John Hall of Kerby, who is mining on Canyon creek, showed us a few ounces of very choice, coarse gold, the pieces ranging in value as high as five or six dollars.

Contractors will do well to examine the proposition of the county court which appears elsewhere in this issue, for a bridge across the Applegate river in this county.

Mrs. Susie Hogue of Sucker creek was in town Wednesday for the purpose of proving up on her homestead. David Bunch and James P. Lewis accompanied her as witnesses.

Our city dads are doing the proper thing by grubbing, ditching and filling Front street. We will guarantee that this will protect the health of the town by purifying the water in our wells.

After May 1st a time table on the O. & C. R. R. goes into effect, which will no doubt prevail until the road is completed. Then we will doubtless have a permanent time table differing somewhat from this one.

Miss Katie Connell of Waldo, who is attending St. Mary's Academy at Jacksonville is making rapid progress. She stands 100 in several branches. Her sister Maggie, at the same institution, also stands high for her age.

Should Mr. Gasquett complete the wagon road to the coast, that will be one of the most popular summer resorts on the coast. People can go down there and see the great redwoods and we opine many Portland people will do so.

A correspondent writing from Jacksonville under date of April 27, says: "The Baumle quartz mill on Jackson creek burned down last night. Cause of the fire unknown. No one was at the mill at the time, all hands being at town. Insurauce $3000."

We regret that Miss Ida Dimick's name was omitted from the singing class at the late musical entertainment at the M. E. Church. Following are the names of the members of the class: Katie Campbell, Ione Vannoy, Clara Bacher, Minnie Hutch and Ida Dimick.

J. S. Howard of Medford, gave our office a friendly call Monday. He has been engaged surveying the mining property of Edward S. Smith on Grave creek, preparatory to applying for a patent. This mine holds out well and will doubtless warrant full developement.

Why don't our hotels bid for the eating station? The trains will pass through here about 6:30 p. m. and 7 a. m., taking supper at Medford at 6:45 and breakfast at the same place at 8:35. Supper, as will be seen, comes too early and breakfast too late. This place would be just right for both.

Wm. Saunders has assisted three men, late arrivals, to secure homes near Wilderville. Mr. Moolier secured 80 acres of school land on Minnie creek; Mr. Logan bought Mr. Vance's store and 40 acres of land at Wilderville, while another whose name we could not learn, bought Mr. Hydes improvements near Applegate.

The elocutionary entertainment given by Miss Binnie De Forrest of Salem, on April 21, was something rare for this place. We seldom meet with such talent here hence we do not appreciate it as readily as they do in the cities. She gave good satisfaction and as she gave one half the proceeds of the sale of tickets to our school she should have the thanks of the people.

The following persons from this place attended the ball at Kerby on the 26th instant: Misses Addie Smith, Alice Smith, Louesa Crockett, Theresa Meyer, Kittie Thornton; Dr. W. H. Flanagan and wife, L. L. Jennings and wife, Harry Smith and wife; Morphord John, R. R. Morris, Joe Mensor, C. W. Beacom, Ed. Kinney, Jas. Wilson, Gilbert Mansfield, T. Y. Dean, Elmer Holton, the irrepressible Newt Farroll, Ye Scribe, and James Stevens of Jacksonville.

The success of A. J. Strohecker, our new harness maker, only shows what can be done here in many other branches of business not yet attempted. He was advised by Mr. Johns, our former saddler, that he could not succeed and Mr. Johns advised him not to locate at Grants Pass, as it was a poor place for business. A look through his establishment shows the contrary in unmistakable signs. Mr. S. is well pleased that he located at this place.

Two colts belonging to Smith Bros. have been fearfully cut by a sharp instrument, while running on the range. One is cut on the shoulder, the opening being about six inches long and nearly two deep and the other was cut on the side of the fore leg. The cut we saw in the shoulder is a fearful thing to look at and which, if done by a man, ought to constitute a crime sufficient to send him to the penitentiary for life. Let us hope that it was caused by an accident, just for the sake of relieving our fellow man of an act so dastardly. None who have seen it can imagine how such a cut could be made unless done with an edged tool.

Since our town was incorporated, a dog must wear the legal collar or he is not much of a dog. Another unreasonable proposition is that if you want to "lick" the remains of a once good friend, you must first lead him outside the incorporate limits; and it's so far to the line that a subsiding passion leaves the lickist fit to be knocked over the county line himself. The collar is a real ornament to the dog and makes him feel big, but the leading of obliterated manhood to a safe place to vent irate spleen upon it, not only publishes our intentions, but is a great inconvenience. Take off the collar; raise the dog tax; cut down the bounds of the incorporate limits, or else let the dogs vote.

The Sugar Pine Door & Lumber Company of this city is now engaged getting out three house patterns complete, for parties in Portland. One is to be a large boarding house, which will be shipped from here ready to set up. The other two are residences, all of them to be finished in yellow pine and oak. City taste now runs on natural wood—no paint. As yellow pine takes almost as nice a finish as rosewood, it is fast coming into use as a fine finishing lumber. This item in connection with the affairs of this company, will enable them to vastly increase their business and will introduce to market an almost endless forest of timber which has hitherto been considered as of little value outside of flooring. The company has established a brauch house at Albany, where their products can be obtained; and they have arranged so that travelers will be on the road all the time selling the products of a factory which Hon. J. C. Drain remarked while here, was a credit to any country. A few days ago they shipped 4000 fruit boxes to Phoenix, made of yellow pine. Let all of our enterprising institutions be sustained.

A visit to the valley of the lower Applegate last Wednesday, convinced us that there is as fine a body of land there as ever existed in any country, and enough of it to furnish homes for a few hundreds of the world's people. The valley is mostly covered with brush and timber, but the soil is a dark red loam extending over the hills, being a darker color in the lower portions. We were informed that the valley is some nine miles in length by about two miles in width, besides the Pickett creek tributary, where a large body of vacant land of the same quality of soil may be had for the taking. We visited the farm of Mrs. Stirling, and found that remarkable lady busy with the cares and pleasures of farm life and in the best of spirits. She was writing to her husband Dr. Stirling who, she stated, would be at home on a visit in June. They have a beautiful home and fine stock range near them, and when the brush shall have been cleared from the face of the valley it will be one of the prettiest places in the world. Looking up Rogue river from here you see Mount McLaughlin, snow capped, looking square down upon this little paradise.

The Odd Fellows' anniversary celebration at Kerby on last Tuesday, April 26th, was a pleasing affair. It was like all the old neighbors of the surrounding country massing together to assist the brothers in a good cause. We arrived whilst the ceremonies were under way and immediately proceeded to the I. O. O. F. hall where a large crowd were assembled as they have done many times before, much to the credit of that community. Exercises began with the usual singing of the opening ode; 2nd, prayer by Chaplain; 3d, responses; then came the address delivered by Past Grand S. W. Forbes which, we regret to say, is too lengthy for our space. It was a careful resume of the progress and condition of the order, which was ably prepared and delivered in the "square-toed" style of our worthy brother, who impresses you with his candor and uprightness as a citizen; who shows at once that he is discussing a question with which he has long been familiar. The address was listened to very attentively, after which P. G. Forbes and Bro. F. M. Nickerson rendered the beautiful piece entitled "Fling Wide Our Banner," with organ accompaniment, filling the large hall with rich music. Then came the reading of the Standard Tract by F. M. Nickerson, showing Odd Fellowship, "What it is," "Its Name", "Its Object," "Its Government," "Religious Aspect," "The Subordinate Lodges," "Benefits," "Membership," &c. The meeting was then closed in the usual form, when a general hand-shaking and good time followed. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in various ways, to the pleasure of all. The ball which opened in the lower portion of the hall at about 8 p. m., was one of the pleasantest that was ever had in Kerbyville. The music by Barnhart, Sowell and Lind, was the best ball room music we have heard in a long time. Taken altogether, the occasion was an enjoyable one and the people of Kerby and vicinity have the lasting thanks of our company for the many courtesies shown us while there.

ASHLAND, Or., April 24.

REV. J. P. COLEMAN—Dear Sir: The presiding elder of this district, Rev. S. P. Wilson asks me to go to Grants Pass and preach for you occasionally until he can supply your place with a preacher. I will be with you next Sabbath, May 1st. Will you please make announcements accordingly. Bro. Wilson directed me to write to you.

Yours, truly,
WALTON SKIPWORTH;
Pastor Methodist Church, Ashland, Oregon.

Twenty-five car loads of oranges went East from San Francisco on the 24th inst.

Surprise Party.

The second grand surprise sociable was held at the residence of Mrs. and W. L. Blackburn, on last Friday evening. Pursuant to former arrangement, "all hands" met at the residence of Hon. S. U. Mitchell, from whence they marched in a solid body to the scene of battle in which Major Pie and Capt. Cake, with their Aids, came off second best. Music having been secured, games and dancing were carried on until 2 o'clock in the morning. The best part of it all was the complete surprise to the host and hostess who were only aware of the presence of the mob when they saw them coming, when the newspaper and sewing were quickly thrown aside, and with that whole-souled manner that always makes one happy, the large crowd with their baskets heavily laden, were soon arranged to the satisfaction of all. The following persons were in attendance:

Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Judson Mrs. C. H. Haskell, Mrs: F. S. Sterling, Mrs. H. D. Jones, Mr. Fayle and wife, J. W. Howard and wife, Prof. H. L. Benson and wife, Mrs. W. F. Van Dyke, Mrs. Stone, J. C. Boyd and wife, S. U. Mitchell and wife, Mrs. J. W. Sherer, Maj. J. F. Buttles and wife, W. J. Wimer and wife, J. A. Jennings and wife, W. H. Flanagan and wife. Miss Alice Haskell, Miss Edwina Jones, Miss Winifred Mosher, Miss Maudie Tuffs, Miss Theresa Myer, Miss Alice Smith, Miss Addie Smith, Miss Kittie Thornton, T. Y. Dean, J. M. John, C. O. Morgan, Arnold Kinney, J. A. Wilson, Joseph Moss, S. White, C. K. Chanslor, Bertie Stone, C. W. Beacom, Charlie Buttles and the fiddlers.

Others were also invited but could not attend. This was one of the events of our town and marks the beginning of a sociability that will, if properly encouraged, do as much toward uniting our good people together in a long and a strong pull in the perpetuity of good society in our midst as any other one cause. Let us have more of them. At the close of the entertainment, thanks were in order on both sides and all went home happy.
