

Accomplishments of an Armless Man.

There recently died at Potsdam, St. Lawrence county, New York, Richard Donovan, who was in some respects one of the most remarkable men in northern New York. Twenty years ago, when a boy, Donovan worked in a flour mill. One day he was caught in a belt and received injuries that necessitated taking off both arms at the shoulders. This misfortune did not discourage him, and, after recovering his health, he set about earning his livelihood as best he could without the use of hands or arms. Part of the time he had lived alone, and from the necessity of helping himself, he became wonderfully adept in performing all kinds of work, using his feet and mouth principally. He owned a horse of which he took the entire care, harnessed it, fastened and unfastened the buckles with his teeth, and drove with the reins tied around his shoulders. Being in need of a wagon, he bought axles and wheels and built a box buggy complete, and painted it. He went to the barn one winter night and built a cow stable, sawing the timber with his feet, and with the hammer in one foot and holding the nail with the other, he nailed the boards on as well as most men could with their hands. He dug a well twelve feet on a farm in this town and stoned it himself. He could mow away hay by holding the fork under his chin and letting it rest against his shoulder. He would dress himself, get his meals, write his letters, and in fact do almost anything that any man with two arms could do. [Banner of Liberty.]

The Business He Was In.

A countryman and his wife were in town the other day for the first time, and they were wandering around looking in the show windows and having a good time. Finally they came to a bank, and wondering what kind of a business it was that had no signs or display of any kind, the man stepped in to inquire. There was no one in at the time but a very nobby young clerk—who was also very smart—and as the rustic gazed around at everything, the clerk tackled him for some sport.

"Very fine place we have here, sir," he said. "Can we do anything for you to-day?"

"Well, damn me," said the visitor, ignoring the question; "this beats 'em all. What kind of dog-gone business do you do here, any how? What do you sell?"

"Oh, we do a great business. We sell mules."

"No, you don't say? Well, damn me." He stepped to the door and called his wife: "Sal, come here and look!" She came in and he led her around. "Just think of it, Sal. Ain't it purty? An' Sal, they sell mules here. That's the'r business. Trade a good too, Sal. Just look at him," he continued, jerking his thumb toward the clerk; "he's the only one they've got left, an' I reckon they wouldn't have him, if the collar he's been workin' in hadn't skinned his neck an' shoulders."

As they passed out, the man remarked softly to his wife: "We may be from the head waters, Sal, but that's no sign we don't know mules." [Tid Bits.]

Passenger trains will be running through to Montague regularly within a few days. For some time past the sleeping car has been dropped at Edson's but it will be carried on to Montague as soon as the stage company's barn is finished at that place. The stages will then carry passengers direct from that point to Ashland and regular stages will also ply between Yreka and Montague. [Union.]

There is considerable discussion over the Inter-State Commerce law and its effect on manufacturers in Oregon and the Northwest. The general impression is that a rigid enforcement of the law will keep the manufactured goods of the East out of the West and, as a result, many new branches of manufacture will be established in Portland and Oregon City. [News.]

Ben Snipes, of Gillam county, Oregon has lost 4500 head of cattle. There are other heavy losses of stock in Eastern Oregon.

ENJOY LIFE.

What a truly beautiful world we live in! Nature gives us grandeur of mountains, glens and oceans, and thousands of means of enjoyment. We can desire no better when in perfect health; but how often do the majority of people feel like giving it up, disheartened, discouraged and worn out with disease, when there is no reason for this feeling, as every sufferer can easily obtain satisfactory proof that Green's August Flower will make them free from disease, as when born. Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint are the direct causes of seventy-five per cent of such maladies as Bilelessness, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Constipation, Nervous Prostration, Dizziness of the Head, Palpitation of the Heart, and other distressing symptoms. Three doses of August Flower will prove its wonderful effect. Sample bottles, free. Try it.
