Foots Creek Debate.

One of the features of entertainment which the people of Foots creek are enjoying this winter is their debating society. The meetings of this society are attended by all, big, little, old and young. For subjects, they do not confine themselves to dry political or metaphysical questions, but select questions of live interest in every day life. For instance, a recent question was, "Resolved, that a good natured slatternly wife is preferable to a neat scolding wife." The possibilities of interesting argument is a subject like this are endless, then also the ladies of the neighborhood may catch useful pointers from discussions of this nature.

Thanksgiving Day Fire.

To one family at least in Grants Pass, the Thanksgiving day just past will not be remembered as one of pleasure. The dwelling of F. F. Grove caught fire about the middle of the afternoon with a strong wind blowing and the demolition of the building seemed certain. The house was a one story building, plastered and neatly finished inside. The fire started from a defective fire and burned for some time between the ceiling and the roof before it was discovered. When the fire was discovered, the neighbors were prompt and vigorous in their assistance and every article was quickly removed from the building. The fire company were largely in attendance at the football game and the heavy gusts of wind prevented the alarms being heard at the grounds. A horse cart was laboriously dragged to the scene by a few hands. After the water was turned on, the wind and the inability to work to advantage hampered the firemen, but a hole was finally cut into the roof and the nozzle inserted. When the fire was soon brought under control. The lower part of the building was little damaged by the fire, but the ceiling and walls and most of the wood work were virtually ruined by the water. In dry weather, the damage would have been minimized, but at this season of the year the dampness makes havoc in the dry lumber. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

New Guns for Militia.

The old Springfield rifles now carried by the Oregon National Guard will soon be laid aside, says the Oregonian, and their places will be taken by the modern Krag-Jorgensen.

Adjutant-General C. U. Gantenbein yesterday received a letter from the Chief of Ordnance at Washington, informing him officially that the Government was now ready to arm the National Guard of each state with Krag-Jorgensen rifles.

General Gantenbein has for some time been anticipating this notification, and has accordingly drawn as little equipment as possible from the Government, so that the Oregon National Guard has now standing to its credit on the books of the United States the sum of $7000. This amount is good for 400 Krag-Jorgensen rifles.

General Gantenbein will at once forward a requisition for the 400 Krags, and they will arrive by freight inside of a month and be distributed at once on some sort of an equitable adjustment.

The old Springfield rifles now in use will be turned into the National Government as the Krags arrive. If the Government allows a credit for the returned Springfield rifles, General Gantenbein will be able to draw enough Krags to arm the entire National Guard with them.

Slippery Customer.

A man giving his name as Vernon, a horse borrower of ability, has lately been operating here. He hired a horse and saddle to go to Watkins, Jackson county, to be gone about a week. To the owner of the horse he gave a power of attorney to collect some money which should arrive in a few days. The money failed to come. After some time had elapsed a letter of inquiry was written to Watkins, eliciting the information that the stranger had taken his departure for Happy Camp, hiring a man to transport him thither. The horse had either gotten away from him or been turned loose and the saddle was discovered lying by the side of a mountain trail. The horse was secured by people of the neighborhood.

At Happy Camp, Vernon went a step further and bought a horse, giving a check on a Portland bank in payment therefor. The check proved worthless and officers are now camping on Vernon's trail. A warrant for his arrest had arrived here just prior to his departure and at the moment the sheriff was looking around town for the elusive gentleman, the latter was borrowing a saddle from the stables of the sheriff.

The Weekly Oregonian and the Courier both for one year for $2. in advance.

Schumann Concert Co.

Arrangements have been made by which the Schumann Concert company has been secured for an entertainment here on the evening of December 14. The company consists of four soloists, every one of them an artist. Miss Edith Adam, violinist, is described as an exceptionally gifted artist. She has a wonderful technique and her tone is rich and full. Miss Robert Goldbeck, pianist, is said to have a marvelous versatility and wonderfully fine expression. She completed her studies in England and Germany and has appeared publicly in those countries with conspicuous success. Miss Lillian Board, contralto, has a voice very sympathetic in quality and a singularly agreeable stage presence. Walter A. McPherson, basso, has a voice of great resonance, rich and broad and very flexible, with a range from low C to F.

The entertainment by this company will be of a quality rarely given to the people of Grants Pass and one which music lovers can ill afford to miss.

"Chinese" Reception.

Miss Mary Coe, assisted by the Junior C. E. society gave a very unique and enjoyable entertainment on Friday evening at the Presbyterian church parlors. The purpose of the reception was to bring into recognition the mission field of China and the costumes, decorations, etc. were of a character in keeping with the subject and were, besides, elaborate and very beautiful. Numerous extracts concerning mission work in China were read by the Juniors, and these, interspersed with musical numbers, constituted the program, which the audience enjoyed throughout. Refreshments of water and tea with Chinese utensils, were served at the conclusion of the program. The attendance was very large, taxing the capacity of the parlors to the utmost. Every one enjoyed the evening and Miss Coe is to be congratulated on the entire success of the event.

there is just as much difference in Clothing as there is in people—Some are expensive in their general appearance—they have character—The style—design—finish—workmanship—material—all contribute to the desired effect.

Such clothes cost no more than the ordinary—'tis simply the difference between the shoddy and the bright scientific of clothing—designers—creators—

Not measured by Dollars—simply reputation—that's all.

Our Clothes have the label here shown—'tis guarantee sufficient for these makers of good clothes—not only make them—but Design—Create—and their reputation goes with them, and they're known as the greatest clothing makers in the world.

Look for this label, sewn on inside of Coat Collar, or on linen tab in pocket.

APPEARANCES
go a great way—Clothes make the man—First impressions are the best—most lasting—Clothes do it—the right kind—Our Clothes will.

Better Fire Protection.

The city government has lately received 500 feet of new hose for the use of the fire company. This together with the four new hydrants that have lately been put in by the water company, gives us a greatly superior fire protection than we have had hitherto. The fire on Thursday was in the territory of one of the new hydrants, from which the water was obtained.

December Strawberries.

Mrs. Morris lies brought a few boxes of strawberries into town last week from her home about five miles north of Grants Pass. The berries were large, red and luscious, exemplifying the mildness of our weather very eloquently.

Lecture Course Announcement.

I desire to say to those who hold tickets for the course of entertainments advertised under my management that I have just had a card from Mr. Waggoner on behalf of the Lecture Bureau stating that it will be impossible for him to fulfill his agreement. This means that the electrical exhibition and concert will not be given. No one feels more keenly the disappointment at this result than I do. However I am now seeing what can be done toward making up the course. This will probably take a little time and if the ticket holders will be a little patient we can yet have the five entertainments which will be worth at least the price of the tickets. Should this not be feasible all tickets will be redeemed pro rata.
