That was a good racket we run on Dr. C. W. Beacom, who by the way is one of our whole souled boys and full of business.

Isaac Simpkins and his son Simon of Evans creek were in town Tuesday. The old gentleman unfortunately got horned by a cow recently, shaving very close for his life.

Immense crops of peaches, prunes, plums, apples, pears, grapes, grass, grain, including broom corn, sugar cane, hops, melons, and everything else is the order of the day for Josephine county this year.

We met W. J. Plymale, one of the leading business men of Jacksonville on our streets one day this week. He keeps a first class livery and feed stable at that place and is a pioneer of Southern Oregon.

The Gold Beach Gazette advocates the building of a trail from Ellensburg to the O. & C. R. R. Now as there is a good bridge across Rogue river at this place our people should see that if the trail is a go it should come here.

It is reported by good authority that the amount of gold dust taken out by J. K. Reeve of Happy Camp has been overstated, but Mr. John Hartman informs us a private letter from there to him says he did get out a nugget that weighed 9 lbs.

If circle ditches were cut around fir and pine timber in this country so as to cut off the side roots they would fall down in winter and could be burned the following summer thus clearing the ground very rapidly. These trees nearly always stand flat on the ground.

W. H. Hubbird of Sigourney, Iowa, who was our school teacher in 1862-3, has our thanks for late papers. Though 24 years ago, his writing looks very familiar, perhaps because we have received many kind letters from him during that long time.

Pigney & Cook have just finished ironing a handsome meat wagon for J. H. Ahlf's butcher shop. Mr. Garrison did the wood-work, and Freasure & Wade painted it. The workmanship shows conclusively that there is no need sending out of the country for wagons.

The residence of A. W. Pressley caught fire one day this week. His house is nearly a half-mile from the barber shop, but our ever faithful tonsure having no hair on the top of his head was enabled to slip through the air fast enough to get there in time to put it out.

A private letter from Geo. W. Wimer of Waldo expresses regrets that Campbell Hendrix, formerly in his employ has left that place. He says H. Gasquet has added more Chinamen on the wagon road, and he also says all the Chinamen have gone from that section to the railroad and wagon road.

On last Saturday at half past three p. m., the regular passenger express came down on the new schedule bound for Portland. Since then it arrives about 7 p. m. in the evening, and about the same time in the morning. Sunday trains also run, which adds one more train per week besides the schedule is greatly shortened from former time.

T. L. Dugger, traveling agent for the Portland Daily and Weekly News, gave our office a pleasant call last Monday. Since the News secured control of the postal telegraph system, it is one of the leading papers of the northwest, its foreign news reports being full and accurate. To say the least it has made a good stride forward.

There are many large hop yards in Jackson and Josephine counties which are in better condition than last year, owing, perhaps, to the high prices received for the last crop. We hope as good prices may be realized this year; but as hops are apt to fluctuate it is difficult to tell what the market will be. Mr. Johnson, six miles below town, has twenty acres and hopes to do well with them; and we hope he may.

One day this week a straggling cow discovered a drop of blood in front of Ahlf's butcher shop and immediately set up a scream of terror. Almost instantly frantic cattle began to turn sharp corners in every direction in quest of the bloody scene, until 29 of all grades had assembled. In their frantic gyrations they reminded us of a lot of women having a mouse treed in a closet. Their manner of approach and then jump back on their very toe tips and screech was just the same.

We call attention to the new advertisement of Messrs. Cahn, Nickelsburg & Co., wholesale manufacturers and importers of Boots and Shoes, Nos. 129 and 131, Sansome street, San Francisco, Cal. Frank Aronson, a very popular traveling salesman representing the house, gave this section a visit last week, going as far interior as Waldo. This house has a good trade in Southern Oregon, and their goods stand second to none. From a long acquaintance with their mode of doing business and their stock, we can commend them to the trade.

Correcting a correction is like offering an "amendment to the amended amendment," or the north-east quarter of the north-east quarter of the north-east quarter &c. But if we have got to do it we might as well come to it. The fact is we, stated that the school superintendent for this county erred in his annual report wherein he stated that there were $1,050.63 in the treasury unapportioned; whereas he should have said that there were $2,231.09 in the treasury. In attempting to correct this, we said last week, the amount was $3,109. The amount is just $2,231.09 sure.

Brush cutting bees should be made the order of the day, and cut the brush from the roads at least 60 feet wide so that the sun can strike them and dry up the mud in winter time besides this would be a great improvement in the country. Who will start this. Cut and grub brush all day and then meet in the neighborhood for a basket supper and a general good time. This would be a splendid thing and would cause persons traveling through to say that the people were enterprising instead of saying "if these people had any enterprise they would cut the brush out of the roads." We have often heard this expression.

"Gen." Logan Post G. A. R. will hold memorial services at music hall on May the 29th public to all. We hope all may turn out in honor of our departed heroes. The address will be delivered by Rev. J. P. Coleman. A good time is expected.

Our friend John M. Lewis, a Josephine county boy who has long been one of the mailing clerks at the Portland post office, came up yesterday morning, going direct to his old home. He has resigned his position, the duties being too arduous for his health.

Gen. T. G. Reames of Jacksonville has resigned his position as postal inspector. He resigned once before, but he was so efficient in his duties that the department declined to accept it but the failing health of his wife compelled him to insist upon giving up the office.

In Justice Goodell's Court, April 22d:—State vs W. P. Turpin and M. H. Turpin. Criminal action for assault and battery. Jury trial. Jury returned a verdict of guilty as to W. P. Turpin, and not guilty as to M. H. Turpin. Court fined the prisoner $20 and costs, amounting in all to $48.68.

Our school rooms have just been ornamented with some very fine furniture consisting of one Andrews 12 inch horizon globe; set of Andrews wall maps topical charts of history and geography, numerical frame, Parkers arithmetical chart besides a fine "manniken" is on the road and is expected daily. The total cost of all the stuff is about $100. The school rooms are also soon to be painted which taken altogether will produce a fine effect in behalf, of our school well worth all it cost to get it.

Compliment Returned.

As the Albany papers have been kind enough to tell new comers to Oregon what kind of a climate they may expect to find in this part of the state, it is no more than courtesy for the papers here to give the Willamette the benefit of such similar notice as may be in their power. A gentleman stepped into the Tidings office yesterday and said he was just from Linn county; that the last thing he remembered seeing before he left was an unfortunate Webfoot plowing up ground on which the mud and water was ankle deep; that it had been raining nearly every day there for the past month, and farming seemed to be an amphibious occupation. The contrast between the cloudy, rainy, gloomy webfoot spring weather and the pleasant sunshiny days of April in Rogue River Valley has made a profound impression upon this gentleman.—[Tidings.

When it does rain in Southern Oregon the water is used for mining purposes and it yields money to the country, while in the Willamette valley it pours down in winter for weeks without being any benefit whatsoever to the country.

From the Ashland Tidings:

Some of the orchard men in the valley have already bargained for the sale of the next crop at fair prices to California dealers.

Byron Cole, who was in town yesterday, says the track will cut off the corner of his house—a trifle too close to suit him. He will probably have a pretty good bill of damages for the road to settle.

Besides the regular daily coaches between Ashland and Montague, an extra is run twice a week each way. With the increase of travel sure to follow the decrease in time and the shorter staging gap, it will no doubt be necessary to run two or three coaches a day before the summer is over.

The contract for completing the Siskiyou tunnel has been let to Aale Smith, of San Francisco, a firm that has done a large amount of this kind of work on the Northern Pacific R. R. The contractors have bought the machinery at the tunnel, of Jeffrey & Co., and are putting it in order for work as rapidly as possible, hoping to be able to begin boring within a week. They also have a contract to excavate a tunnel 1400 feet long southwest of the toll house, it is said, and will use there the machinery now at Buck Rock tunnel.

From the Plaindealer:

The present working of the Inter-State Commerce bill has had the effect of adding enormously to the cost of our printing paper and makes us sigh for the completion of the paper mills at La Camas. Hurry up brothers, now is your time to get customers.

Mr. John Dixon recieved a car load of fine cattle last Friday night from the stock breeding farm of Fletcher & Holt, near Indianapolis, Indiana. The herd consists of one three-year old Hereford bull and five heifers; one Aberdeen-Angus yearling bull and two heifers, each one is a fine specimen of those fine breeds, and shows a commendable spirit of enterprise and progression on the part of their owner. The lot cost $2000 delivered in Roseburg.

Mr. Henry Smith of Wolf Creek is hauling lumber to erect a large dry goods and grocery store at Central Point. Some of the lumber is already on the ground. He says Central Point is bound to be the main business point in the valley in time, and he means to have a business here to grow up with the town. —[Sentinel.
