Baseball Fibs.

The amount of prevarication concerning baseball matters that has been turned loose in the city of Ashland is so stupendous as to require attention and correction.
The people in that city who so desire should be given an opportunity to know the truth in regard to this as well as other matters.
Whether or not the fluent talkers who have flooded the Granite city with falsehood attended the famous game in Grants Pass on August 12 cannot be determined from the reports. Fully as intelligent prevarication could be accomplished by those who were a thousand miles away from the game and knew nothing of its facts.
Some who have visited Ashland during the past week say that all manner of reports are current there concerning the game and the reasons that Ashland lost. Several of the team were battered and crippled by Pitcher Martin. Others were set upon by ruffians and beaten with fists into partial disability.
Such nonsense is an insult to the intelligence of Ashland's people. Pitcher Harper was the only man hit at the bat and his word is worthy of some consideration. He says that it did not even discommode or inconvenience him in the least. He says further that the best team won, a thing which the Ashland boys seem unable to utter.
Throughout the season, all sorts of excuses have been advanced by Ashland for their defeats. It was the Eugene men; it was the Igera men; it was the rain; it was that. Anything under the sun except the real reason that their opponents played better ball than they did. After the last game, the question was frequently heard: "What excuse will Ashland put up this time?" The answer came soon. "Pitcher Harper got hit on the arm."
The Valley Record published the prize story of the season, telling how the Ashland team were compelled to bunch together to escape assault by Grants Pass "ruffians." This is the same of ridiculous foolishness. The accounts of the fight, as given by the Valley Record and Town Talk are utterly unjust and untrue.
The latest fib occurs in Monday's Tidings and is an insinuation that Grants Pass has been studiously avoiding a game with Igera. The facts are these: after the game at Ashland, Igera challenged Grants Pass to play at Ashland. Grants Pass accepted the challenge but insisted that the game be played in Grants Pass, naming Friday or Saturday, August 2nd or 3rd as the date of the game. Their reason for not paying at Ashland was that the ground is a hard one to play on, particularly for the pitcher as it is far from level and the home plate is considerably higher than the pitcher's box. Igera objected to playing here on account of loosing sleep by the greater distance. Our team met this objection, the only one made by Igera at that time, by offering $20 to cover sleeping fare for the team. This offer hung fire for several days and was finally refused by Igera. When the Igera players were here with the Ashland team, an effort was made by Grants Pass to arrange a game for Saturday, August 17. The Igera players stated that they could play on no day except Sunday. As the proposition for a Sunday game met with scant support, the matter was finally dropped. Any insinuation that either side had cold feet is uncalled for and sounds jealous and malicious.
The truth is always in order and is worthy of more respect than it has received in Ashland.

Hops in Josephine County.

Reports from the various hop districts in Josephine County show that the crop will be about 20 per cent short, but the quality will be good. The hot weather has kept out the lice, so that the yards are clean. The recent rain, although not enough to satisfy the growers, will make the bloom heavy, as it stimulated the growth just at the right time. J. A. Jennings, who has watched the hop situation for a number of years, estimates the crop for Josephine County at 12000 bales. Twelve cents per pound has been offered, but little contracting has been done, as the prospects point to better prices. Picking will begin in about three weeks, and hop-driers are now being put in condition.
