THURSDAY, MARCH 26, 1903.

Governor McBride of Washington vetoed the appropriation of $50,000, made by the legislature of that state for the Lelwis & Clark fair. He will, however, appoint a commission and insists that Washington may be worthily represented without this appropriation.

Voters will not be required to register in order to vote at the coming special congressional election. They are required to register once in two years and no oftener. Those who have become voters sincethe time of registration, or those who have changed their residence sincethat time will be entitled to vote on presentation of the required affidavits.

seeker after the "America" cup, has a new challonger aftoat this year, the "Shamrock III." This vessel is said to be a new departure in yatchts and minutes longer. her peculiar construction is attracting a good deal of attention. The Amer icans have been winning the yacht races for so long that they are very liable to be over confident is a historical source of defeat. While the Americans are patriotic in yacht racing as in other ways, yet it is likely that they would not feel very sorrow. ful if Lapton should lift the cup, as they feel such gameness as his is de serving of reward. If Lipton should win, it breaks the monotony of results in this annual event and will revive the flagging interest.

At the present time, it seems very likely that the Lowis & Clark fair appropriation bill will be subjected to the referendum. While in our opinion the bill will be supported by the popular vote, yet if the people want the referendum they should have it on this or any other measure under the sun. While the intelligence of "the masses" is often spoken of lightly, it will be noticed that the popular decision is generally a wisone, especially where the question is well understood. It is better, in almost every case, to hearken unto the voice of the people, than unto the voice of the politician and manipulater. If the referendum is a privilege of the people, let them use it, when and where they will. The referendum may be considered the people's per measure and those who oppose it ro hamper its workings are going up against a thing that is greater and more powerful than political organizations. Popular sentiment is the greatest political power and those work against it must do so quietly, to avoid arousing it.
