Reports come to the effect that the Venetian government has changed hands by reason of the recent revolution. Merely give the coin.

During the absence of Gov. Geer, at Chicago, his office at the capital is being overhauled and renovated, and new carpets and furniture are being put in.

The approaching shortage of wind at New York during the first days of the yield have led some people to thinking that the race should have been at Chicago where such a thing is unknown.

A stampede is in order now from Dawson City to Cape Nome. The men who went to the Yukon to dig for a few hundred dollars with good luck are now going to the Nome to seek out $500 per day from the sands of the coast. They are pursuing the rainbow.

The steamer City of Eugene, ran into a snag in the Willamette river just below Albany one day last week, leaving a lumberman's feet in jeopardy. Her bottom. She had a cargo of wheat and flour aboard, all of which is a loss and it is impossible that the boat can be fixed up for further use.

The Portland people would like to have a general knowledge that San Francisco is not the only city on the Pacific coast. Portland pretends with affected modesty to be the city of the future. The thirty-ninth, and possibly the forty-fifth regiment will sail from Portland.

The 3d Oregon has the experience also, as 21 members of Co. B of Ashland were recently court-martialed for being absent at inspection. Each unfortunate was brought before the court and made to state why and wherefore. The excuses are said to have been many and ingenious, but only a part of them were availing, as 10 of the bold warriors were fined $1 each.

Ex-Commissioner General Egan, who was subjected to the severity of a five years suspension from duty, on full pay, and who has been forgotten for so, these many months, comes again with wrinkled front and seems about to demand something. The general opinion is that Egan is a very lucky man indeed, in escaping severe punishment, but he seems aggrieved at his treatment. Perhaps he would like to have his salary increased.

Extensive war preparations are being forward in the Transvaal but both parties seem reluctant to make the initial move. England is rushing troops to South Africa and seems to be preparing for a war of large proportions. And well she may. The Orange Free State has cut its fortifications with Transvaal and between them, it is said, they can muster 50,000 men. These men will fight on their own ground, for what they believe to be their rights, and unless England puts forth extra effort, she is liable to run against something solid.

Later—the Boers have issued an ultimatum giving England 48 hours to withdraw all troops brought in since the Bloemfontein conference. This is plain straightforward talk. We were just wondering if Oom Paul was going to sit still and wait for England to get a decidedly ready in an early move because the English are not yet fully prepared for the conflict. England has signified her intentions by preparations she has been making and the Boers have nothing to gain and all to lose by waiting longer. There seems to be now no prospect of averting the war.

Live teachers will not be allowed to attend the institutes whenever possible. There is yet much to learn in public school affairs and systems have not yet reached perfection. The interchange of ideas can not fail to be beneficial to each one. The teacher's profession is one of the utmost importance and responsibility, and all teachers should realize this and acquit themselves accordingly. A school teacher exerts a tremendous influence over the future of his or her pupils. The momentary teachers are those whose hearts are wholly in their work, who are in sympathy with their pupils and enjoy their confidence.

John Doe was indicted by the recent grand jury on two counts. It would be a good thing if he could be looked up for a good long time, and stop his lawless proclivities. Mr. Doe is always getting into trouble and annoying the people. We hate to see him, but matters have come to such a pass that we feel it to be our duty to speak. Mr. Wm. Jones and his newly made wife, returned recently from their trip to the sea shore, to make their future home near Wildersville. We here that the people of Coconino regret the loss of such a laugh, but Coconino's, has a laughing partner, but Coconino's, has a laughing partner, but Coconino's, has a laughing partner.

Dewey has spoken. He is in full accord with the president's Philippine policy. The only suggestion he offers is to recommend a little more of it. It is good medicine, but must be administered in larger doses. Dewey advocates the sending of the Brooklyn and other war vessels to the Philippines. Dewey is by far the most popular man of the day. His praises are sung by all, and those who hang breathless on his word. Men who delight in criticizing those in high places, who speak evil of dignitaries, are silent concerning Dewey. The ovation he received at the Mass of glory to which he lives and moves would turn the head of most men, but Dewey's head is level. He is a patriot and he knows his duty. No selfish motive of ambition will turn him from it. In this his day of power, he gives his support and his influence unhesitatingly to the administration. Dewey is a true American, and will not sacrifice his patriotism to ambition.

The present indications seem to be that Dewey will retain his command. It may be that Dewey has not yet had sufficient opportunity to see the war, that his line has been insufficient, and that he will make a different showing in the future. In regard to Dewey's military abilities we hazard no opinion. But if the expressions of the returned volunteers are to be credited, he is cordially disliked by a great majority of his army, both officers and men. The chief kind of a man, knowing this would voluntarily withdraw from the command, and give way to some one who could command the respect and good will of his army. If he stays for salary's sake, he is the wrong man. It seems to us, in the light, imperfect perhaps, in which we view his case, that he cuts a very pitiful figure, when we think of Grant, in his old enough hat, walking among and conversing with his army, or Sherman making his famous ride, or Rosewall Jackson, whose men would have gone over torpedoes with him. We have just as good men today as they were. Why is not one of them in command in the Philippines? Because when some man like Dewey gets the position and hangs on like grim death, it shuts out those who are able to handle the situation. If he is tried and found wanting, he should be removed with haste, the quicker the better. But Dewey is in the hands of men whose opinion on this subject is worth even more than Dewey's, whose facilities and capacities for understanding the matter are possibly better than Dewey's, and it may yet be proved that Dewey is the right man. In the meantime he, as well as every other man, is entitled to fair treatment without prejudice.

A Fine Grocery Store. The new brick building known as the "White House" grocery, recently completed for H.C. Bohlen and occupied by him, is one of the most handsome and thoroughly equipped stores devoted to the grocery and crockery business in southern Oregon. It is furnished with the new style of roofing stuff which is a decided innovation, and the whole interior being finished entirely in white enamel, the arrangement of the stock gives it a most attractive and pleasing and even artistic effect. A feature of attractiveness is the handsome solid oak Sherris display counter and tilting bin. This display counter has thirty dust proof drawers with glass front, specially adapted and designed for the display of dried fruits of all kinds, citrus, nuts, etc. showing the contents of each separate drawer in a most satisfactory way, and at the same time thoroughly protecting the exhibited articles from any dust or dirt. At the right on entering the store is noticed a very fine plate glass and oak cigar case, constructed in two compartments. The upper compartment is used for the display of the fine lines of cigars carried by the firm, while the lower compartment is devoted to the exhibition of the various brands of smoking tobacco.

The cracker exhibit is also a very attractive feature and is entirely original and is devoted to the display of all the various kinds of the extensive line of crackers carried by the firm, which are exhibited to the best possible advantage. The office occupies a portion of the gallery in the rear end of the store and is well lighted and ventilated from transoms on the side and rear of the building. The sliding doors in the rear and on the delivery side are also features of great convenience in facilitating the rapid and systematic handling of the extensive and ever increasing business transacted by the firm.

The fine plate glass windows on the right front exhibit to fine advantage the extensive stock of crockery, lamps and glassware which the firm carries in addition to its large line of groceries. The windows on the left hand side are used exclusively for the grocery exhibit.

The whole front of the store is also finished in white which makes it prominent and noticeable in the line of buildings along Sixth street and on a large sign in front the name "White House Grocery" is seen, which name the proprietor gives as its future appellation. The name is very appropriate as the house is, virtually, entirely finished in white.

There is one feature of this location which is not so much appreciated at this time as it will be next summer. It is situated on the west side of the street and on the hottest days will be shady, cool and pleasant during the hot afternoons.

Mr. Bohlen has a most efficient and experienced force of assistants, and the long period of time that each one has been in the employ of the house proves the existence of a cordial feeling between employer and employed. Mr. J. Farlan has been nine years in the employ of the house, Mr. Robt. Elmer, seven years, and Mr. Elmer Day three years.

The whole appearance of the establishment is one of healthy prosperity. The stock is arranged artistically and the courteous treatment accorded to patrons and visitors insures a return of all who pass beneath the sign of "The White House Grocery."

Mr. Wm. Jones and his newly made wife, returned recently from their trip to the sea shore, to make their future home near Wildersville. We here that the people of Coconino regret the loss of such a laugh, but Coconino's, has a laughing partner, but Coconino's, has a laughing partner.

The two rockless bergamots. The morning after the great fight at Malatoc, two Oregon sergeants—Decker, of A, and Farrell, of E—each accompanied by one mule, worked their way across the broken camp of the Malatoc bridge, and entered the city. There were several hundred Filipino soldiers still there, the town having been set on fire and evacuated at daylight and when they saw the Americans they imagined our whole army must be coming. This idea was stimulated by the extremely business like way in which the four men began shooting at them. The fire in Malatoc, and the little band of Americans occupied the town. At six hours here the latter set off for the month, Captain Wells will show a view over, and will return, many other details of the heavy and patriotic of the American volunteers.

Yes, we were burned out. But that does not prevent us from doing business. We will soon be comfortably housed and ready to meet all old customers, and new ones too, in The Post Office Store. Where you will be glad to show anything in the Dry Goods line. New stock is arriving, so we will be fully supplied with everything in our line. Give us a call.

RED STAR STORE. Christian Endeavor Convention. A district Christian Endeavor convention for the seventh district of Oregon, will be held in Ashland, Oct. 20, 21, and 22. The Ashland people will open their homes for the entertainment of the Endeavorers of Jackson, Josephine and Clatsop counties. It is expected that there will be a large attendance, and that the convention will be a most successful one. The speakers will be: Rev. J. H. Walker, of the Methodist church, of Ashland; Rev. J. H. Walker, of the Methodist church, of Ashland; Rev. J. H. Walker, of the Methodist church, of Ashland.

Afterward. Dewey's reception is over; he has been relieved from duty, and is off to enjoy a well-earned rest among the hills of his native Green Mountain state. As the blaze and pagentry of his homecoming fade away, the man and his wonderful deed will shine forth in the quiet light of the workaday world with steady but ever-increasing luster. What Dewey did on May 1, 1898, many another man might have done; but Dewey is the man who did it, and no man ever performed such a feat before; no man in a single forenoon, ever so changed the fate of man and the features of the political world. He even changed, as no man ever did in a single event, the geography of the world. Nations of places that were even more unknown than his own on that Mayday morning were next day in the mouths of the nations of the earth. In half a day he closed, as with a will to heaven and ditch to hades, the career of Spain as a respectable power; by the same action he opened a new era for America, with a prospect of incredible, immeasurable breadth and grandeur, and raised this great republic 100 per cent in the world's estimation. Dewey's victory at Manila was not only complete and stupendous, but it was in a high degree romantic. Nothing was lacking to make it such a performance as the world never saw before, and will never see again. No English papers may sneer and claim that Dewey's victory was a mere military success, but Americans through all future generations will look upon George Dewey, simple, quiet, modest man as he is, as the greatest sea hero of the world.—Portland Telegram.

Historical Item. Geo. Wilson of Lexington, Mo., sends the following news item from the Lexington, Mo., "Express" date of Oct. 10, 1844: A newspaper is to be established at Willamette is the Oregon Territory, the materials for which are to be shipped at New York, to the care of Messrs Ladd & Co., Oahu, Sandwich Islands. The vessel subscribed $645 for this purpose and the Hudson Bay Co. increased it to $600.

Church Notes. Quite a change was inaugurated last Sunday evening by Father Hurley in the Catholic church services. Besides the usual morning mass and sermon the Rev. gentleman held evening services and delivered a very interesting discourse on the "Banner of the Cross," explaining its significance, its traditions and its place in Christian life and action. These Sunday evening devotions are to be a permanent feature of Catholic services in future. The next service will be held on Sunday the 22nd inst.

Wait for the New Styles in Millinery. Which will be opened up about October 24th, in the Sugar Pine Store. Miss Bertha Barrie is now in the city selecting a complete stock of Fall and Winter Millinery, which will consist of a large assortment of Pattern Hats, Smart Outing Hats, etc. Miss Barrie has served an apprenticeship with Mrs. Carr Marshall of Portland, who highly recommends her. Reserve your orders for Miss Bertha Barrie. Sugar Pine Store after Oct. 24.

Serious Accident. B. Mensch was quite seriously hurt by a horse on Monday. He had started from his brickyard to ride to town with a young man who was handling brick with one horse and a light wagon and when they came to a small hill near Mr. Bohlen's place the horse refused to pull and they were obliged to get out and assist the animal up the hill with the load. Near the top of the hill they stopped and Mr. Mensch started to climb into the wagon and had just got both feet on the wheel when the horse started to back up, throwing him to the ground. The horse continued backing, fell backwards and rolled completely over him. Mr. Mensch was able to get up and walk home, but was obliged to be down immediately on arriving there, and has since been hardly able to move. It is thought that no bones are broken but he is bruised very seriously and quite badly injured.

Miss Jessie Shirley Coming. This favorite company will again delight the Grants Pass theater goers with a new repertoire of comedies and dramas. The company has been strengthened in places and has won fresh laurels where they appeared since last here. Miss Shirley has a repertoire of strong rosy successes and her company can well be termed the best now traveling on the Pacific Coast.

Fire at Ashland. Ashland had a lively fire on Tuesday of last week. A barn belonging to Her, F. H. Strange was discovered to be on fire, presumably ignited by a spark from the engine of a wood sawing machine which was in operation near by. The building was burst of flames before it was noticed. A horse was in the barn at the time and was burned. The barn belonging to Mrs. H. M. Drake took fire and was destroyed. Mrs. Mary Woods residence took fire at the roof, and every thing was moved out but the fire was extinguished after the roof had burned off.

A Filipino. The Minnesota regiment brought back with them a Filipino boy about 16 years old. When the train stopped at Grants Pass, he got off to see the sights, and himself became an object of wonder and admiration to the curious crowd. He is a bright looking little fellow about the size of an ordinary 12 year old boy. He speaks very little English but thinks that America is "mucho bueno." He resembles a little Chinaman or a Jap as much as anything else, but has a very alert and wide-awake appearance. He was very anxious to come and has had his eyes wide open for new things ever since he landed in San Francisco.
