The Courier wishes its readers a Mer ry Christmas with all the happiness that the day can bring.

Several insurance companies in the eastern cities have included the Christmas tree as among the extra hazards which affect fire insurance. This discriminating against Santa Claus by cold blooded corporations will probably have no effect on the old man nor will it frighten him away from the homes he is wont to visit.

Chill and Argentina are preparing matter of secondary importance. Neither nation has had a war for some time and excitement. In Argentina public rifle ranges are maintained and each citizen is allowed 35 shots from a Mauser rifle. It is suggested that the matter be referred to King Edward as arbiter but this course would ill suit the South on him to warm birn up after au all nigh the hone vivants of the Midule Ages American temper.

The sensation of the hour is the Schley controversy and the findings of the court are received with indignation Sampson who might have been an henored figure, is made the target for the public wrath and his fame is great in quantity but the quality is not of the most desirable order. Dewey's opinion favoring Schley is received with satisold and which is productive of the regard and cordiality between friends that makes life worth living, but like all things it has its abuses. Too much of a "'value received" spirit has crept in and too many presents are given with the purpose of paying back some gift received. This is not right and the intrinsic value of the gift should be considered of secondary importance. No gift should be given which does not carry with it the regard or the a ffection of the giver.

Germany is said to be preparing an ultimatum to Venezuela and is arranging for warlike action in order to settle certain claims against that country. There seems to be a disposition among the European nations and Germany in particular to bring the Monroe doctrine to et and it may be that the presen instance will offer an opportunity. The United States believes in the Monroe doctrine, but whether or not it would be upheld in international courts is an unsolved problem. Many statesmen consider the Monroe doctrine as simple bluff. However, it is one that has al ways worked hitherto.
