Miss Mary E. Severson of Althouse, came to town Tuesday to reside with Mrs. W. J. Wimer, having had that position almost constantly for two years.

The article appearing on the first page of our issue of the 23rd should have been credited to the "West Shore". It was an oversight of the compositor that the credit was omitted.

Mr. S. S. Cook is in town selling the "Victor" wind mill. Mr. Cook was one of the contractors on the heavy tunnel work on the line of the O. and C. R. R. west of this city.

Nels Johnson while crossing the Althouse mountain the other day, laid down at a spring to drink, when to his great surprise he saw a huge wild cat within ten feet of him wallowing in the same spring. Having no gun the animal "shook the mud from his feet" and lit out.

John Campbell, of Adams Co., Ill., is visiting this portion of Oregon. He is the guest of Thos. P. Lee. This gentleman reports good wheat crops in Illinois, but a light corn crop. Thanks to Mr. Campbell for a copy of the Weekly Herald, published at Quincy, Ill.

On the 24th inst. it was our pleasure to dine with Mr. R. Adams and his good wife near Waldo. It is a great pleasure indeed to meet with such a kind and good family of people. Having for eight years been neighbors to Mr. Adams we know whereof we speak.

Our old friend and former townsman Hon. W. M. Townsend delivered a fine oration at Lakeview on the 5th inst. Mr. Townsend was formerly editor and proprietor of the LaFayette Register, and is a very fine speaker. His oration appears in the "Lake County Examiner".

We take pleasure in thanking Will T. Perkins and Miss Gail H. Benson, for a bounteous supply of delicious wedding cake and ice cream. Thanks also, for wedding cards. The COURIER wishes you a long life of happiness and prosperity, hoping that you may never regret the launching of your matrimonial bark, and that it may never sink in uncertain waters.

The petrified remains of Mrs. John Confer were exhumed near Oswego recently. She was buried about ten years ago on her husband's farm near some mineral springs, and when it became necessary to remove the body to give right of way to the narrow gauge road, the remains were found to be in a state of perfect petrification. The body was so heavy it required eight men to remove it.—[New Northwest]

We are glad to say Hon. G. B. Caldwell of Willamette is recovering from a severe illness.

For the benefit of the lovers of flowers we will say that in the show windows of Mrs. Stone at the City Drug Store may be seen some begonia plants and flowers. Call and see them. They are exquisitely handsome.

Miss Ellen Adams who for the past four months has been living with Mrs. W. J. Wimer left town yesterday for her home near Waldo. The many friends of Miss Ellen will be sorry to learn that she has gone from among them.

Mr. Harry Berman, travelling salesman for Messrs. Thalhauer & Frohman, went to Waldo on Monday. The gentleman succeeded in selling J. Wimer & Son a large bill of hats.

ASHLAND, July 28. MR. EDITOR:—Please notice in your paper that I will be in Grant's Pass, August 3d, and remain ten days to practice Dentistry.

Yours, Respectfully, L. TOWNSEND.

There will be a quarterly meeting held on the 7th and 8th of August on the old camp ground on Williams creek. We expect an interesting meeting. Elder E. G. Michael will preside, and other ministers will be present.

R. W. Kennedy, Pastor.

There seems to be a regular crop of panthers and wild cats over south. Joseph Sowell after an adventurous chase captures a large panther. Wm. Bunch also killed a large one recently. The animal had caught a hog; when the daughter of Mr. B. went to the rescue of the hog the huge thing jumped at her scaring her to very rapid flight. It went right on and caught another hog with the above result.

The fourth annual catalogue of the State Normal school is before us. Particularly noticeable as one of its prominent features is the large and experienced faculty, the number of its graduates, and the large attendance during the year. Josephine county is entitled to one scholarship in this valuable institution of learning which may be had upon application. For catalogue address D. T. Stanley President, or Miss Millie Doughty Sec. of the Faculty Monthmouth.

We notice that those who do the most advertising also do the most business. Some think they cannot afford to advertise which may be true. It is something like abandoning a ship, she is sure to go on the rocks when you leave her. So it is with your business other people seeing that you take no pride in your business and do not aspire to an increase of trade pass right by your door without calling in. If they see something new advertised they call to examine it and while in your store they are most sure to buy something.

For some time past some of the ladies of our town have been working with the view to having a public library, and by considerable hard work and perseverance have succeeded in getting together a small sum of money for that purpose. They now wish the public to help them by becoming members of a library association, and by the payment of one dollar they will be entitled to a membership. There will also be light dues. The ladies will do all in their power to make this a success and a credit as well as a benefit to our town, but it will be quite necessary that the people in general be interested and thus lend their aid. There will be an opportunity soon for all those who have pledged themselves to become members to do so, and any others whom the committee may have failed to see. Time and place will be announced in this paper.

A Poor Farm. It has been proposed that Josephine county buy a Poor Farm. Now we have concluded to ask those who will take the time to write us their opinions for publication in the COURIER. Shall we buy a farm or not? We withhold our opinion and give the tax payers a chance for a "first say." Let us hear from you. We have an opinion and with a little prodding, will express it after whereof we speak.

M. E. Church Dedication. According to previous announcement the Methodist church in this place was dedicated last Sunday morning by Rev. I. D. Driver. At the close of an able and interesting discourse enough money and good subscriptions were secured to cover the entire indebtedness on the church, after which the trustees presented the building for dedication. The building has cost about $1,200 as it stands. The only outside help received was $150 from the Methodist Board of church extension. If the few whose subscriptions remain unpaid will arrange to settle the same with Mr. J. C. Campbell, the financial agent, the church will soon be entirely free from debt.

SMITH RIVER, July 19. The body of an old grey headed man was found in the river yesterday, south of town. No papers were found on the body, and it had lain in the water so long that it was not recognizable. A knife and a few other trinkets were found in the pockets of his clothes. It is supposed he slipped in attempting to ford the stream.

Illinois River Minas.

On Tuesday, July 20th, pursuant to a former promise made Mr. Wm. Coker, we visited the mine on the east bank of the Illinois river six miles below Kerbyville, the property recently bought of Mr. Brown by the Kerbyville ditch and mining company, of which firm Mr. Coker is a leading member. We left the main road at Mr. Daleys place thence following a good mountain grade three miles and a half to the claim. The road follows along the side hill one continuous grade overlooking the Illinois river below. The scenery is one of wildest grandeur as we go on down the deep and shadowed canyon. Looking up these overhanging mountains we have to acknowledge our utter littleness for we know if they were to give away at the tops and come together, even mildly, we would be as a fly under a car wheel. Looking away up on the side of one of the steepest mountains we beheld a band of sheep cropping the native grasses from its side "monarchs of all they survey." Passing on down the river, we pass opposite the mouth of Josephine creek and are somewhat surprised that it gets its source many miles almost due west from its mouth, while we had supposed it flowed nearly from south to north. A large amount of mining has been going on in this creek-bed for many years past with good results. Across the river at the mouth of Josephine, we saw one of the mining claims of N. De Lamater, but as we were limited in time, could not cross over to examine it.

A little below the mouth of Josephine is where the new mining company have cast their anchor. We found all of them very pleasant people and anxious to give us all the facts with regard to their propositions, from which, we deduct the following:

The main ditch when completed, will be seventeen miles long and will get its water supply from Sucker creek in Illinois valley. Five miles of this ditch will be built immediately, in fact, eighteen white men are now engaged constructing a mile on the lower end, while a contract to build the other four miles has been let to a company of Chinese. This short ditch will tap what is known as Henderson creek, and will doubtless furnish them with a good and sufficient head of water during the winter season.

We examined the ditch already completed, which was about five feet on top, four feet in the bottom and about four feet deep. They have an elegant sight for a ditch, and it can be built cheaply for the reason that there is but little timber and but little flume to build and the formation will hold water without sliding, so that a ditch once built will be a permanent fixture. About forty rods of ditch were built, the men digging about a rod per day to the man. They have one hundred and fifty feet of pressure 35 to 40 feet of pay streak covering a bench land large enough to afford them work a great many years. We examined a portion of the bedrock and a piece of worked ground and must say that the indications for coarse gold are very favorable. We were informed that $2700 were taken from this place; if so, there must be several fortunes in the flat before them. It will not do to compare pick and shovel mining with hydraulic pressure. If this small place yielded $2700 worked by hand, the yield worked by hydraulic pressure which they propose to employ would have been much greater. The company owns a hundred and fifty acres of land here at the ditch's present dump, and 320 acres of as good mining ground further up the ditch, so they inform us. They propose to construct a large reservoir at the mine by which means they will control a large body of water which they can turn through their claim any time. On a beautiful plateau, they have built two nice dwellings, one 24x38 for the family residence of Mr. Wm. Coker and an eating house, the other 24x32 for a sleeping apartment for the hands. We regret to mention that Mrs. Coker was lying bedfast and in a critical condition from the effects of poison oak, but even under these trying circumstances she and her husband showed their true congenial natures in their endeavor to make our stay pleasant which goes far toward relieving the hardships of life, and casting sunlight in our pathway.

Men must have pluck and business sagacity to undertake the development of a mining enterprise like this, and they must also have capital. They must bring into the county and expend a large amount of money before the country makes a return to them. Therefore, the people of the section immediately around this gigantic proposition should feel very highly elated with the prospects of such an important development as this will be. The people have no chances to take; the company take the chances and the people reap large benefits whether the company does or not; therefore this company should meet every possible encouragement in their laudable enterprise. We should be wise enough to always assist, and never discourage capital. We should by our acts, show such people that we are the friends of our own country, and that we are progressive and anxious to have the deep gravel beds of Josephine county developed.

After a pleasant stay of an hour we turned back toward the main road marking the grandeur of mountain scenery which beset us on every hand.

Cold Hill Correspondence.

July 17. The melodious voices of several of the boys could be heard late the other evening, singing patriotic songs.

The constable of Rock Point precinct has gone into the mountains to arrest a few deer, or deer, as the case may be.

J. W. Walker and J. H. Griffis have taken a contract to cut a 200 foot mill-race for O. O. Ganiard. Improvements on the flouring mill are progressing rapidly.

J. B. Thomas, mail contractor, is building a dwelling house and barn, and has purchased a lot of the R. R. Co., in town. Thurston Thomas and family have moved to Gold Hill. Thurston has the contract for building the house and barn for his father.

Everything is very quiet in society circles on account of the warm weather and the busy season. No Sunday school, no literary exercises, no dances. But look out this fall and winter, for the boys are making money.

From Wilderville.

July 20. ED. COURIER.—Harvesting is well underway. Messrs. Thompson & Ames will have their threshing machine running in a few days.

F. G. Burns, living near here, has a fine hop yard that is looking exceedingly well.

Prof. Whitelaw has re-organized another class here in vocal music of some 29 members.

Wm. Griffin is having a small quartz mill put up at his quartz ledge by Portland parties.

Miss Anna Knowles who is teaching school in this district, will give an exhibition at the expiration of the term.

The parties who have bonded Green Bro.'s mine on Galice creek, will, if they conclude to take the mine, build a good wagon road to the same.

Two young bloods at this place, to make themselves look "pert," got into a row which almost ended seriously, as one of the parties succeeded in knocking the other senseless for some time with a fence rail.

Panther and bear are quite plentiful this year. Several have been seen in this section of late. George McAllister killed one of the former animals with a club whilst engaged in a fight with his dogs. They seem to have a taste for hog-meat.

Albany Correspondence.

ALBANY, Or., July 18. ED. COURIER.—I left your town of Grant's Pass on the 25th of June, and thought I would write back and let you know what a pleasant trip I had. I saw lots of beautiful scenery along the line of the O. & C. R. R., and on the 29th took dinner in Albany. Saw some of my old friends there. I remained in Albany a few days, went to work ten miles south of Albany for Mr. Barrows. He has a fine farm, raises lots of fine horses and cattle. He has two fine calves four months old, one of which, a heifer, weighs 530 pounds, and the other, a male, 410 pounds. They are the short-horn Durham stock. He has also some fine trotting horses.

The O. P. R. R. between Albany and Corvallis commenced work on the 12th inst. They are employing all the men and teams they can get. Common laborers get $2, carpenters $3, and teams $4 per day. The "Three Sisters" is making regular trips between Albany and Corvallis, one trip each way per day. The company has two new barges which will be used to carry freight for the construction of the Albany bridge.
