We regret to learn that Mr. Plaster, of the Spring mountain mines, has had a fall and been laid up in consequence for several days. He slipped on a rock near the Spring mountain mine.

Reports from the St. Peter's Mining Co. on Grave creek are most encouraging. Operations are being conducted with energy and despatch. Relays of men are working night and day and the drift is being prosecuted from both ends. Large quantities of pay rock have thus been uncovered.

The band of gypsies, who were camping near 6th street, after engaging for a number of days in their usual routine of horse trading, raving and fortune-telling, to the delight or sorrow of many of our citizens, broke camp Monday morning and wended their way toward the sunny South.

Jos. S. Scott, well known to our citizens, has recently returned from a visit to his old home in Iowa. We regret to learn that while there he met with a heavy bereavement in the death of his father. We believe Mr. Scott intends to remain with us for some time. He will be heartily welcomed by his many friends.

A young people's meeting has been organized by the Methodist society which meets every Sunday afternoon at 7 o'clock, with C. H. Walker, leader, and Prof. Benson, chorister. The services are composed of singing, scripture readings and religious experiences. A cordial invitation is extended to all the young people to attend and thus increase the interest of the meetings.

At a regular meeting of Golden Rule Lodge, No. 78, I. O. O. F., the following officers were installed by D. D. G. M. A. D. Helman: J. A. Jennings, N. G.; T. Y. Dean, V. G.; J. M. John, R. S.; C. K. The genial confederation of our respected townsman, Dr. Kremer, once more illuminates his place of business. The doctor has been talking a short holiday with his family, first spending a short time in the city of Portland and afterwards enjoying the invigorating and exhilarating breezes of the sea coast. He returned home much refreshed, and may now be found in his accustomed place, healing the sick and dealing out castor oil and confectionery, physic and soda water, sweet scented waters and delicately perfumed cigars, fresh fruit and fancy articles too numerous to mention.

Mr. F. M. Nickerson of this city, has been visiting the Grand Lodge meeting of the A. O. U. W., which met in Portland during Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week, in which order he occupies the office of D. D. G. M. Mr. Nickerson represented a Kerby lodge. He returned to Grants Pass on Monday of this week, and reports excellent meetings. Statistics show that this society is rapidly increasing in membership, notwithstanding the recent dire calamity at Nanaimo, in which eight members of the order lost their lives. We are pleased to state that Mr. Nickerson intends to take up a permanent residence in Grants Pass, and at an early date will go into business. Next week he intends to open with a full stock of variety goods in the old Central hotel property, on Main St. Look out for his advertisement.

We are pleased to learn from the Chipewa (Winnipeg) Times that our townsman, Mr. W. E. Bagley, has successfully brought to completion in that town, one of the largest and most complete saw mills in the United States, capable of cutting about 600,000 feet of lumber in 24 hours. The new mill is claimed as the "best built, best equipped and finest" mill in the Northwest. The Times says of Mr. Bagley: "He hails from Oregon, although for many years he was a resident of this State. As a millwright and builder we are told he is without an equal, and has acquired a considerable reputation among mill men all over the country. It is needless to say that his latest effort meets with the hearty approval of the C. L. & B. company, while the many prominent lumbermen, who have looked it over, pronounce it the grandest structure of the kind they ever saw."

We would refer our readers to the advertisement of Messrs. Coburn & Presley in this issue. Enterprise should always be noted and encouraged, and these gentlemen have, in the neatly filled up bath rooms, supplied a long felt want in Grants Pass. They have gone to considerable expense in this new branch, and we believe will be rewarded by the patronage of the public. They have arranged for a constant supply of both hot and cold water, and bathers can get any temperature they may prefer. A windmill supplies the motive power and pumps water into a large tank in the upper part of their building. A pipe to the heating apparatus supplies and keeps full another tank of hot water. The bath rooms are neatly appointed and contain every requisite for the bath. There is nothing more luxurious than a good bath, and nothing can be more conducive to health and comfort. We hope our enterprising townsman will realize handsomely from their new venture.

San Francisco, July 18.—Information was received to-day from Onalaska that Bishop Seghers, Catholic missionary, was murdered in cold blood by his companion, on the night of November 28 last. The scene of the tragedy was on the banks of the Yukon river, about five hundred miles from its mouth. The murderer is Frank Fuller, a young man from Portland, Oregon, who accompanied the Bishop as a companion and servant.

Wallace Crockett returned from California on Wednesday evening.

Master Chas. Crow, of Hog creek, was in the city last Tuesday.

Wm. Crow's pack train started on Monday, with goods for Sherer & Judson's mines, on Whiskey creek.

The genial confederation of E. S. Smith shone for several days this week on our streets. Mr. S. reports the work of development progressing lively on the mines.

Joe Bowers, who has been rusticated in the mountains of California, for several weeks, is at home again. His foot, so badly crushed in a railroad accident some time since, is nearly healed.

Hon. Daniel Greene, of the Sugar Pine ledge came up to the city last Tuesday. Work is suspended for the present on his ledge, but he expects it will soon be carried on in a more extensive system than before.

It gives us great pleasure to note the re-organization of the Grants Pass band, and that on a footing that will insure its permanent establishment. We believe that the band already owns the Music Hall as well as a fair supply of instruments, and so have a great advantage over most new organizations. Fourteen of our citizens have agreed to join the new musical society and they will be under the leadership of Prof. Suttner, who has recently taken up his abode in the town. The professor is said to be a proficient musician, and eminently fitted to instruct a band. Monday evenings have been selected as practice nights, but for the present the professor intends to devote every evening to the work of perfecting his new players. We believe all the members to have more or less musical knowledge and will make steady progress.

A first-class band is about as good an advertisement as a thrifty town can have, and is as well a delight to the citizens. While this is the case it must not be forgotten that a brass band is an expensive organization and it should not be expected that the members will pay everything out of their own pockets. Instruments are constantly wearing out, and music is costly, to say nothing of tuition fees. We would like to see $500 subscribed to start and properly equip our band. There is no reason why Grants Pass should not have a band of twenty or thirty players, and the best in the state of Oregon.

Prof. Thos. Nowell, of Multnomah county, who has ably distinguished himself in connection with botanical discoveries in this State, has again been exploring the hills, mountains and valleys of Josephine county. It will be remembered that in 1884, he discovered a new species of tree in the Weeping Fir (Abies Breweriana), a section of which was preserved at great expense and forwarded to the National Museum, Central Park, New York. He also discovered a new variety of Oak, known as the Quercus Howellii. In addition to these more important discoveries, he has added some twenty or thirty varieties to our list of known native herbs and plants. During his present explorations he has been particularly successful in the latter direction and his new varieties will be an important addition to botanical collections.

Private and Confidential. To the merchants of Grants Pass and local towns: You are hereby notified that if home industry is not patronized in two weeks more, Mr. D. W. K. will make a run that will cause surprise to the merchants of the town.

Now, I desire every one who needs brouns to look out for the grand opportunity that will be offered in the course of the following two weeks. Be ready to grasp the great chance.

Not a particle of calomel, not any other deleterious substance, enters into the composition of Acher's Pills. On the contrary, this medicine is carefully compounded from the curative properties of purely vegetable substances. Try it.

The Grants Pass Visitors.

The teachers of the valley have come and gone. We have had a four days visit from many pleasant people, and we can look over the field and see what we have gained by their visitation. The four days have been dedicated to the discussion of how to teach, and I hope all have been profited thereby.

I once heard a distinguished educator of many years' standing, say that after a lifetime spent among teachers, he had been convinced that there were three things a teacher could not do: "add up a column of figures quickly and get the right product; spell correctly, and give a reason for anything." He said they knew that such and such a book said certain things were true, but why they were true, the teacher never could tell. The old educator might have been cynical, and no doubt was, but if he had attended the meetings of the Institute he would have changed his mind.

How the word "Institute" should apply to such a gathering, is beyond my comprehension. Some of the most eminent teachers of the country were here, and they were among the most modest in expressing their views and in pressing their claims to attention.

It is true, that some of the discussions were spirited and well maintained; but as a rule, they were simply an opportunity for the display of technical terms and jargon-breaking words. The smaller the knowledge possessed by the disputant, the bigger the words he used, and the greater the facility with which he threw technical terms at the heads of his audience. From the energy displayed in this line, some mighty founts of wisdom were cooped up in some mighty small craniums.

The drama in the evening was good indeed; each one taking their part in a becoming manner. The first thing that strikes us on reviewing our impressions of the evening's drama, was the absence of young ladies, all the parts being monopolized by married ladies—old girls as they were, verging on the serene, the yellow leaf—who should be found in the audience with their family, where they would look much more becoming. What a contrast to the bright young voices that appeared in a former drama, ringing out on the evening air like a new coin, every word and act creating hearty applause. It would be more pleasing to see faces sparkling with the jeweled dew of the morning of life, of which we have many such in our midst. There are many young ladies who are more competent as to ability and appearance, to take parts now acted by married ladies. Young men seem to prefer the married ladies cast for certain parts. I cannot account for this, unless it is that pervading desire young men of the Pass have for older ladies. Could it be possible that the old ladies are too bright and the old ones too dull? Extend the privilege of the drama to the daughters of our village, and my word for it, they will do us great credit.

The music and singing were perfection—that is, to my fancy, at least. I am not a musician, and lay no claim to any knowledge of the "divine art," and I know that criticism by non-professionals is a thing not to be tolerated, but I must have my say. The Bible gives us the best examples of the two divisions of music. Who can sit down and read the 137th Psalm without feeling the deep pathos running all through it, and hearing in their souls the sad strains that come up from the harps of the rivers of Babylon? No, they hanged their harps on the willows and poured forth their song without an accompaniment. It was music, for it was the pouring forth of the soul of the singers because of their captivity and their longings for their homes among the mountains of Judea. Why is it that the "Star Spangled Banner" is the best loved of all our national songs? It is because it tells of the agony of soul endured by the author for fear the flag would not be floating in triumph after the night of shot and shell. True music is that which reaches and touches the hearts of the people. The very root of all good singing is education. Why is it that the recitations of our best actors always please us? It is because they enter into the soul and spirit of the author and convey to us that soul and spirit. True singing is the highest grade of education.

In the evening's entertainment, we have discovered all these good qualities in the singing of Miss Halley Parrish, for which, all the good people of our village are thankful, and at the same time not forgetting the recitation by Miss Scriber, it being the best I have ever seen our pleasure to listen to.

On a visit to a neighboring town a few months ago, I saw two young ladies were treated royally. The people opened their doors to us and made us welcome. Being one of the party, made a resolution that if there was a like opportunity offered, I would return the compliment. The time came and I am satisfied that every citizen of Grants Pass did their best in entertaining our visitors with possibly one exception. "Is Serran, retour le mouton, pour leste etendu." An old adage that will go readily into force, do what we may to avert it.
