THURSDAY, MARCH 30, 1939.

Let reverence of the law be breathed by every mother to the lisping babe that rattles on her lap; let it be taught in the schools, seminaries and colleges; let it be written in primers, spelling books and almanacs; let it be preached in pulpits and proclaimed from legislative halls and enforced in courts of justice; in short, let it become the political religion of the nation."

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

Emperor William will not get his army bill through the reichstag, and this is enough to give him the heart burn.

Mayor Mason of Portland has passed away after an illness of some weeks. His body was laid to rest in San Francisco.

Ambassador Choate starts off well in England. He is an able orator and knows just what things to say that he may be powerful across the sea.

The Simpson trouble has not as yet been finally settled. Germany cannot agree with the British and the Americans thus far in the adjustment.

We have just received from the secretary of state his 20th biennial report, which is full of valuable information. It has a fine morocco binding and altogether too expensive it would seem, but nevertheless, we are very much obliged for it.

Vacant houses in Grants Pass are distressingly scarce just at the present time, consequently some one who has idle money should put up a few good ones to rent. There would be no difficulty in finding tenants, judging from the many inquiries.

The Filipino seems to act upon the principle that "he who fights and runs away may live to fight another day." They fight and run into the jungles and it is difficult for the Americans to hunt them out. This method of warfare may be kept up by them for a time indefinitely.

Norway and Sweden should never fight, yet there is such talk. The Norwegians feel that too much power belongs to Sweden, inasmuch as the foreign policy of the two countries is managed by the latter. They have doubtless caught the war spirit and want to make a little show of arms.

Telegraphic dispatches last week made us believe and say that "John Sherman is dead," but John Sherman is not dead, and more than that he is not likely to be for some time. He is improving in health and will be able to read some of the good things said about him by those who thought him dead.

California is and has been undergoing a season of extreme dry weather until the crops were burned and the fruit trees badly damaged, and now it rains upon rain until the brooks, creeks and rivers are out of their banks. Notwithstanding the floods, the benefit from the much needed rain will far more than counterbalance the damage done.

The Oregon volunteers are proving themselves true blue material at Manila. They have been given the post of honor at the seat of war. Many of them have been wounded and a number killed but they later not. Many have been made sad at home because these brave boys have to be sacrificed, but all must rejoice to know that they are not found wanting when they are called to the field.

Hayes B. Taylor who was killed at Manila recently in the fierce battle, was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Taylor of Jacksonville. He belonged to the Second Oregon and from reports was proving himself a brave and faithful soldier. He, as he was called, was a good boy, the editor of this paper knew him well having been his teacher for four years. He was the only boy in a class of eight who graduated from the Jacksonville high school in '94.

Coffee and sugar will soon go to war when Arbuckle and Havenmeyer lock horns. It will not be a war for humanity but for supremacy, and the people will pay all the expenses. If not at first they will at last. John Arbuckle says that he will not compromise for the reason that he is making money out of both sugar and coffee. If Arbuckle can succeed in driving Havenmeyer out of the coffee trade, then each will have a monopoly of his special line and there prices go up to his motion and the people will pay for all losses sustained by each of these parties while the conflict may have been going on. The must may be very pleasant and soothing for a time, but the fiddler must be paid in the end.

Fighting still goes on in the Philippines between the natives and the American forces. Some of the fiercest fighting of the season has taken place the past few days. The Filipinos seem brave enough and they enter the fight with vigor, but in every instance they are repelled by those whose skill and arms are far superior. It is thought that the culminating conflict has been going on near Manila where the rebels are concentrating their all for the end. While the Americans have the advantage in arms and in skill, the rebels have the advantage in complete knowledge of the country and can hide themselves in the jungles and in the trenches in the rice fields where it is difficult for the Americans to get at them. In open field fight they are not equal to the occasion and the backbones of the rebellion in this regard will evidently be soon broken and peace in general be restored. Guerrilla warfare may be kept up for a long time, since many of the natives have become so hostile to American sovereignty over the islands.

Autonomy Promised. The news from the Philippines is of a surprising character. The Philippine commissioners have issued a proclamation which assures the Filipinos of the administration's benevolent purpose, and under the same date comes the intelligence that within 48 hours General Otis will recommence active work against them. General Otis, it is said, hopes in this manner to show the natives the hopelessness of further resistance.

The policy outlined by General Otis may frighten the natives into submission, but it will hardly deepen any impression that may have been made on the native mind that the United States proposes to teach the native the art of self government. The autonomy proposition is timely, and under more favorable conditions might re-establish friendly relations between the Americans and the Filipinos. The military situation would not have been materially jeopardized by a little delay.

The proclamation deals only with general propositions, and the Filipinos might naturally desire to consider them. The commission assures the people that the president only desires to establish a system under which the Filipinos will become capable to administer their own affairs. If this assurance had been accompanied by a suggestion that time would be given the Filipinos to exchange views among themselves, and perhaps to take the matter over with the commissioners, much good might have come out of it. But an immediate forward movement under the order of one member of the commission will in a measure counteract the effect the proclamation might have under other circumstances had it been upon the Filipino mind. It looks a little as though General Otis is proceeding on the assumption that the Filipinos have no minds. His arguments are directed against their leaders. He is governor general as well as commissioner, and in the former capacity is independent of the commission.

There will be Jack and Jill tumbling down the hill; Tom, the piper's son (who stole a pig); Jack Sprat and his wife, who agreed by being contrary; the bachelor; Mary, Mary, quite contrary; Tommy Rookers and Bessie Brooks; and of course Mother Goose and Father Gander. No expense has been spared in making this one of the best companies on the Pacific coast and the citizens of Grants Pass will not be disappointed. They carry their own orchestra and band and orchestra and give an open air concert and drill daily at 11:30.

Pile on the schoolmarm's burden. Pile on the schoolmarm's burden. Be sure to make it high. For she can stand most anything. If she will only try. Tell her that your children Never do anything that's wild. Tho' of course your neighbor's children Are half devil and half child.

Pile on the schoolmarm's burden. Be sure you never say. The best word of encouragement, You know it ain't your "way." For teachers' never need kind words. 'Twould only make 'em vain, And it ain't your way to flatter, You always speak so plain.

Pile on the schoolmarm's burden. Be sure that you believe. The tales the children bring you. Altho' it makes you grieve. That neighbors' girls could do a thing So very rude and wild, But then you always thought them Half devil and half child.

Pile on the schoolmarm's burden. Be sure you say she's poor. On every hair lip'd striping. With eyes like harvest moon. And then you know there're widows And bachelors, mayhap, Or few old hen-pecked married men, At whom she's set her cap.

Pile on the schoolmarm's burden. She'll have to stand your insults. You've got her money yet. Be sure you don't provide her. With globe, map, chart nor rule. If she can't teach without these, She surely is a fool.

Pile on the schoolmarm's burden. For if she's short or tall, Or fat or lean and hungry, She'll have to take it all. But with a birch in one hand, And pluck in soft eyes, mild, She'll conquer your young hesthens, All devil and no child.—V. E. W.

From Murphy. Editor Courier: I am a German girl, not long from the old country. I read in your paper every week. I see in the paper a girl from Tunnel 9. I don't know where that is. She wants to get Mr. Rosenbaum's advice. Well, good advice is all right and I hope that girl practices what she preaches.

Well, now I want to give Mr. Rosenbaum a little good advice. When you go out with your garage truck, makes dem pay the cash right down, den they can't say you go about loafing around. I hope that Mr. Rosenbaum will find a smart girl that likes to work and they will get married and work together and get rich and when they get old Mr. Rosenbaum and his frau will live happy together so long as they both live.

It might be well to suggest to Levi Rosenbaum, that he would do well to come to our village, if he is not all ready taken by some kind hearted Miss, as we are sure that he could find some one to make the garden for him, and he need not look for an amount of that being his year, as that will not make the slightest difference. The only condition will be that he must prove himself to be a cross widower of (large) family. This is no joke but the real truth.

Leland Items. At home in our own little cabin on Grays creek not mining for a box. We have plenty of water for mining and we are making our giant for all it is worth. We have had all the water we could ask for. As a mining winter, our clean up will be better than expected as we struck a new channel, blue gravel. The bank is 50 or 60 feet, and rather heavy boulders. We have a very deep cut to get on bed rock. We were agreeably surprised when we found this new channel. We can get acid in every pan. Since we found it we have had several offers to sell, but my partner is of the same mind as I am, when you have a good thing, keep it. That is the German way of doing.

Please look back in the different states where a ditchman has a good farm. He stays up his debts, lays up money and pays with his home, also raises a good sized family, sometimes twins. As soon as the children can work they do all they can do.

I can cite you to one family on Apple Creek (I mean Germans) who borrowed money to go on that creek. They have been rich a long time, thanks to the girls of that family. The father has since passed away. You see that educating the American girls, not only their husbands will get more help from them.

I expect to take out a good lot of money, as we struck a new channel, I mean a gravel channel, and I shall build a new house this summer. Then I shall look around for a wife. I want a helpmate, not a wall flower. The tone of your Wolf creek correspondent has the right ring. If she will please answer Levy and we make a match I will give her the first chance. I want a heavy set woman, feet not too large for I do not like big feet. I will wait for a reply.

We learn that Fred Briggs has sold his hotel in Leland. We are sorry for they were good neighbors. We shall miss them.

Leland needs an opera house, as we get some big shows we cannot furnish room for them.

We are having very nice weather. The grass is growing well. We want something green to eat, I mean vegetables.

Grave creek has all it can do to carry off the debris that is dumped into it.

The health of the people in this vicinity is good, only an occasional visit of a doctor, but that is usually for a case of measles.

We will soon hear the sound of the saw and hammer working on the new store in our town. We are sorry for it will keep money away from Grants Pass.

My articles are, perhaps, too lengthy so I will bring this to a close. More next week.

LEVY ROSENBAUM.

A New Obstacle. The old obstacles that used to prevent the marriage of loving couples are out of date. The blood and thunder willian is a myth. Money is not the great barrier as it was a tradition. The only obstacle is a woman who will not marry a man who is not a success. It is a common sense one. It is in new days on one side or the other, and sometimes on both.

Men nowadays hesitate to marry a woman, no matter how beautiful, no matter how attractive, or interesting, or witty, if she is a sufferer from ill health. All men worth anything are impressed upon by the fact that any woman who may marry herself for the duties of wifehood and the exalted function of motherhood, must be a success.
