An Opportunity FOR Investment

Rogue River valley is full of Oil, Natural Gas, Artesian water and other valuable minerals.

Nature's storehouse is bulging out with wealth and only needs the magic hand of man to unlock and reveal the hidden wealth stored up for the use of the Twentieth Century.

Our arid lands will produce wonders if we once can procure Artesian water to supply abundance of water with which to irrigate.

Oil and Natural Gas are the greatest economical fuel of this generation. Shall we let it be dormant here in Rogue River valley, while other sections of the country are using nature's storehouses?

Oregon cannot be beaten anywhere in the world, for natural Gas, Oil or Artesian water. Rogue River valley is truly the Italy of America.

Here we have the finest climate, the best apples, the largest peaches and the prettiest girls.

Shall the people of Grants Pass forever continue to drink the slime and slush and sewage that pours into Rogue river while we can have the best of Artesian mountain water by the very simple process of drilling a few hundred feet?

What a beautiful city Grants Pass would be if there were a stream of pure Artesian water flowing along each side of her streets.

It is the intention of The Oregon Natural Gas, Oil & Mining Co. to soon begin active operation of drilling a number of wells to the depth of 1000 feet to ascertain the presence of Natural Gas, Oil, Artesian water and other valuable minerals.

They are now bonding land in and around Grants Pass. Within the next six months they will be drilling on some of the property they have bonded for that purpose. They intend if it is possible, to supply the city with plenty of pure Artesian water before the coming fall.

The Oregon Natural Gas, Oil & Mining Co. requests all farmers and property holders to give them the privilege of drilling one or more wells on their property. They will give a percentage of the output of the wells to parties granting the privilege.

In order to get the people of Grants Pass and Josephine county interested in Natural Gas, Oil, and Artesian water they will give all of them a chance to subscribe for a few shares of the capital stock of the company on very liberal terms.

Suppose you take a few shares of the capital stock of The Oregon Natural Gas, Oil & Mining Co. of the par value of $1 per share. You pay 10 per cent down, 40 per cent when the machinery is set up and is ready to begin operation and the remaining 50 per cent when they strike a flow of natural gas, oil or artesian water or have drilled to the depth of 1000 feet. If they strike oil, natural gas or artesian water you have the option of taking ten times as many shares as you subscribe for. They will pay you back all the money received from you if they fail to drill a well as agreed upon.

You are invited to thoroughly investigate their proposition. You have nothing to lose but every thing to gain. If you are a capitalist it is a safe investment. If you are a farmer or property holder it will pay you to invest as it will enhance the value of your place a hundred fold more than you invest if they should find either oil, gas or water near your property.

If you are a working man it will pay you to take shares as this will open up a vast and a new work for you. The merchants and business men should invest in shares in order to start this enterprise. Professional men, in fact all classes of people, should take a few shares in this vast and new enterprise and it will be a help to all in Grants Pass and Josephine county. If you cannot take 100 shares you can take 50 or ten shares. Remember every dollar will be returned to you if the company fails to drill a well as agreed upon. The stocks are non-assessable and fully paid up as they are used. The by-laws of the company do not allow a debt to exceed 1 per cent of the capital.

Scott Griffin of Grants Pass, Oregon, is a stockholder, a director and the secretary of The Natural Gas, Oil & Mining Co., who will take leases on lands and subscription for stocks and will give any information regarding the company.

The closer you investigate the more you will help the company by taking stock and leasing your property for the purpose of drilling one or more wells thereupon as you have nothing to lose but all to gain.

HOW TO LOCATE A CLAIM.

New Mining Law Passed at the Recent Session of the Legislature.

The new Barrett mining law makes a number of material changes in the manner of making a legal location and for the benefit of miners and prospectors we publish the law in full.

Section 1. Any person, a citizen of the United States, or one who has declared his intention to become such, who discovers a vein or lode of mineral bearing rock in place upon the appropriated public domain of the United States within this state, may locate a claim upon such vein or lode discovered, by posting thereon a notice of such discovery and location, which said notice shall contain: First, the name of the lode or claim; second, the name or names of the locator or locators; third, the date of location; fourth, the number of linear feet claimed along the vein or lode each way from the point of discovery, with the width of each side of the said lode or vein; fifth, the general course or strike of the vein or lode as nearly as may be and by defining it from some prominent monument, mound or land mark, and by defining the boundaries upon the surface of each claim so that the same may be readily traced. Such boundaries shall be marked within thirty days after posting such notice, by six substantial posts, projecting not less than three feet above the surface of the ground, and not less than four inches square or in diameter, or by substantial mounds of stone, or earth and stone, at least two feet in height, to-wit: One such post or mound of rock at each corner and at the center of such claims.

Sec. 2. Such locator, shall, within 60 days from and after the posting of the location notice by him upon the lode or claim, file or record with the recorder of conveyances, if there be one, who shall be the custodian of mining records and miners' liens, otherwise with the clerk of the county, wherein the claim is situated, a copy of the notice so posted by him upon the lode or claim, having attached thereto an affidavit showing that the work required to be done by section 3 of this act, has been done and performed, and shall pay to the recorder or clerk a fee of $1 for such record thereof, which said recorder or clerk shall immediately pay over to the treasurer of such county and shall take his receipt therefor, as in the case of other county funds coming into possession of such officer. Such recorder or clerk shall immediately record such location notice and the affidavit annexed thereto. No location notice shall be entitled to record or recorded until the work required by section 3 of this act has been done and the affidavit in proof thereof is attached to the notice to be recorded.

Sec. 3. Before the expiration of 60 days from the date of the posting of the notice of discovery upon his claim as aforesaid, and before recording the notice of location, as required by section 2 of this act, the locator must sink a shaft upon the claim located to a depth of at least 10 feet from the lowest part of the rim of such shaft at the surface, or deeper if necessary, to show by such work a lode or vein of mineral deposits in place. A cut or cross cut or tunnel which cuts the lode at a depth of 10 feet or an open cut at least six feet deep, four feet wide and 10 feet in length, along the lode in any manner discovered, is equivalent to such discovery shaft. Such work shall not be deemed a part of the assessment work required by the Revised Statutes of the United States. The locator or some one for him who did work upon and has knowledge of the facts relating to the sinking of the discovery shaft, shall make and attach to the copy of the notice of location to be recorded an affidavit showing the compliance by the locator with the provisions of this section, which affidavit shall be recorded with such copy of the location notice.

Great Mechanical Achievement.
A noted mechanical inventor being asked at a dinner given in his honor, "What after the bicycle?" replied, "Confound it, there will never be any substitute for the bicycle." And when asked to give his reason for so positive a statement explained:
"Because there can never be a less amount of material put together with greater skill, that will answer the purpose of human locomotion with greater pleasure and ease, or at less original cost and current expense to the rider. To consider its lightness; its delicate beauty of appearance; strength and endurance; the price at which it is sold; the uses it serves and the pleasure and health it gives the rider, it must unobtainably be pronounced the consummate achievement of our mechanical development and the most beneficent contribution that invention has made to civilization. It is so unique and so superlatively perfect that it has no rival and can have no successor."

A Magazine for the Home.
The May issue of The Delicater, in addition to showing eight styles for the month devoted to ladies, girls, babies, men and boys, contains much else that will be of interest to women of education and taste. Among the interesting articles we can name Seasonable Dress Fabrics, the making of Wash Gowns for Summer Wear, the Hats of the Season, photographs of the Inaugural Ball Dresses, Commencement Day dresses, the Etiquette of Wedding, Chaffing Dish Recipes (Illustrated). Among the general literary articles is the story of "Dickens' Unromantic Love," a biography of Ellen M. Telford, and a review of the newest books.

The above mentioned articles do not by any means exhaust the offering which The Delicater makes to the modern woman.

Leland Siftings.
We are having fine weather for farming and gardening.
Business is flourishing here and we are having good times. Plenty to do and a clean conscience makes us a happy people.
J. C. Lewis has washed off a large amount of ground at both of his mines, but his clean up will be very never know. He is a man who says little but pays his men.
Leland ladies are starting a new fashion and are coming out with low necked dresses. We think it a little early in the season but they do not seem to think so.
The joiners have plenty of water yet. McCracken & Hussey have taken out a great deal of money at their situation on top of Brimstone mountain. They have the original channel that fed Little Brimstone creek which paid well many years ago. It cost the company a large sum of money to bring on water but now they are being well paid for their labor and expense.
Henry Stevens, who has been cutting wood for Mr. Cox is about to move over to work for him at the stone quarry in the Jump-off-Joe district. Most of the wood cutters will remain in this vicinity.

A Gentle Hint.
In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature, rain, wind and sunshine often intermingled in a single day, it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds, half the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Boschee's German Syrup kept about your home for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill, and perhaps death, by the use of three or four doses.
For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, Croup, or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you. Get a sample bottle free from Dr. Kremer.

A NUISANCE.
Measures Are Being Adopted in Europe to Drive Them Into Retirement.
Whoever has traveled in Europe has doubtless met in some part of the continent a gang of Hungarian gypsies roaming over the various countries of Europe, from south to north and from west to east. As a rule, they travel in families, numbering from 25 to 100 souls and more, carrying along with them all their various and strange paraphernalia and domestic necessities. In most countries of Europe laws have been passed according to which these vagabonds are allowed to stay only a couple of days or a couple of hours in certain provinces or provincial districts, when they are expelled by gendarmes over the border. The principal business transactions consist of fortune-telling, begging and stealing. They are especially clever in the latter branch of business and take everything, from a pin and needle to a horse and carriage.
The gypsies have been a real nuisance for Europe for centuries and the Austro-Hungarian government is now considering a plan to force this most peculiar vagabond race into settlement, somewhere in the vast plains of Hungary. Most characteristic of the gypsies is the fact that they never work. This is one of their first principles. For more than 600 years they have been roaming over Europe and the up-to-date gypsy is by all means the cleverest thief in the world. Where no cat gets the little brown gypsy boy finds his way. They have no religion, no morals, no honor or no fatherland. But he is prouder, perhaps, than a Spanish grandee. He lies to perfection and is the greatest story teller in the world.
Many other efforts have been made from time to time to confine the gypsies to certain territories in Hungary, but always without any success.

WOMEN WAGE-EARNERS.
Female Workers in France Outnumber Those in America by 88 Per Cent.
The American woman, independent and energetic, occupies a unique position compared with her sisters of other lands. There is hardly a profession to which she has not the entire and an army of working women to be found in all the larger cities. Yet the statisticians claim that out of 15,334,600 women over 20 years of age in this country but 2,787,865, or about 17 per cent, represent the wage earners. In contrast are the statistics concerning the women workers of France. In that country nearly one-half the feminine population, or 5,381,959 out of a total of 12,907,112 over 20 years of age, are working women.
In addition to these millions of wage earners, it is computed that there are 260,000 women landowners who are independent of masculine support. In a scientific work, compiled for use at the recent exposition and treating of women and women's work in France, the following table appears: Physicians, 450; authors, 513; artists and sculptresses, 3,500; singers and actresses, 3,500; nurses, 12,000; milliners, 30,000; government employes, 50,000; members of religious orders, 85,000; teachers, 100,000; in business, 245,000; landowners, 500,000; factory girls, 575,000; domestic servants, 650,000; seamstresses, 950,000; farm laborers, 2,700,000.

A Hating, Roaring Flood
Washed down a telegraph line which Chas. G. Ellis, of Lisbon, la., had to repair. "Standing waist deep in icy water," he writes, "gave me a terrible cold and cough. It grew worse daily. Finally the best doctors in Oakland, Neb., Sioux City and Omaha said had Consumption and could not live. Then I began using Dr. King's New Discovery and was wholly cured by six bottles. Positively guaranteed for Coughs, Colds and all Throat and Lung troubles by Dr. Kremer Price 50c and $1.00.

MEN BUYING THIMBLES NOW.

Testimony of the Bachelor as to the State of the Bachelor in New York.

"One phase of the notions department business that would strike a casual observer as peculiar," said the girl behind the counter, according to the New York Sun, "is the number of men who buy thimbles. The first time I sold a thimble to a man I was almost convulsed with curiosity and he was in the same condition with bashfulness. He tried to make me think at first that he was buying it for his sister, but he persisted so over the lines that I suspected there was something back of his anxiety, and at last I said: "Can't you give me some idea of the size of your sister's finger? Is it as large as mine, for example?" and I held up the middle finger of my right hand for inspection.

"Oh, yes," said he, "it is larger than that—much larger. It's almost as large as mine."

"And then I laughed and presently he laughed and told me all about it. 'The fact is,' he said, 'I have no sister. I'm roughing it in bachelor quarters here in New York, and I have to do so much mending and sewing on buttons and the like that I find a thimble is indispensable. I suppose my ability in that line is nothing to be ashamed of, but somehow I rather shrank from letting on that I was buying a thimble for myself. I thought it would make me seem effeminate.'"

"That was two or three years ago," added the girl, "they are not so squeamish nowadays. They march right up and buy thimbles and thread and even darned cotton without a tremor, just as women buy their own rifles and rowboats and other sporting goods, all of which goes to prove that the sexes are reversing their old-fashioned occupations with a vengeance. Most of the men who buy thimbles have the nicest tapering fingers imaginable. I suppose most of them work in offices or stores and don't do anything to spoil their hands. They are very particular about the fit of their thimbles. They always want them as tight as beeswax. A woman likes a thimble loose enough to permit of circulation, but the men say they can't do anything with the thimble slipping off all the time."

"Men buy good thimbles, too; much better than the average woman. It is no unusual thing for them to ask for a good one. Then I have to send them to the jewelry department. This year I gave several young men nice thimbles for Christmas presents. They all said I couldn't have given them anything that would have been so useful and acceptable. It's a wonder to me why more girls don't give their men friends thimbles instead of fancy handkerchiefs, cases and necktie boxes. I'm sure they would appreciate them more. By another year, I fancy, they will get onto the idea, for the social conditions in New York make thimbles and even complete sewing companions a necessary adjunct to every young man's bachelor outfit."

HAMLET'S CASTLE.
Something About the Home of the Famous Dane at Elsinore, Denmark.
Jacob A. Riss, the New York poverty expert, lived as a child in the neighborhood of the castle of Kronborg, Elsinore, Denmark. He has revisited the place in recent years, and his early and later reminiscences are embodied in an article called "Hamlet's Castle," which appeared in the Century.

In 1573, as a first step toward making it fit for a king to live in, Frederick II. "swept it clean of all hurtful people and animals," meaning, by the latter, vagrant swine and dogs. How his broom worked on the "people" is instanced by the treatment of outcast women under the edict. They were to be whipped and branded by the headman, and turned out. If they came back, both their ears were to be cut off. If after that they were again found within the gates of the city, the order was to stuff them into sacks and throw them into the sound. Four years of this sort of thing was supposed to have cleared the ground, and the erection was begun of Kronborg—the "crown castle."

That was the name, said the king, and for miscalling it "Flounder" or "Hook" any man was to pay him the value of one fat steer. Long before its gray walls had risen to half their height the new name stuck, and when it was finished, in 1585, the steer revenue had ceased to be of account.

Of the revivies that attended the opening of the castle it may well be that the echoes ring yet in Hamlet's description of "this heavy-headed revel," which to his mind is "more honour'd in the breach than the observance." For in that year there played at Elsinore a troupe of strolling English actors, which for all we know may have included young William Shakespeare himself, come fresh from positing upon Sir Thomas Lucy's preserves to seek his fortune among the playhouses in London. The old town records contain two references to them. One is a mere entry of the expenditure of four shillings "for the repair of the board fence between the house of Lauritz, town clerk, the town hall and yard, which the people broke down the time the English played in the yard." That was in 1584, and may have been on the occasion of the opening festivities. The troupe came back later and stayed some time. Little did the clerk who entered into the municipal accounts the cost of its play and keep dream that he was making a notable contribution to the history of the greatest of all tragedies.

He Kept His Leg.
Twelve years ago J. W. Sullivan, of Hartford, Conn., scratched his leg with a rusty wire. Inflammation and blood poisoning set in. For two years he suffered intensely. Then the best doctors urged amputation, "but," he writes, "I used one bottle of Electric Bitters and 112 boxes of Sucklen's Arnica Salvo and my leg was sound and well as ever." For Eruptions, Eczema, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Sores and all blood disorders Electric Bitters has no rival on earth. Try them. Dr. Kremer will guarantee satisfaction or refund money. Only 50 cents.
