A. U. Bannard made a trip to Portland last week on business. Last Thursday he assumed charge of the big furniture house on Sixth street which he recently purchased from M. W. Wilbur. Mr. Bannard is a business man of experience and ability and one whom our city is glad to welcome, both in a business way and as a citizen.

W. E. Beckner of Portland, and H. W. Shoop of Baker City, were in the city Monday on their way from Gold Hill to Mr. Beckner's mining property on Horse Shoe bend, 30 miles west of Dothan. Mr. Beckner is interested in some valuable placer property there, and is prepared to put in a 10 months run by working the upper channel in the winter and lower bars in the summer when the river is low.

A Rare Opportunity.

We desire to call the personal attention of every one of our readers to the exceptional terms upon which we are prepared to offer the representative journal of agriculture, Farm and Home, in connection with this paper. Everywhere throughout the country Farm and Home is known and recognized as a journal of the highest standard. Its sound common sense, practical teachings, terse paragraphs, originality and pluck have won for it a place at the head of the agricultural press. Its immense circulation, exceeding 350,000 copies each issue, is in itself a telling testimonial of its practical value and intrinsic worth. Our subscribers will do well to read the announcement and avail themselves of an opportunity to secure, at a trifling cost, a paper which will return them a thousand per cent on the investment in the useful hints and teachings to be obtained from its perusal. To all, we say, try Farm and Home a year, and you will never regret it. A fine Art Calendar for 1902, with weather forecasts for every day in the year, and five beautiful pictures, 9x13, each a gem of art, is included in each subscription.

Drowned in Goose Lake.

Walter Brown and Fred Snelling, aged 17 and 16 respectively were drowned on December 27 while skating on Goose Lake, 10 miles from Lakeview. The bodies were recovered. Brown was the son of a prominent sheepman of Lakeview and Snelling was an orphan and lived with a maiden aunt. They were both employed in the Examiner office.

Back to Oregon.

C. P. Drown writes from St. Louis, Mo., under date of Dec. 30. Mr. Drown says in part:

"I leave here for God's country tonight, via 'Frisco, over the southern route. This man's country is 'on the hog.' The Pan-American, at Buffalo, was about the slowest I ever saw. The only thing that seemed to have any life in it was the pilgrimage of the democrats, Monticello. We went about 350 strong and put up a monument at the grave of the great statesman buried there. It was a centennial trip of his election. I've put four months in this beastly country and climate, and have found, if I never knew it before, that there is no place like home and Southern Oregon beats the world. I got the Cornish regular and it seemed like meeting an old friend every time it came."

Freight Train Derailed.

The Roseburg Plaindealer has the following account of Sunday's train wreck:

Early Sunday morning as the north-bound freight train, Frank Anderson, engineer and Harry Gilvin, conductor, was rounding a short curve at the north end of Round Prairie, a short distance north of Rockles station, the inside rail turned over resulting in fifteen freight cars leaving the track. Fortunately the train was running slow and was stopped before any of the cars were ditched or even left the ties. It is also stated that the train remained intact not a single drawhead being broken. The derailment occurred at a point where the roadbed is considerably elevated and had the train been ditched serious destruction to the property would have resulted. As it was, some little time was required by the wrecking crew sent out from this place to get the derailed cars back on the track again. The morning's south bound overland was detained at this place until about 4.30 p. m., while the northbound local No. 12, due here at about 10.30 a. m., did not arrive here until 4.28 p. m. being held at Riddle while the track was being cleared.

It was a very singular accident and fortunate on account of the slight damage resulting.

Deep Gravel Mine.

The Wimer mine near Waldo, known as the Deep Gravel mine, one of the oldest, best known and productive placer properties of Southern Oregon, has been adding to its equipment this year by a Rubie grizzly which is now nearly ready for operation. Mr. Bates, formerly of Golden, is acting as foreman at the mine this season.

Arm Broken.

T. Utley's left arm was broken on Tuesday evening at Williams Bros. place where he is employed. He was seen to put a belt on a revolving pulley and his hand was caught between the pulley, breaking his arm across the wrist, the fracture is just above the wrist, both bones being broken. His hand and fingers were also badly injured. In many years spent in factory and mill work, this is the first accident in this line that he has experienced.

Distressing Accident.

Dollie Fraser, a little girl about 10 years, old living near the Presbyterian church was badly scalded on Saturday. She was hanging clothes on a line stretched in the kitchen, and was standing on a chair to reach the line. She lost her balance and in falling, grasped the clothes line, pulling it across the stove, upset a vessel of boiling water upon her, scalding her terribly on the back, shoulders and arms. A physician's aid was secured as quickly as possible. The injury is serious but recovery is expected.

NOT COD-LIVER OIL but Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil. They are not the same; far from it.

Scott's emulsion is cod-liver oil prepared for the stomach. Let cod-liver oil alone if you need it. When your physician orders toast, do you breakfast on flour?

Pure cod-liver oil is hard to take and hard to digest. A man that can keep it down, can saw wood. He thinks he is sick; he is lazy.
