The "servant-girl problem" continues to be a problem, with little prospect of solution. The reason for this condition of affairs is not hard to discover. To fill the requirements of a working girl satisfactorily to the majority of those who employ them requires a talent, and general ability that insures success in far more lucrative and congenial lines of occupation. Good servant girls would be plentiful if the most of them were not working at something else that they like better. Girls who can fill the requirements satisfactorily can command better situations.

Arrangements are already being considered for the Lewis and Clarke expedition, to be held at Portland in 1905. This expedition will commemorate the important historical event of the Pacific coast. The Lewis and Clarke expedition was the beginning of knowledge of the Oregon territory and its large and varied resources, climatic advantages and beauty of scenery. It is intended that this expedition shall continue the dissemination of knowledge begun by the expedition and bring the advantages of the Pacific coast into far better general realization. The expedition is not for the state of Oregon alone, but for all the states in whole or in part included in the original "Oregon country"; Washington, Idaho, Montana.

The trial of Czolgosz was very brief. The insanity plea was ruled out and the prisoner presented no defense. Czolgosz, indeed, entered a plea of "guilty," which was ruled out by the court and "not guilty" substituted. The jury was out in 35 minutes and returned a verdict of murder in the first degree. The court sentenced Czolgosz to death by electrocution in the week beginning October 28. Under the laws of the state of New York, the execution could not take place before that time. Czolgosz maintained his demeanor of indifference which seems to amount almost to stupidity. So the ignorant tool of anarchy will be broken, but the instigators of the crime, the minds behind the deed, are turned loose in the persons of Emma Goldman and her following.

It is to be regretted that southern Oregon has not been better represented at the state fair and at the Portland exposition. So southern Oregon is able to produce an exhibit that would be the envy of any section on the Pacific coast or in the United States. The amount of tremendously rich ore specimens, for example, that southern Oregon produces is something marvelous. Ore whose value runs into tens of thousands of dollars to the ton is nothing uncommon here, and large masses of more moderately rich ore are easily procurable. In fruit also, this section can produce an exhibit that would be difficult to excel. A call for exhibits or specimens, however, invariably fails to meet with any general response. Our people, as a rule, are quite indifferent to the possible benefits of this sort of advertising. This county should have a permanent mineral exhibit in the Southern Pacific depot where it can be seen by the traveling public. This has had some advocacy in the past, but it takes more than suggestion to accomplish even this. It will require some centralized effort toward it. Such an exhibit could be secured easily if some individual or committee would go at it in a business like and determined manner. The exhibits would have to be gathered. It would be necessary to go out after them, as they will not come by being merely called for.

It is suggested with some degree, at least, of reasonableness, that the manufacture and sale of revolvers should be, if not prohibited, at least placed under severe restrictions. The reason for this argument is not far to seek. The revolver is the weapon of murder, designed for the purpose. Though sometimes useful for purposes of self defense, it is the weapon of brawls and bloodshed and has little respectable use. If a man goes hunting, he takes a rifle. For protection against burglars or house breakers, a shot-gun is worth a dozen revolvers. Its prime use is to shoot human beings and no other game. In the heat of a quarrel, an ill balanced individual finds a pistol in his pocket, shoots his adversary and becomes a slayer of his fellow man. The revolver makes tragic an occasion which without it would have been only ridiculous. The law against carrying concealed weapons is quite general but is of little effect. It is very seldom that a man is searched for them and by the time the discovery is made the damage is already done. Some states require a permit to allow the purchase of a revolver, but this privilege of permits is shamefully abused. Eliminate the revolver and the number of men slaughtered in this country would be very materially decreased.

Roosevelt Has Changed.
"President Roosevelt is a different man than he was a few weeks ago," said Senator Hanna to a reporter. "He has always been honest in purpose, strong in action and true to his own and to republican principles. The new and great responsibilities that have been suddenly thrust upon him have given him equanimity and conservation. These responsibilities have rounded his character. I believe that he will live up to the expectations of his dearest friends."

To Ripen Tomatoes.
W. J. Winer writes from Wadala in regard to his experience with tomatoes as follows:
"I have demonstrated beyond any doubt by repeated trials that green tomatoes if wrapped separately in newspapers and placed in a warm room, say the kitchen, will ripen in a few days and will be in fine condition. When those partly ripe and cracking open will ripen nicely."

Demand for Pine Needles.

The operations of the pine needle industry in Grants Pass are seriously hampered for lack of needles. Needles there are in plenty, on the trees, but the trouble is in getting them picked and delivered to the factory. The price paid is $5 per ton and it is said that a man or woman can make about $1.50 per day in an ordinary days work picking needles. They might raise this to $2 or over by picking early and late. This is no bonanza, but there are families, it is said, even in Grants Pass, who are living from hand to mouth, who might be making money picking needles, as it is work that all the members of the family, including the children, could do. It is suggested that there are enough idle men around town to supply the demand for needles if they would go at it. The factory operators say that the demand for the products is very encouraging, orders being received almost every day.

Demaree's Farewell Dance.

More elaborate dancing events than Saturday evening's ball have taken place in Grants Pass but for general satisfaction and enjoyment to those in attendance it is doubtful if the dance was ever surpassed in this city. The attendance was large, and the dancing capacity of the hall was well filled. The affair was very quiet and orderly and the atmosphere of universal enjoyment that pervaded the hall could not remain unnoticed by the most casual observer. Demaree's orchestra of six pieces furnished music of the most perfect, accurate and thoroughly enjoyable quality.

This was the farewell dance by Demaree's orchestra, the organization being necessarily suspended by the departure in the near future of Mr. and Mrs. Demaree, who go to Placer for the winter.

Successful Launching.

S. F. Patton, a former Grants Pass young man who was highly respected, is now located in Wallingburg, Wash. The Wallingburg Gazette has the following to say of the new firm of which he is a member:
"The Ingram & Patton opening Saturday was a success in every particular and above the expectations of the new firm. Ice cream and cake were served during the entire day. Mrs. J. A. Ingram assisted by a corps of young ladies waited on between 750 and 800 who partook of the refreshments and pronounced them A. 1. The show windows were neatly decorated, one representing the grocery department, the other the dry goods department. Palmes in various parts of the building gave the store a pleasing effect."

Last Payment Made.

Messrs Lawson and Ramsey, of Seattle, made the last payment on the purchase of the Kubi mine located 16 miles from Grants Pass, on Gall's creek, September 24. The mine was the property of Kubi Bros., of Jacksonville, and was sold to Messrs. Lawson and Ramsey for $40,000. The new owners will immediately place five additional stamps on the property and begin extensive development work.

Soldiers' and Sailors' Reunion.

The Reunion Association of Southern Oregon Soldiers and Sailors opened their annual reunion at Central Point on Monday with an excellent representation from all points within the jurisdiction of the organization, and despite the autumn showers which now and again set every one hunting temporary shelter, the meriment began early and continued faithfully throughout the session. Not a few ex-confederates were present and many a yarn was spun of the days of the great struggle between those who before it were brethren and are now even more closely united. Many were the visitors, as well, younger men who capped the veterans' stories with queer tales of Cuba and the Philippines, while militiamen with shiny buttons and creased trousers listened and bethought themselves how very much better those things would be done when it should come their turn to don the uniform in deadly earnest.

Wednesday was "business day." Great interest was manifested in the election of officers for the ensuing and the contests for some of the positions was rather spirited though more than ordinarily harmonious.
The following gentlemen were elected and on Thursday those present were sworn to the faithful performance of the duties of their respective offices: John Patrick of Grants Pass, Colonel and Commander; B. Beach, Ashland, Lieutenant Colonel; Frank Kessler, Jacksonville, Major; A. J. T. Smith, Quartermaster; K. B. Paul, Central Point, Chaplain.
As a place for holding the next annual reunion Jacksonville was the only town contesting with Gold Hill for that honor; the vote, however, showed the county seat to be scarcely in the race, Gold Hill being fixed upon by a vote 51 to 15, or more than a three fourths vote.

Grants Pass veterans were not numerous at the reunion, but those who did attend left well repaid. Comrades, Heston, Griffith and Niday with Mrs. Niday were there. Lieutenants Brown and Cross with about a dozen of the boys of Company H attended the reunion on Thursday and Friday and enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent.
The ladies thought the boys would have no use for a guard tent and they captured the tent lobby while the boys were out drilling; an alarm was given and orders given to round up the Relief Corps which was anticipated with some concern and lots of fun.
The G. A. R. and W. R. C. did everything in their power to make the visit enjoyable, and they succeeded famously as was attested by the cheers and the expressive "tiger" that was indulged in as the boys marched from camp, between the lines of veterans and W. R. C.

To Ripen Tomatoes.
W. J. Winer writes from Wadala in regard to his experience with tomatoes as follows:
"I have demonstrated beyond any doubt by repeated trials that green tomatoes if wrapped separately in newspapers and placed in a warm room, say the kitchen, will ripen in a few days and will be in fine condition. When those partly ripe and cracking open will ripen nicely."

Boys' Brigade.

The Boys' Brigade which was organized under the auspices of the Young Ladies Christian Temperance Union last year, has again taken up their drills after a vacation. The first meeting was held in the opera house Saturday evening, at which time officers were elected as follows:
Captain, Will Fry.
First Lieutenant, Roy Belding.
First Sergeant, Elmer Wertz.
Q. M. Sergeant, Kester Chapman.
The boys take up the work with a will and show that they are interested. About 25 were present last Saturday and it is expected that more will enter at subsequent meetings. E. B. Brown is drilling the boys and will soon have a company that any man should be proud of.
Drills will be conducted regularly on Saturday afternoon at the opera house.

Portland Excursionists.

Some 20 or more Grants Pass people took advantage of the cheap rates to visit the metropolis Wednesday.
Among those who went are: Dr. and Mrs. J. Jennings, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lester, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hough, Mrs. Geo. Good, Mrs. J. C. Taylor, Mrs. M. P. Anderson, Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. Amos Smith, Misses, Mae Davis, Carrie Umplett, Essie Hartman, Lucile McCroskey and Vera Good. Messrs. Wm. Bybee, John Hall, Geo. Hanson G. Altpeter.

Aged Equine.

Unquestionably the oldest horse in Jackson county says the Medford Mail, is owned by Dr. B. F. Adkins, of Medford. The animal is thirty-six years old, but it is thought he will not be sprung with the living another spring. Fifteen years ago he was running cattle on the Hanley ranch, at which time the doctor bought him. For the past ten years he has done no work, but during all these years he has been very tenderly cared for, and thus care and idleness has had much to do with his reaching the age he has.

A Shooting Accident.

Wednesday morning Fred Eddings and Jake Williams, both of this city, started across the river on a squirrel hunt, young Eddings carrying a Remington 22 caliber rifle. Just beyond the railroad a squirrel was seen and in hastily loading his gun Eddings somehow discharged the weapon, the bullet passing downward through the inside of the right instep, inflicting a wound which will keep his foot off of the ground for some little time although it is by no means serious. Eddings was helped home by his companion and the injury fixed up by Dr. Morrill. No bones were touched by the bullet in its course and Eddings is resting easily at his home—Gold Hill News.

Pioneer of '53.

Mrs. Mary A. Stoddard, formerly Mrs. Clark Taylor, whom many of the earlier settlers of this county know well in the old pioneer days, died last Wednesday morning at Medford while visiting with her sons after attending the pioneer reunion. She was taken sick with heart trouble a few days preceding her death. Mrs. Stoddard was 71 years of age. With her husband, Clark Taylor, she came to Oregon in 1853, and they first settled in the Rogue River Valley. Mr. Taylor died in 1883, and she was afterwards married to Mr. Stoddard. They lived six years in California, where he died, something over two years ago. She then returned to Oregon, and had since made her home with her daughter at Mount Tabor. Her children are: Mrs. Ellen E. Mundy, Mount Tabor; W. W. H. H. and C. C. Taylor, Medford. She passed away at the home of her son, W. W. Taylor.

Hugo Items.

Frank Niday has moved back on his ranch at Hugo.
Mrs. Ruth Rowe went to Grants Pass last Thursday, 19th.
Mrs. Ruth Rowe was visiting Mr. and Mrs. Cross, Friday.
Miss Minnie Haven spent a few days in Merlin last week.
Mr. Osborn and family are returning to their home at Tunnel 9.
Miss Mattie Mann and the Misses Henry visited Merlin school Monday.
Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Light of Gravo Creek were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McCormick Wednesday.
Mrs. Jim Trimble of Grants Pass, and mother and sister of Crescent City, were visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. Crockett, Thursday.
Hugo is rapidly improving; Mr. Wm. Purdy is building a new residence, but the carpenter hammer is only sounding from 6 to 6.
The Heffling mill has gone to Quartz Creek, and will be the old boiler. Mr. Jones runs the boarding house. We use the whistle, calling time to work and time to play.

Mrs. Henry departed for Leland Friday; she traveled by the way of Kenney short line taking orders for the book, "Life of William McKinley"; silk cloth $1.50, Morocco 2.25.
Bob, we have two good street sweepers who desire work; do you think the health officers of Leland would employ them? One cleans away old cans, the other, old papers and trash. Excuse me if Leland does not need street sweeping, but some cities do; I suppose Leland streets are all quartz and gold.
"Thank you, Bob, for your kind invitation to visit Leland"; also the Merlin Night-Hawk; I shall avail myself of the first opportunity, as soon as I finish plowing and planting wheat, so that I am sure of four in the house this winter. I will come over and get acquainted with your widows; I also understand that Leland has some of the prettiest and sweetest girls this side of Portland; I might make "Good-bye Eyes" at them. By the way, Bob, I don't care to take that trip for nothing; are you sure they want a husband, and will not say no? Are you like the Merlin Night-Hawk? See what you see, and can swear to all you hear?
DICK.

Merlin Notes.

Mr. Powers is painting his new residence.
Mr. Keyte made Grants Pass a visit Saturday.
Prof. McConnell, went to the Pass on his wheel Saturday.
Mr. Lums London made a business trip to Grants Pass Saturday.
Merlin school needs an assistant teacher the one room is over flowing with students.
Night Hawk interviewed Prof. McConnell Monday evening and found that there are 60 students in attendance. Those entering school last Monday morning were Mary Massie, Hal Massie, Austin Massie, Clarence Crow, Rose Crow, Ord Crow, Francis Enrick, May Enrick and Edward Enrick.
A stranger was in our city a few days last week, he represented himself as being sent here by the R. R. Co. to take charge of the section at this place. He held the first of the month and put on a crew of 10 or 15 men, and through promising to board the crew at the hotel he ran his face for board and lodging, and borrowed $19 of Charles Gora, skipped the town and hasn't been seen or heard of since. Beware of Bilks.
MERLIN NIGHT HAWK.

Leland Siftings.

Mr. Wilson's barn is nearing completion. He expects to have his new livery rigs in next week.
We think Dick is in a fair way to get him a wife as he seems to lean toward one of our fair grass-widows. Success to you, old boy.
The prospectors who went up Gravo Creek have brought in some rich rock and they have located some good ledges. The placer miners are almost in readiness for the winter's run.
Mrs. Henry was here last week selling the "Life of Wm. McKinley," along with other valuable articles. She is early in the field but wants to get a start before the rush.
A new paper in our midst, the Leland Banner. It is a new, breezy paper, not very large, but it is quite young and as its circulation increases, we think it will grow. Mr. Wilson is the proprietor.
We are having cool, cloudy weather with signs of rain at present; we have had rain enough for farmers. As it is too early for miners to commence operations, we don't wish for too much rain this time of year as it conflicts with fruit drying, and as there is considerable heavy hauling it cuts the roads up badly.

We see that Merlin has a new correspondent who says he can hear the sound of the hammer at night as the demand for buildings is so great; we know of men who frequent the Dew Drop at Leland, so they can hear bells in their ears—we hope that is not the case with the Merlin correspondent. Feb.

A new departure in shaft harness is the patent buckle for which A. B. Cornell and C. F. Moore, of this city, have the Pacific Coast agency. The new contrivance does away with tags, singletree and shaft loops, the attachment being directly on the shafts. It eliminates all rubbing of collar or breast strap and all harness is ever bent or tied up or under the horse's feet, so that this considerable factor in the wearing and giving out of harness is avoided.

It is claimed that the new harness is infinitely easier and more comfortable to the horse, as the correct alignment and direct draught with absence of jars, jerks, slipping and sliding harness and pounding the shafts. All jars or jolts are equalized by springs. One of the most important advantages of the new contrivance lies in the fact that the horse can be instantly detached from the vehicle in case of accident.
It is certain that the horse may be hitched to or unhitched from a vehicle with this contrivance in one third of the time required by the old way. There are no tags to do up and no part of the
