

FINNIGAN'S LETTER TO HOOLIGAN.

Ginitis me niece from the city will be after payin as a visit next week," says Riley. "Ya did not tell me a word about it yit," says L. "Well she is, and me wife said I should bring home a big dinner guisy roast." "Thin," says L. to Riley, "if its good mate ye want, thin follow me foot steps to the City Market; its there you can get the best ive fresh cured and smoked meats—and the folks of such, that makes yer month water everytime ye go in sight live the market on Sixth street, and its G. G. Burns that's wide awake and agrable to dale with de ye moind Riley," says L. "no wonder thin that they same busy in there," says Riley, "and thin ladies look so placed comin out ive the market there."

"After lavin the bank we nixt went down the strate and into Galvin and Smith's well-appointed livery, sale and feed stable. The hist one in town as ye well know Hooligan, and sure it was there that we saw thin splendid rigs and spirited steeds groomed so foine, de ye mind that they were? Thin looks loike high stoppers," says Riley plintin into the stalls at two blooded kolin animals. "They are," says Galvin. "Thin write me name on the slate for thin same two, and the aligest open rig ye love, for nixt Sunday," says Riley, and we are going thin."

"Why don't ye surprise yer wife with a nice fruit cake, since ye are going to have company nixt week," says L. "Sure and I would," says Riley, "but can ye buy a fruit cake here at a livery stable?" "Ah, gwan," says L. its at Bon Ton Bakery that they makes such delicious and wholesome cakes, pies and bread which is the staff ive life." "Where is The Bon Ton Bakery?" says Riley. "On Front strate," says L. "Why ive everybody knows that bakery. I could take a pie right now meself," says Riley. "I say, I am wid yer, its me that could do the same thing." We thin made a bee-line for the bakery. "Give me a fruit cake," says Riley. "Yis, sir," says Henry Abley. "This one is a year old." "I do not want a stale wan," says Riley, who was thin gittin mad.

"What makes yez lave yer whiskers growin loike that for, Riley?" "What's the matter wid thin whiskers," says he. "I say, ye only have thin round under yer face and its a billy gait that ye reminds me ive. Git em cut off at wance," says L. "Where is they a tonorial artist?" says Riley. "Come with me to Ira Thompkins, its him that's a tonorial artist," I say, to suit me.

"The towels were white and clane. The razor sharp and kane. The artist hands I scarce could fole so any he wielded the glittering stae."

"Lits find a restaurant; we've bin ruin round so much that I am tired and hungry," says Riley who looked just what he had spoke. "Ah, if its hungry ye are Riley," says L. "Thin wait til we git to the Union restaurant on Sixth street. Its W. F. Hathway that's runnin it for Mrs. G. McDaniel. Its loike goin home for a good square male thos wholesome and timplin. It is if ye ate there. Jist wait and see how polite thin waiter ar. Riley, Ah, an how nice the male served to yez—the bist ive iverrithin thos goods to eat—where the real colory art is in ividence, to ivery wan ive the money that ates at there."

"Now that ye are in town its gits our picture takin together," says L. to Riley. "Its gits the thing—I had a letter from me uncles, yesterday, that laves in Gipparyan ar he wants me to stud him a photty graft ive meself and its now that we'll gitt thin takin," says Riley to me. Thin we wat at wance to C. L. Cleverly's Gally and sit down for pictures. An pon me word Cleverly is a photty-grafter that takes an honest pride in his work. He kin take pictures that ar pitures. Be the hiving he's got that knack for pooin subjects that distinguishes him from the ordinary camera snapper, an its this faculty for likeness making that has brought him into repute as a photty-grafter.

"Who fills yez perscriptions for yez?" says Riley to me. "What's that, Riley?" says L. "Sure an ye ar sick?" "I am not sick," says Riley, "but me wife give me this perscription to git filled before I come home." "Do ye see that invitin Drug store cross the strate, lit up so foine, Riley, wid all thin bottles lookin so aliek?" "Yis," says he. "Will, thos Kromer's Drug Store, its right there I git all me perscriptions filled an buy all me medicines. The management is always civil and painstakin lookin iverrithin they dines for yez." "Thin is not drug in thos glass case?" says Riley who was inside the store. "Ive coarse not," says L. "Its a u-n-d-r-i-e-s. Git yer wife an daughters ach a tooth brush," says L. "We've got one at home now," says Riley. "I'll take home a hot water bag; me wife says its bist thing yit to go after, beer in." "This wan is $2.00," says Kromer. "Ah, sure, an ye ar hard yad," says Riley to me. "New, I am not," says L. Thin what did yez pon yist watch to thin flow for, thin yez jist mit?" "Ah, de yez moind, Riley, that was A. Letcher, the jeweler here that iveryone knows. I jist give him me watch an told him to fix it. He does all me work, an he's a raylible jeweler to dale with too, he is, and its Letcher that has a foine stock."

"I can't have the idea ive goin home again," says Riley, emergin from the restaurant—since we bin livin so high down here! "What's the matter?" says L. "Aint yer wife a good cook?" "Ye're the first moind that Iver accused her ive bin a cook at all," says Riley. "but me wife laves all the blame on de she ovver." "Thin git her a Superior Range from Hair-Riddle Hardware Co." "From who?" says Riley. "Why, from Hair-Riddle Hardware Co., who runs that big gin'ral hard-

WORN TO A SHADOW.

When there is a falling off in flesh in women or men, it is a warning of something wrong. And that something wrong is generally a loss of nutrition due to disease of the stomach and the other organs of digestion and nutrition. Sooner or later this loss of flesh is accompanied by variable appetite, nervousness, irritability, sleeplessness, and other symptoms of general debility. Now I am so greatly interested in this loss of nutrition and falling off in flesh.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food so that lost flesh is regained and the physical health re-established.

TRADES THAT KILL

Stonemasons who work on sandstone seldom live to be more than fifty years of age and nearly all of them die of lung disease due to the inhalation of mineral dust. "Another class of workers who succumb to lung troubles are those who prepare feathers for trimmings and ornaments. They inhale the floating, feathery particles, and in three years disease has a firm hold on them. The grinders and polishers of cut-glass rarely live beyond the age of forty. They too die of lung trouble. The average death rate for consumption is reckoned at about sixteen per cent. of the total mortality from disease. But among flint-polishers that percentage leaps from sixteen to eighty per cent.; among needle-polishers to seventy per cent.; and among file-cutters to sixty-two per cent. These are some of the trades that kill.

These facts and figures force upon attention the delicacy of the lungs and the other organs of respiration. It is impossible to be too careful of the lungs, and the very first symptoms of weakness in these organs should be at once met and overcome by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

"Four years ago I had a bad spell of sickness," writes Mrs. Mollie Jacobs, of Felton, Kent Co., Del. "I was taken with a terrible cough, coughed and spit blood until I grew weaker every day; had chills and night-sweats; not much appetite; bread tasted like dry wood or no taste at all. I had three doctors in during the time I was sick; they all told me I had consumption. I am of a consumptive family—my father and one brother having already died with it—so I thought I must go the same way. I was in a terrible state of health, and my mind was worked up considerably. I thought I must die soon, but I did not want to—wanted to live to care for my little children until they were able to take care of themselves. About that time a friend of mine advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and so I did. The first bottle did me good so I kept on taking it. Took sixteen bottles altogether, and I believe that God and Dr. Pierce's medicine saved my life. When I commenced to take the medicine I could not pump a bucket of water and could only carry half a bucketful. Was so weak I could not sweep a floor with a carpet on it; in fact, could hardly walk. Since taking Dr. Pierce's medicine I have done the washing and all the work for five in my family, picked berries and worked in a canning factory. Any invalid wishing to know about my case may send a stamp for return reply and I will answer."

It is agreed to-day by physicians that consumption is not inherited, but is communicated from one person to another. It is, however, true that in some families there is a tendency to lung weakness, which greatly increases the liability of its members to that dreaded disease. The use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery by those who have "weak" lungs, will result in the strengthening of these organs, and enable them to resist or throw off disease. "Golden Medical Discovery" cures deep-seated coughs, bronchitis, bleeding of the lungs and other forms of disease which if neglected or unskillfully treated may find a fatal termination in consumption.

"I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes W. S. Long, Esq., of Frankfort, Sussex Co., Del. "After recovering from a spell of pneumonia, I was taken with a terrible cough, and nothing seemed to do me any good until I began taking the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' Before I took the medicine I was very weak and nervous, with no appetite, and could not sleep at night, and my friends felt sure that I had consumption. Before taking one bottle my appetite improved greatly, and after taking four bottles I was completely cured. I think there is no medicine equal to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and strongly recommend it to all similar sufferers."

If you are suffering from an obstinate, lingering cough, if your lungs are "weak" or delicate, or if you have developed lung trouble, and are weak and emaciated, you may take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery with the assurance that in scores and hundreds of cases like your own the use of the "Discovery" has resulted in a perfect and permanent cure.

Persons suffering from disease in chronic form are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and absolutely confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Don't be fooled into trading a substance for a shadow. Any substitute offered as "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery" is a shadow of that medicine. There are cures behind every claim made for the "Discovery," which no "just-as-good" medicine can show; therefore, accept no substitute for the "Discovery."
