School Notes.

This week is the last week devoted to study this term. Next week will be taken up with final examinations and the closing work of school.

A traveling photographer took the pictures of the several grades at the large school house Monday afternoon, and has already sold quite a number of the photographs to the students.
Manager Cland Williams of the school base ball team has secured a game with the clerks on Decoration Day. The school boys are hard at work practicing and expect to be able to put up a good game.

The eighth grade is taking the regular state eighth grade examinations this week. Mr. T. P. Cramer is conducting the examination on behalf of the board of directors.

The teachers and students are very much pleased with the success of the book social. There has been in all, over $120.00 raised this year for the library and piano. Next year we expect to do better. The pupils of the high school gave expression of their gratitude to the committee of teachers who managed the social by a vote of thanks.

Cleaning and Dye Works.
Ernest Rotermund, of Denver, Colo., has started a steam cleaning and dye works at Grants Pass, one block east of 1st National bank. He comes highly recommended. He learned his trade in Hanover, Germany and has worked in the largest cities of this country. Ladies' and gentlemen's garments cleaned, dyed and pressed without shrinking or ripping and the finest of fabric can be cleaned without affecting the color. Old clothes made equal to new. The latest methods are employed.

The Book Social.
The social given by the school last Saturday evening was a success in every way. The Woodmen's Hall was well filled and all present seemed to be in the liveliest good humor. Prof. F. E. Young acted as master of ceremonies. The following program was given:
Music... High School Double Quartette
Recitation... Ernest Umphlette
Drill—Star Spangled Banner...
Nine School Girls
Music... Mandolin Club
Recitation... Pearl Cunningham
Instrumental Solo... Eula Howard
Music... Girls Quartette
Grand March...
The students who represented books took part in the grand march. Many fantastic, amusing and characteristic costumes were worn. Dr. Moore, Mrs. Moss and Mrs. Gault had been chosen as judges to decide as to the best representation. They awarded the prize to Miss Wilna Gilkey, representing "The Old Fashioned Girl." Dr. Moore made a neat little speech in presenting the prize, Whittier's Poems, to Miss Gilkey. The crowd then adjourned to the banquet room where refreshments of cake and lemonade were served. After the supper the young people enjoyed themselves in a sociable time, and all stayed till late and reported a most enjoyable evening.

The school cleared $42.35 which will be used to purchase books for the school library.

President Harriman's Train.
A special train of six vestibuled cars, comprising the rolling palaces of President Harriman, passed through Grants Pass Saturday night on its way northward.
The train was an elegant one of six beautifully furnished coaches, and on board besides President Harriman were Mrs. E. H. Harriman, Miss Mary, Coral and Ophelia Harriman, Masters Averell and Roland Harriman, Misses Clark, Sears, Wilcox and Livingston; J. Stanley Brown, the president's private secretary; President Schwerin of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company; Vice-President and General Manager J. Kruttschnitt, Manager R. Koehler, Superintendent L. B. Fields, W. S. Palmer and Redman Cross.

Rush for Timber Claims.
The rush for timber claims is now at its height in Josephine county, and nearly every passenger train brings parties to Grants Pass who are in search of quarter sections of Uncle Sam's domain. There yet remains considerable timber land in Josephine county to be located, but the end of the year will see it all taken up.
Under the timber and stone acts, the citizen is entitled to 160 acres for which he pays at the rate of $2.50 per acre, within 90 days of the date of entry. Under the homestead act, a five years' residence is necessary, but no cash outlay beyond the receiver's fees for filing and proving up.

Weidemann's Big Show.
Weidemann's Big Show is at the opera house this week and has been playing to large audiences. The company has an entertaining talent far superior to most of those who have visited Grants Pass. Their entertainments are very lively and pleasing. A new play is presented each night and specialties are introduced between the acts, making almost a continuous performance. The electric and fire dances are very beautiful.

Grant Hill Mines.
J. H. Booth of Roseburg, one of the stockholders in the Granite Hill mines of Louse creek district, has just sold his interests for $117,000. Mr. Booth sold to the California stockholders of the company. The owners of the property were recently offered $100,000 cash for their mines, but refused the offer, the California stockholders not desiring to sell for this price.

It is also reported that J. O. Booth has also sold his interests in the Granite Hill mines, but Mr. Booth has made no statement to this effect.
C. L. Mangum, superintendent of the mines, stated to a representative of The Courier Tuesday that their new machinery had arrived in Grants Pass and is being transported to the mines. In about sixty days a hoist and five additional stamps will be installed. At the present time the force of the mines are busily employed retimbering the mines and putting the road to the property in a passable condition.

By an unintentional oversight we failed to make mention last week of the reception given Rev. Daughters and bride at the Woodmen's hall the Thursday previous. The reception was given by the Episcopal church people, together with a number of invited friends. A musical and literary program was rendered, this being interspersed with games and social amusements. A bounteous luncheon was served in the banquet-room.

Rev. and Mrs. Daughters recently arrived here from Colfax, Wash., where they were married May 24. Rev. Daughters has accepted the pastorate of the Episcopal church and will remain here indefinitely.

Choral Union Social.

On Friday evening a social was given at the I. O. O. F. hall by the Grants Pass Choral Union, to close the season of 1901-2.

Despite a cold and stormy evening, there was a large attendance and the occasion was a very pleasant one to all. The program consisted mainly of selections from the cantatas given by the Choral Union: "David" and "The Haymakers". Every number was excellently rendered and encours were frequent. From "The Haymakers" the following selections were given: Solos, "Arise Ye" and "Blithely Go We Forth," by J. M. Isham; duet, "Sweet Morn," by Misses Carrie White and Bertha Barrie; quintette, "How Good is He, the Giver," Misses White and Barrie, Messrs. Voorhies, Isham, and Geo. Cramer; duet, "Lo, the Clouds are Breaking," Miss Bertha Barrie and Mr. Geo. Cramer; solo, "Dairy Maid's Song," Miss Maggie Meade. From "David": Scene 2, "Abigail and Shepherds," Misses Edna Parker, Maggie Meade, Nora Sydow and Messrs. Ireland, Van Dyke, Mensch and Suman; solos, "Fair Shepherd" and "O, Shepherd Fair," by Miss Laura Parker; duet, "David and Johnathan," by Cramer Bros. The closing number was a solo by E. C. Suman.

After the program, refreshments of ice cream and cake were served in the banquet hall.

Miss Booth was Murdered
It has developed that Miss Winifred Booth was murdered by Dr. Ledbrook at Orofino, Idaho, recently. Ledbrook possessed an hypnotical influence over Miss Booth and made use of it in luring her away from her home. Miss Booth did not love the man, in fact, she hated him.

To one young girl she stated that Ledbrook had hypnotized her on several occasions, and to her mother she several times complained that he was continually taunting her with all that he had done for herself and other members of the family. She also said to her mother that he had an influence over her that she could not resist.

Rev. Booth, the father of the girl, this evening spoke with reserve of the sad occurrence, and stated that he had from his first acquaintance with Ledbrook regarded him as one of his most helpful and sincere friends. He had always been most attentive to his daughter's welfare, often working over her during her critical illness for hours at a time. Mr. Booth said:

"He always seemed devoted to Winifred's welfare and frequently spoke of his desire to adopt her as his daughter, several times stating that he had always desired children of his own, but that he could not regard his own flesh and blood with any greater affection than he felt for her."

The statement hinted at in his letter to Mr. Gillette that Mrs. Booth was cognizant of any affection that he might possess for Winifred other than that of a father for a child, is unqualifiedly false.

Mrs. Booth, on reading the letter this evening, was entirely prostrated, and is now under the doctor's care.

In speaking of Winifred, Dr. Ledbrook never said anything to my wife other than what he said to me, and at no time were his remarks of a character that would lead to suspicion that he was in love with her."—Telegram.

The New Railroad.
The surveying party of the Oregon and Pacific Railroad have been at work in and about Grants Pass during the past week, beginning the survey of the road from here to Waldo. Work will be continued steadily until the survey is completed through to the coast.

Col. Draper and his attorney, A. C. Hough were given a royal reception at Crescent City by the Board of Trade and citizens of that place a few days ago. The people of Crescent City are ready and willing to offer all the possible inducements for the building of the new line, realizing full well the benefits to be derived by the road.
