THURSDAY, JULY 4, 1901.

American sanitary measures have almost obliterated the yellow fever in Cuba. Not a single death has occurred there from that disease this year.

Senator J. H. Mitchell started last Wednesday from Portland for Europe, on the receipt of news that his wife is seriously ill. She has been visiting with her daughter in France, the Duchess de la Rouchafacauld.

The week has been remarkable for the severity of the hot weather in the eastern cities and many deaths have occurred in New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Chicago and St. Louis. On July 1, a lightning stroke demolished a pier in Chicago and eleven boys who had gathered there were killed.

The spectacle of a female base ball team engaged in the rough and tumble details of the national game is more entertaining than edifying. In fact, the masculine appearing attire, rough play and other unfeminine details so impress the spectator that he fails to realize that they are women and involuntarily considers them as some sort of non-descript creatures. With the exception of one or two small incidents, the girls behaved themselves well enough, were not loud or boisterous and attended strictly to their business of playing ball. But the brazen hardness apparent in every face was not a beautiful thing to see in a women. The paucity of modesty required to be a female professional base ball player is not something to be sought after. In the interests of true womanhood, such organizations as the "Boston Bloomers" should be snubbed by the public.

Fourth of July is the set day apart for public remembrance of our national birthday and, in natural sequence, for consideration of our marvelous growth and development as a nation. In a century and a quarter we have grown from a comparatively insignificant federation of struggling colonies, to a place among the most powerful of the nations of the earth. We can also boast a more enlightened people. There is no other nation in which the average, everyday, common citizen can compare in intelligence and enlightenment with the American. In invention, originality and general enterprise, America leads the world. The reason for these things is not difficult to discover. It is because, in America, every individual is given an opportunity to develop whatever talent is in him. Accident of birth does not shut a man out from the high places in the nation. The highest place of all is open to the lowest born if he has the energy and ability to reach it. Every individual in the United States has incentive to strive with certainty of reward if he has merit. Opportunity for the individual has been productive of wide-awake intelligence, keenness and energy until they are recognized as national traits. Another element which has conduced in an immeasurable degree to our substantial growth and which is not attentively considered as it should be, is the spirit of honesty and integrity which has guided the policies of the nation. In this integrity the future safety of the country lies and those who wish to promote the nation's welfare will do so most effectually in promoting right principles and ways of thought among its individuals. It is profitless to boast of our greatness, but most profitable to consider how we can best continue our united progress and prosperity.

The flag incident at Skagway has caused somewhat of a sensation during the past week. The Canadian customs agent at that place, acting under orders from his government, hoisted the British flag. This produced a strong sentiment of disfavor among the American citizens of Skagway, who considered that the flag had no right to fly without the Stars and Stripes above it. George Miller of Eugene thereupon took the responsibility of cutting the flag down. This was productive of considerable excitement and ire on the part of the Canadian official, who afterwards raised the flag again, but was induced to leave it down on the assurance by American officials that, in the absence of instruction from Washington, they would not be responsible for any action by the people of Skagway if he persisted in flying the flag. The British government has always been given the best of the bargain in the settlement of boundary questions and has been encouraged thereby to encroachments on American territory. While some consider the flag incident a preliminary to laying claim to Skagway and vicinity by Canada, it is hardly likely that such is the case. Even if it were so, a firm stand by our government would be sufficient for a satisfactory settlement.

Lower Illinois District.

Dan. S. Rae, proprietor of the Klondike mine on Louse creek, has lately returned from the lower Illinois country where he went to examine the mineral resources of that section. Mr. Rae, who is a miner of many years experience in the mines of Montana, was impressed with the magnitude and richness of the gold and copper deposits of that district and is of the opinion that it is not receiving anywhere near its share of credit and attention. Among other prospects, Mr. Rae, examined one huge ledge hundreds of feet in width which gives values of $3 per ton on the surface, an immense proposition.

He thinks there is mineral there sufficient to make a camp of great importance when it is properly opened up and developed.

Cipsy Queen Again

The Gipsy Queen mine near Browntown, which was discovered about two years ago by Herman Luethye and caused a good deal of comment at that time by the richness and peculiar beauty of its quartz, has again come to the front with another record for richness. Since taking out the first rich ore, Mr. Luethye has done considerable work in getting the property in shape for handling and now has an one stamp mill in operation with which to work the rock. He brought to town with him last week $2300 which he obtained in working 25 feet in length by measurement, on a seam about an inch and a half in width. The depth of working is from two to four feet. Besides a pint or so of retorted gold, Mr. Luethye had with him some specimens which were remarkably beautiful. The gold lay in the rock in wide flakes or scales and was very bright and gleaming.

Waldo Staples, who accompanied Mr. Luethye is the proprietor, with Mr. Masters, of a productive property on Johnson's gulch on Althouse, from which they lately secured 16 ounces of gold with good prospects for a great deal more. Mr. Staples is certain that they have the original old channel of Johnson's gulch which has been sought after by miners for many years.

Fourth of July Parade

The executive committee of the Fire department extend an invitation to the several orders and organizations of this city to assist and participate in the parade on the morning of the Fourth.

Shipping Ice

The G. P. N. W. L. & P. Co. shipped a car load of ice this week to Portland. It is no small feather in the cap of Grants Pass to be able to supply the metropolis with ice and the fact is worthy of appreciation. The company has a very complete ice plant and are prepared to supply a large portion of our state with the frigid product. They shipped considerable quantities of ice last year to other towns and will do a large business in that line this year if the season is at all favorable.

Baseball Carnival

The enthusiastic lovers of the national game will find satisfaction for their baseball hungry souls in the games arranged for the celebration in Grants Pass on the Fourth and Fifth.

Our boys are training studiously for the event and have organized a strong team. Their adversaries will realize that they have "been to a game" Eugene will send a team and the game on the Fourth will be between that team and the Grants Pass boys. Eugene is a baseball town and we look for nothing else than a first class team. If the Grants Pass boys can win from them, there will be glory in the victory. The Ashland team will be here on the Fifth to play the winning team of the Fourth. Ashland seems stronger than ever this year, and have made a good record on the diamond already this season. The purse for this last game is $100, besides glory in copious quantities. These will be games worth attending.

Prize for Bicycle Race.

The trophy to be given to the winner of the main event of the Fourth of July bicycle races is one well worth striving for. It is equipped with Hartford Thorn single tube tires, and in all respects is a thoroughly up-to-date wheel and of attractive appearance. The wheel may be seen at W. A. Paddock's bicycle den on Front street east of the depot. Lamps, bells and other sundries will be given as prizes for other bicycle races.

Circus

Baird—Clinton's dog and pony show gave a performance here on Thursday. The show is said to have been very good.

Connected with the show was a gambling game, known as the "whip" game, which was merrily conducted near the main entrance. The operators evaded the gambling law, as they offer the player five chances back or more on each play. It is an old game and a thing on the all but the operator. It used to be customary for carnivals to be accompanied by all sorts of gambling games and other enthralling schemes, but many of these have in later years made a point of eliminating such things as much as possible. This last circus could be improved thereby.

Sale of A & B Mine.

The final transfer of the A & B property, placer mining ground, formerly known as the "Old Channel" mine was consummated last week. The purchasers were Messrs. Hoover and Beardsley for the Old Channel Mining Co., consideration, $60,000. Allen Alexander and Jodie Neal are the former owners of the property, which has been under bond to the Old Channel Co. for the past year.

This mine is one of the biggest placer propositions in this part of the state. It embraces hundreds of acres on a gigantic ancient gravel channel which lies far up on the mountain sides affording glorious opportunities for unlimited dump. The water right is first class and a pressure of 500 feet gives opportunity for grand work with the hydraulic giants. The gravel is very deep and pays throughout.

Bloomers

The Boston Bloomers played a baseball game here on Friday with a local nine composed partly of the regular team and partly of picked up players. The girls made the play some baseball. One inning started in with careless playing, but they soon quit their foolishness and went just in time as the score was 9 to 8 in favor of the locals and but for a few wild throws to first, the balance might easily have been on the other side. The Bloomer catcher was a man, the rest were feminine. The girls were a "classy" lot and batted, ran and threw with feminine force and vim. Except that one of the girls manifested a desire to fight with the first baseman, they behaved themselves well. When the game was over, they went back to their car and staid there.

Placers Still Working

A number of the big placer mines in southern Oregon, which have superior water facilities, are still in operation says the correspondent of the Portland Telegram. The Cameron & Simmons placer diggings can be operated eight or nine months every year. This mine is in the Illinois country, and some of the best ground is within half a mile of Waldo. Last year Jack Cameron sold out his interest and Theodore Cameron (the State Senator) is the only one of that family now part owner of this big property. They have enough auriferous gravel to mine for several generations. They worked this mine about 7 years before taking out money, that is in opening up the property, and altogether have been operating it 20 years. They have made an open cut in the gravel two miles long, and for about half this length it is 90 feet deep. They frequently run 10,000 inches of water through this cut. There are eight to nine miles of pipe ditches; one carries about 700 of water.

Two giants under 250-foot pressure do excellent work in the gravel. The water is taken from the Illinois river. They also have a reservoir of about 40 acres. This is the first year the owners have ever had bedrock to clean. They now have about half an acre to clean off. The gold is fine and very high grade. The bedrock is serpentine. In some seasons 15 ounces to 20 ounces of platinum have been saved from this mine.

The very high price which this metal now commands (quoted at $30 per ounce) will doubtless induce additional care to secure as much of it from the mine as possible.

The price of platinum has risen from about $15 per ounce to way above gold within the last four years. There is no metal that can be substituted in some of its important uses, and no new platinum mining fields are being discovered.

A WOMAN'S THROAT

Is her fortune if she chooses to be a Fairy or Albani, and that fortune is guarded day and night with the greatest care. Nothing frightens a singer so much as a cough.

Every woman ought to be afraid of a cough. It is nature's danger signal. What does not know of some sweet woman voice silenced forever by disease which began with a slight cough.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will ensure a permanent cure of the most obstinate and lingering coughs. Even when the lungs are involved and there are hemorrhages and emaciation, "Golden Medical Discovery" is generally effective in restoring the diseased organs to sound health and strength. There is no alcohol in the "Discovery" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics.

"I am feeling quite well," writes Miss Dorcas A. Lewis, No. 1020 34th Street, Washington, D. C., "and I owe it all to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I had been quite a sufferer for a long time, and after reading Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser thought I would try his Golden Medical Discovery. I had not been sleeping well for a long time. Took one bottle of the Discovery and slept nearly all night without coughing, so I continued taking it. I had been a great sufferer for about five years. I tried lots of different medicines and different doctors, but did not feel much better. I coughed until I commenced spitting blood, but now I feel much stronger and am entirely well."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

The 118 British scientific societies number about 44,000 members.

Out of 1,619 people treated for hydrophobia in Paris last year, only four died.

Only one variety of apple, the red Astrachan, will grow in sub-tropical countries.

Less than half as many people die in England between the ages of 5 and 20 as did in 1850.

Seventy-seven out of every 1,000 children die before they are a month old, and 180 before they reach a year.

Westmorland is the healthiest county in England, while Northumberland has the highest death rate—19.8 per 1,000.

The steel production of the United States during 1899 was nearly 10,750,000 tons. This is about 4,500,000 tons in excess of Germany's total, and about 6,000,000 tons in excess of Great Britain.

Fifty thousand citizens of Indiana are employed in wood industries, and receive annually $15,000,000 in wages. The product of this labor brings $50,000,000 each year to Indiana's manufacturers.

The graphite mines discovered in 1893 in Portage county, Wis., by E. E. Taggart, of Stevens Point, are producing a material which is acknowledged, in the German market, to be superior to the Hungarian graphite.

Texas is not only an oil field, but it may become an important asphalt district. Tests from the Lucas well resulted in two grades of asphalt being obtained from it. One grade is hard and the other soft. Dr. Forward says that this asphalt is 98 per cent. pure, while the Trinidad asphalt is only 45 per cent. pure.

IS 144 AND STILL WORKS.

That Is the Account Given by Her Neighbors of Martina Celada, a Peruvian Woman.

Here is a case of longevity vouched for by El Morro, of Arica, a city in one of the Peruvian provinces held for ransom by Chili:

In the valley of Codpo, in the same province, it says that there is a woman named Martina Celada, who is 144 years old and to this day works in the fields. According to her many relatives living in Arica she was born in 1757, and has seen most of the noted men of the South American wars of independence.

This old woman has seen three centuries, the eighteenth, the nineteenth and the dawn of the twentieth. She was twice married, the first time at the age of 40, and the second when she was 60. Her sons and daughters are all dead; some of her grandchildren are living, and she has great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren. Two of the last generation are of marriageable age, so the old lady may yet live to see her fifth generation.

The old woman has some means, but she does not want to enjoy them, because she says it is not yet time. She wants to live as she does in order to entertain all that come to her house.

Dona Martina is somewhat blind, for something like a film of flesh covers her eyes; she has completely lost her hearing; and her power to think went shortly after her sight. But she can still walk very well through the fields she cultivates, and as late as 1899 she was known to climb up a fig tree to gather the fruit.

It may be said in passing that such stories of great old age are not very uncommon in Peru, where the facility for gaining a living and the equable climate seem to conduce to longevity. It is a very common thing to see Indians (cholos) who are said to be as old as 100 years or more, doing their daily work with the ease of a young man and carrying their years as lightly as in the days of their youth.

Strangest Baptism on Record.

An extraordinary ceremony was performed in Cape Town a few weeks ago. A lion tamer had been giving an exhibition for several days, and one evening he informed the audience that he had just become a father and he intended to baptize the infant on the following day in the lions' cage. Those who heard him thought he was joking, but when they reached the exhibition hall the next evening they found that he was in dead earnest.

In the cage he stood, surrounded by his assistants, and near him were seated three women—his wife, one of her friends and the godmother of the infant. To the left of them stood the clergyman, holding the baby in his arms, and behind him was a gigantic African named Leo, who was to act as godfather on the occasion. Facing this fearless group were the huge lions, whose every action showed that they were tremendously surprised at the intrusion of so many strangers into their domain. Moreover, their surprise was the greater since, in honor of the event, their cage was wreathed with flowers and splendidly illuminated with electric lights.

The ceremony was duly performed, and while it lasted the lions behaved with "perfect propriety," much to the satisfaction and surprise of the immense crowd which thronged the hall.

Too Much of a Menagerie.

Wild animals are increasing so rapidly among the cattle ranches of Texas as to threaten herds. On the ranch of Lord Cecil Campbell near El Paso last week cowboys, Indians and trained dogs held a round-up. Twelve black bears, seven grizzlies, 19 mountain lions and 150 wolves were killed.
