Harvard won a football game from Yale at Cambridge Saturday, score 22 to 0. Yale made a faithful fight but was outplayed throughout the game.

The Oregon supreme court has rendered its decision in the Ashland saloon cases. It sustains the decision of Judge Hanna in the circuit court. This was a test case to decide validity of Ashland's saloon ordinance.

Thanksgiving day is a good time for all Americans to remember that they have cause for gratitude above all other nations. They live in the best country and under the best government on the face of the earth.

John Considine has been acquitted of the murder of Meredith in Seattle. There is little doubt that the killing of Meredith was premeditated by Considine, yet as Meredith was also "bleed" it was natural that Considine's plea of self defense should be considered.

When our forefathers shot wild turkeys and gathered cranberries in the woods of Massachusetts and gave thanks in that they were saved from starvation, they little dreamed that they were inaugurating one of the most important of the holidays of a great nation.

Admiral Schley, it is reported, is overwhelmed with offers to write for magazines and newspapers and to deliver lectures. He was recently offered $50,000 by a lecture bureau for lectures in 10 principal cities.

What was first considered a mere sensational rumor is now conceded to be fact, in regard to the plot concerning the Yukon territory. The scheme was being planned in Seattle and Skagway and its object was the seizing of the Yukon territory from the Canadian Government.

Among the measures which congress will be obliged to consider at the coming session are those relative to Chinese exclusion. The present treaty law expires in May, 1902 and a strong movement is being made for its re-enactment.

There appears to be a movement all over the United States looking toward a betterment of political conditions. President Roosevelt is setting the pace and it is being more or less followed in the several states and cities of our country.

City Election. City election occurs on next Monday. As there is only one candidate for mayor, Mr. Thomas having declined, it promises to be a very quiet affair.

Enjoyable Winter Trip. A winter trip to Southern California and Arizona via the famous Santa Fe route is one never to be forgotten.

The 1904 national convention if a certain appointment was not made. Quigg's exit from the presidential presence on that occasion was made with considerable celerity and the appointment was not made.

Mr. Thomas Declines. Most sincerely thanking the general nominating convention for the honor bestowed upon me, and the confidence shown in placing my name as a candidate for mayor of this city, I most respectfully decline the nomination.

Most respectfully yours, R. THOMAS.

Trout in Crater Lake. U. S. Geologist J. S. Diller writes to Dr. E. Kirchgessner of Medford, among other things regarding Crater lake, as follows:

"During my visit there this summer (1901) we found some trout in Crater Lake fully 80 inches in length, and it is evident that the lake must have been stocked many years ago.

Trout have been placed in the lake, but this is the first instance we have heard of their being since found. It has been said that there is no living thing in the waters of Crater lake, but that is a mistake.

Mining News.

A run of 10 tons of rock from the Nye mine on G W's creek yielded $200 to the ton recently. J. W. Fitzpatrick returned on Friday from McDowell, Cal., where he has been running an engine on the McDowell river railroad.

What is probably the biggest gold strike of the year in Adlin district, Alaska, has just been made. It is on the Sunrise group of claims and is of gold quartz, which, according to mill tests, returns a value of from $800 to $1,200 per ton.

Sale of Tip-Top Mine. The Messenger mine on Williams creek, known as the "Tip-Top" was purchased this week by A. C. Merrill of Tacoma and Geo. St. John, who have large quartz interests and control a number of mines in this same district.

Sale of Stalker Placer. Albert Clemens, of Philadelphia, Pa., has bought the Stalker placers on "No. 7" and "No. 8," tributaries of Althouse, near Rosentown, for a cash consideration of $4000.

More Quartz on Althouse. J. A. Stalker, who recently sold his placer property on Althouse, is preparing to develop a quartz property owned by him in that district.

Mrs. Susan Chapin attended the literary at Hilo last week and reports an enjoyable time. Red Culp made a business trip to Meritt last week. He reports time quite lively at that place.

We are receiving quite an influx of immigrants that are looking up land. Some are thinking of buying railroad land on which to make homes.

We see "Dick" is on deck again and very desirous of a subject on which to write. We think every writer should choose a subject of his own liking.

Every thing about the Gipsy Queen, say those who have visited the mine, is a pattern of neatness and convenience.

Another Worked Out Mine. Every once in a while one of those old abandoned mines of Southern Oregon, which were "worked out" years ago and regarded as "only pockets," surprises the wisecracker by showing signs of unexpected richness.

Howland & Cook Placer.

The Howland and Cook placer, formerly the C & C. mine on upper Jump-off Joe, is one of those that the brisk rains of last week enabled to begin operations. This mine lies partly in Jackson county and in Josephine and high up in the mountains, where the snow reserves a good water supply for the early summer months.

Every thing about the Gipsy Queen, say those who have visited the mine, is a pattern of neatness and convenience.
