

ROGUE RIVER COURIER. J. NUNAN, PUBLISHER. Issued Every Thursday. Official Paper of Josephine County, Oregon. THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1907. $2 A YEAR, OR $1.50 IN ADVANCE.

The time is not far distant when trainloads of "decomposed granite" will be leaving Josephine county daily for points in the Willamette valley and Puget Sound to supersede the unsightly, expensive and dangerous wooden sidewalks now happily falling into disuse. Our own people are just beginning to realize the vast difference in favor of the natural walk, and very few if any wooden sidewalks will be built in Grant's Pass hereafter.

It will be President McKinley's plain duty to call congress together directly after the 4th of next month and it will be the plain duty of congress to raise the tariff on imports as high as the most pronounced protectionist demands. The people decided last November that high duties are just what the country needs and that the higher we are taxed on imports the more prosperous we will be. Let us have no quibbling or delay on the subject. Every democrat and populist should assist Dr. McKinley in his prescription.

AFTER the 40 days are up, which will be next Saturday night, the legislature will probably have a shake hands all around and say "Well, we did it didn't we?" The state will breathe freer and thank its stars that nothing was done. The complexion and proceedings of the senate justified the fear that it go instead of 60 clerk hirers got together, the funds would fly. Oregon can stand it very well if a vacancy is created in both senatorial chairs, for all the good such fellows do. When one man or three men assume to dictate to an entire state, it is time they were brought to their senses by a sound rebuff. Honest men of all parties will agree to this proposition.

The war cloud arising between Greece and Turkey over the possession of the island of Crete is giving the civilized world hope that the Turkish atrocities will be brought to an end by a general smash in the Mediterranean sea. The island of Crete has been under Turkish control until recently, when the inhabitants, most of whom are Greek Christians, rebelled and asked to be annexed to Greece. What the great powers will do it is hard to tell, as they don't always stand to their treaties and agreements. It is said that Russia is behind Greece and that the latter kingdom is to be left alone in its fight with Turkey. Austria is to be the one objecting, but England, France and Spain desire to let Greece go to war with the sultan, the latter will have to beg for peace. The destruction of the Turkish form of tyranny is long since overdue in the arena of progress.

Our Washington Letter.

A mild sort of sensation was created by the announcement that Representative Murray, the colored republican from South Carolina, proposed to enter a protest against counting the votes of that state, when the Senate and House this week assembled in joint session to count the electoral votes and officially declare the vote of the presidential election, but as the protest will not apparently be backed by the republican leaders there is no expectation that it will amount to more than a passing incident. The basis of the protest is the new constitution of South Carolina which disfranchises illiterates.

Representative Corlies has introduced a joint resolution providing for a constitutional amendment extending the term of representatives to four years. There are plenty of men in Congress who would favor the proposed amendment, but it is not probable that the people will give up the vote of the presidential election, but as the protest will not apparently be backed by the republican leaders there is no expectation that it will amount to more than a passing incident. The basis of the protest is the new constitution of South Carolina which disfranchises illiterates.
