Death of Roadmaster Galvin. J. T. Galvin, who has been roadmaster on this railroad division for the past 15 years, was found Tuesday morning in an unconscious condition on the ground beneath one of the second story windows of the hotel at Riddle, from which he had apparently fallen. He never recovered consciousness, and died during the forenoon. His body was brought home Wednesday and the funeral was held at 2 o'clock at the residence of the family. The burial took place at the Granite Hill cemetery.

Mr. Galvin has been a well known and universally respected citizen of Grants Pass for many years and his sudden death was a shock to the entire community. The sincerest sympathies of the people of Grants Pass are with the family in their affliction.

It is all False. The Ashland baseball nine challenged the Grants Pass team for a game the latter part of the week, each side to put up $100 and play for the purse, but Grants Pass would not accept. Won't play because they can't raise the money, is offered as an excuse.—Town Talk.

George Stanley of Town Talk is beside himself, or, as the boys say, he is talking through his hat. There is not a semblance of fact in the above article. The truth is just the opposite of what he has said. Town Talk's malicious charge against Fred Colvig is a former issue of that little sheeting was very unmanly to say the least. We thought to pay no attention to these articles and will not except to state that they are false.

A Child Enjoys The pleasant flavor, gentle action, and soothing effect of Syrup of figs, when in need of a laxative, and if the father or mother be constive or bilious, the most gratifying results follow its use: so that it is the best family remedy known and every family should have a bottle. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.

The Ball Game.

The ball game between our nine and Medford's on Friday last was a very interesting game, though rather one-sided. The Medford team was not that old team which has so often caused the plumes of Grants Pass to trail in the dust. The veterans have retired from the diamond and have left the field to their younger and more elastic fellow townsmen.

Three of the Medford boys were from Eagle Point and one from Gold Hill, but that fact did not seem to affect the score, which stood 14 to 3 in favor of Grants Pass. In the excitement of the game, some of the players came near losing their tempers, but only for the moment and sober second thought restored that good feeling without which the game would have been worse than a failure.

The small boy was not so much in evidence as usual and seemed weak in the voice, whereof we are glad. There were some casualties. Will Merritt was so unfortunate as to have his thumb dislocated before the game began, and his part was heroically performed by Ira Tomkins. Sam Bennett collided with a base runner in a desperate race to first, and was temporarily disabled, but was able to continue the game.

Fred Colvig performed the difficult and dangerous office of umpire and rendered his decisions with perfect fairness and commendable firmness.

John Barker's Accident. John Barker, once marshal of this city and who has for some time past been working in the round house here, met with a most serious calamity last Monday.

He had just thrown a switch for an engine and stood by the side of the track, and as the engine came by him, moving very slowly, he tried to step upon the pilot to ride as he had done many times before. But in some way he missed his footing and his foot slipped underneath and was caught on the rail by the wheel of the engine. He made a strong effort to extricate himself but was thrown down and his right leg was crushed in a fearful manner from the foot almost to the knee. In some way his right hand was also caught by the wheels and badly mangled. The leg was amputated by Drs. Moore and Krenner and he was sent to the railroad hospital on the evening train.

John Barker is well known and respected here as a square, honest, upright, hard working man and a good citizen. He is a man whose only capital is his daily labor, and this makes the affliction doubly hard for himself and for his family.
