of wood, and is, indeed, a very useful article. At home it is a complete wardrobe and trunk, and so constructed that the wardrobe apparatus can be taken apart and packed so as to make a handsome and substantial traveling trunk. The doctor has the patent for the United States and Canada. He will probably call on the S. P. D. & L. Co., of this place, to arrange for the manufacture of the same.

Necrology.

Mrs. Rhoda Boone T. Vault, wife of the late Col. W. G. T. Vault, died at her residence in Jacksonville yesterday, at 2 o'clock A. M. after an illness of over six weeks. Mrs. T. Vault was one of Oregon's most estimable pioneer women, having lived in this State since 1845. Her last illness was cheered and comforted by the loving ministrations of her daughter and grand-children and the affectionate companionship of her many pioneer friends. The funeral took place from her late residence, under the auspices of the Pioneer Society of Southern Oregon. Rev. M. A. Williams officiating—Sentinel.

DOINGS AT CENTRAL POINT.

Among the improvements being made at this rapidly growing town are the following:

The Magruder Bros. have their new store in operation and stocked with a good assortment of merchandise and have in connection the post and express offices. Mr. C. Magruder one of the enterprising owners of the townsite, is managing the firm's business, assisted by Mr. Ed. Owens. H. H. Magruder is settling up his business at Rock Point, preparatory to moving to the new town in the fall.

"Bob" Westrop has "dug up" a picket fence and made a corral in connection with his livery and feed stable. He is also putting on an addition to his saloon—the Bon Ton. Bob is also making other improvements and is regarded by his neighbors as one of the most enterprising and pushing men in the place. We appreciate his liberality towards the COURIER.

Dr. Hinkle has his new store stocked with a first-class lot of drugs and all other goods which make up a first-class drug store, and is starting out with a good trade. Success to you Doctor.

J. S. Houck, one of our advertisers, has his store well filled with all kinds of hardware and tinware, and although times are dull Mr. Houck is doing a very fair business. He is deserving of a liberal patronage.

Among the new improvements is Lewis Pankly's two-story building, to be used as a blacksmith shop and other purposes. The building when finished will be a credit to the town.

Messrs. Pelton and Rippey, two enterprising young men, have constructed a very neat building, and will carry on a general butchering business. They have a large number of beef cattle on hand and are well prepared for all emergencies.

Mr. Geo. Cooksey is erecting a fine residence on the opposite side of the railroad from the warehouse. When completed this will be among the best dwelling houses in the county, and is a great credit to the new town.

David Penninger of Willow Springs has purchased the property of Mr. Mills and will convert it into a first-class hotel building. The people of Central Point can congratulate themselves as well as the public on this important project.

J. W. Hays is erecting a building 26x50 feet in the main, with shed 20x50 which he will occupy as a blacksmith shop and warehouse for all kinds of machinery. The building will be two-stories high—another very creditable addition to the place.

The warehouse at Central Point has passed into the hands of Geo. W. Merrill and Leever, and is in charge of Mr. Con. Leever, assisted by Mr. Hershberger and another gentleman. We called to see them on Saturday last, and—well, we will let them "live it away" themselves. One thing we will say, however, and that is they didn't vote the "Prohi" ticket on Monday.

Last week there was shipped from Central Point nine carloads of wheat, two of barley and two of wool. A very good evidence, indeed, of the future importance of this place as a shipping point.

J. Priddy & Sons have made arrangements and will soon have a brickyard in operation. They are satisfied with the character of the clay, and will burn a large kiln in first trial.

Mr. J. E. Smith, one of the well-to-do business men and farmers in the vicinity of Central Point is putting up a fine residence, and it is also understood that he will go into the mercantile business.

Prof. J. N. Hall has just closed a successful term of school, and we are told will make a trip to Illinois, to be absent for some time. His son is now teaching near Central Point.

Rogue River Camp Meeting.

The two branches of the M. E. Church will unite in holding a camp-meeting near the old ford on Rogue River, about 7 miles above Gold Hill, beginning June 17th, to which preachers and people of all denominations are cordially invited.

Bring your Gospel Hymns and friends, and camp. J. R. ROBERTS, W. P. WILLIAMS.

INTERESTING LETTER.

ALTHOUSE, June 3, 1886.

EDS. OF THE COURIER: I have just got back from a prospecting trip to the head waters of Dun's Creek and the west fork of the Illinois river. These places you will say are in California, which I must admit, but you perhaps do not know that all the miners on these tributary waters buy their provisions and other supplies in Josephine county, and although they are subjects and voters of our sister State, they yet look upon Oregon as their home, and their sympathies are with us in every thing that is done to improve and build up our county. But truly, these old miners of the Siskiyous live in a rough and God-forsaken country of rocks and brush and mountains of one, and hundreds of acres of the most tantalizing brush that ever any honest man attempted to work his way through—no trails except a deer track crossing and re-crossing from cliff to cliff, with many a jump off of hundreds of feet down, yet I found hardy men toiling and delving for the precious metal within those, to me, almost inaccessible canyons. On the west fork I found a man who has been toiling on the same creek for nineteen years; his dwelling is an eight-by-ten cabin, with a sheltering shed for wood. He has also made for himself a garden on the face of the mountain, high up above the river, by building a high wall with the loose rocks around him and filling in soil from the surrounding country, which he packed in a sack on his back. It must have cost him weeks, perhaps months of toil, yet he has his reward. He can now boast of growing his own potatoes, cabbage, tomatoes and tobacco, and has several thrifty-bearing apple trees. The deer and bear supply him with animal food; flour and groceries, of these luxuries he has to rough the kind of country. He will not make a trail for fear other people will encroach upon what he thinks, is his own domain. He is not one of those people who claim that misery loves company. He evidently likes his own company best, and does not want any other, and yet the chances are that several men could find profitable employment in this same section of country. Twenty or less number of men could soon cut out and open a very good trail to the falls of this prong of the river, so that the merchants could pack in the supplies needed by the miners, and thus break in and civilize as it were this and the adjoining country. The gold found on the west prong, so far as I could ascertain, was of the coarse order, the largest piece taken out was worth $19 75. There is a company of six Chinamen at work on a bar close to the forks of the west and south branches. The bar is owned by Chas. Decker, of Waldo. Appearance would lead me to believe that this company will find pay-dirt when they get over the rim rock. I am of opinion that gold in paying quantities will be found more or less on all the tributaries of the Illinois river, but it may be more spotted than in many other streams, for the reason that these streams have a heavy grade and also many jump-offs or falls; but, sooner or later, men will locate upon them, and perhaps find paying bars high above the present stream, for I found a good wash and large boulders at many points from fifty to a hundred feet above the present running water. I think it only a matter of time. New ground must be opened by tunnels and ground sluices or Josephine county must lose the metallic producing population which for so many years has made her an independent and prosperous part of the State. True, we are at present somewhat in debt, but the election is close at hand, and new men—good men and true—will, I hope, be elected to fill the several county offices. This is what every voter of the county should consider first, all things being equal. Vote your own ticket, otherwise scratch and use your best judgment, by so doing we can get what we need—the best men in the right place to serve the county—and we shall soon have it out of debt again, and that is what but few counties in the State can boast of.

Then let the storekeepers, by their liberal aid, assist the prospector to hunt up new gold fields for our increasing population, and after many days it will be returned to them a hundred fold in their increased sales and multitude of customers. Come, gentlemen, help the mining prospector, and in time he will help you.

PROSPECTOR.

Grand Fourth of July Ball.

A grand ball will be given at the Union Hotel, in Kerbyville, on Monday, July 5th, 1886. A general invitation is extended to all. The best of music will be furnished for the occasion. Tickets, including supper, $2. Mrs. E. Ryan, proprietress.

MARRIED.

BASVE—BAILEY—At the Central hotel in this city, June 9, 1886, by V. Galvin, J. P. Clark, H. Bayne and Miss Alice M. Bailey.

Long may you live happily together. The COURIER didn't get any cake, but we blame Hatch more than Charlie.

WANTED.

One hundred thousand good shingles by the Sugar Pine Lumber Co., at Grants Pass.

GOLD HILL LETTER.

June 9th.

DEAR COURIER. I must offer an apology for not sending in the regular communication from this place last week, politics have absorbed my attention to the neglect of other duties, nevertheless the people live and business goes right on.

The quartz mill belonging to L. D. Brown & Co., has commenced crushing rock.

Thomas Chavner commenced to-day repairing his toll bridge.

Our Sunday school still flourishes as well as the Lyceum.

Extensive preparations are all ready being made for the celebration of the 4th of July.

Work is going on at the lime quarry of Burrage & Pomery, these gentlemen are also developing their iron ledge. C. B. Miller Esq., is busily engaged burning lime for the Ashland market.

W. H. Shipley, an experienced millwright will take charge of M. Ganiard's flouring mill, while they are undergoing improvements.

Ed. Anderson supplies this market with the finest of fresh fish.

The dry weather of the past month will reduce the wheat crop several thousand bushels.

I am glad to welcome the ROGUE RIVER COURIER. All those whose attention has been called to the neat appearance, the clean and spicy nature of the reading matter contained in its last issue of the COURIER, have expressed their admiration of the paper. There is no doubt a prosperous future for the COURIER, if it continues to be the bold out-spoken independent journal it has been heretofore.
