

STORIES MADE WITH FEET.

Animal Tracks in the Wood Which Betray Identity.

Each animal makes its own kind of track in the mud, snow or dust. No two make exactly the same. The track of a coon is never like that of a fox and the track of a fox is readily distinguished from that of a rabbit or small dog. And, more than that, the track of one coon may differ from that of his own brother, so that one can sometimes distinguish the track of a given individual and by seeing it on different occasions get something like an insight into its life. Thus a famous grizzly in the west was known by his track. One of his toes had been cut off by a trap, and the difference that made in his track was easy to see.

To come nearer home, our common animals sometimes have unpleasant experiences with their feet. The tracks of these on their feet often add a peculiarity that identifies the animal. In other cases the track is extra large or small or is crooked, but it always keeps the main features of its kind. The track of one sort of animal rarely need be mistaken for that of another, and the A B C of tracking is to learn the chief kinds of footmarks that are to be found in your region. The way to learn tracks is to draw those that you find, never sketching them right from nature, never from memory, and it is always best to make them exactly life size.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Our Debt to Our Mothers.

In MacLaren in The Christian Endeavor World paid the following beautiful tribute to mothers: "The person to whom you owe more than you can ever pay or even imagine is your mother. She endured more for you, served you more patiently, loved you more fondly, thought of you more bravely, than any other person you have known on earth or will ever know save your wife or your husband, if indeed they can always be excepted. If your mother be spared to you, then are you bound to make her a first charge on your life, as you desire a peaceful conscience and as you shall answer before the judgment seat of God. She must be accompanied with ever observance of comfort and honor and gentleness and love, with sacrifices also, if so be it will please her, of tastes and occupations and time and even friendship, and after you have done all that you can think of and any one can suggest you will still remain a hopeless bankrupt for the love where with she loved you."

The Warhorse.

The horse in war is expensive, fragile and a fool. He is greedy, and his food is as bulky as himself. He requires an expert to keep him efficient under hard work and a miracle to keep him alive under heavy fire. He must be watched and guarded more carefully than the lines of communication both in action and in camp. He is a coward. The race of them that snorted "hal" among the trumpets, the noise of the captains and the shouting is dead, if it ever lived at all outside the inspired mind of the plume stricken poet. He is a traitor and will desert to the enemy at the first opportunity, probably with the first opportunity in his saddlebags and a useful ride in the bucket.—Spectator.

Identified.

The general postoffice at Paris once received a letter addressed "To Monsieur, My Son, Rue ——" etc. They were going to send it to what in France corresponds to our dead letter office, but a clerk objected. "There must be two fools in that family," he said. "We shall find out to whom it belongs." Sure enough, in a few days a stupid looking youth entered and said to the clerk: "I'd like to find out if you haven't kept here a letter for me from my father?" "Yes, sir," replied the clerk. "Here it is."

Puzzled.

"Well, daughter," observed the kind father, "now that you have gone through college at an expenditure of four years' time and $10,000 in real money, and as near as I can study it out, you show a net gain intellectually of being able to recite your class roll and possess a new and strange accent in your voice, I can't help but wonder what that 'vocation in life' you said all this education was fit for you. Were you intending to be a brakeman?"—Baltimore American.

A Sad Mistake.

Visitor—Fardon, aren't you really, my good man, but what are you in prison for? Prisoner—I am serving time for stealing $50,000 from the bank I worked for. Visitor—That was a sad mistake. Prisoner—I know it. Curse the day I didn't steal $100,000.—Ohio State Journal.

A Silent Part.

Grooves—That's Bacon. He isn't upon speaking terms with any member of the company. Foyer—You don't mean it! What was the cause of the ill feeling? Grooves—Never was any cause, always the same. He has only thinking parts, you know.—Boston Transcript.

Naturally.

Jones—What struck you most significantly in that hurricane you described at the club last night? Browne—Well, I should say it was the blow.—Yonkers Herald.

The man who has never needed to have any teeth pulled out is the loudest in advising the sufferer to "brace up like a man and have the thing out at once."

HIS LIFE IN PERIL.

"I just seemed to have gone all to pieces," writes Alfred H. W. of Dallas, Tex. "Biliousness and a lame back had made life a burden. I couldn't eat or sleep and felt almost too worn out to work when I began to use Electric Bitters, but they worked wonders. Now I sleep like a top, can eat anything, have gained in strength and enjoy hard work. They give vigorous health and new life to weak, sickly, run down people. They. Only 50c at W. F. Fortune Telling does not take into consideration the one essential to woman's happiness—womanly health. There is many a woman whose future seems absolutely unlimited who is marked by her own condition for future disappointment and distress. The woman who neglects her health is neglecting her fortune. For without health love loses its lustre and gold is but dust. Womanly health may be retained or regained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regular circulation, does not drain which weakens women, heals inflammation and cures all manner of female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well, and restores youth to the aged.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

DR. GUNN'S BLOOD AND NERVE TONIC.

There is not a woman in this land but at some time in her life would have been the better for the use of this tonic. For diseases peculiar to women, a better medicine was never made. It is composed of the ingredients from which the system has been deprived by disease, over-work or dissipation. It enters at once into the circulation, building up the tissues that have been wasted, and making more rich blood in the most direct way. For weak, nervous and unsteady people, simply pale or fleshless people, it will make strong steady nerves and give the complexion which wholesome food indicates health. We have hundreds of letters that people have written us, saying that they had gained in good solid flesh at the rate of one to three pounds per week while using Dr. Gunn's Blood and Nerve Tonic. It should be taken after meals, one or two tablets each time. Druggists sell it in the form of three boxes for $2.00, or six boxes for $4.00, in advance. We are glad to make reply to letters of inquiry, the advice we give you is plain, and easily understood. Address: Dr. Joseph W. Gunn, Philadelphia, Pa. For sale by W. F. Kromer.
