THURSDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1934.

Japan is raising a new army of 500,000 men for Manchuria besides providing defense for Formosa and other islands against the second Pacific squadron of Russia. It appears as though the Russians would have to operate their single track railway to the limit to effect the power which Japan will throw into the field.

Before the next issue of the Courier, the bells will have sounded to announce the birth of the new year. We take this opportunity to wish our friends and patrons, one and all, a happy and prosperous New Year, with success for their undertakings and a generous share of contentment and happiness in their lives. For the liberal support given by its patrons in the past and preceding years, the Courier extends appreciation and sincere thanks. The past year has seen the most substantial increase, both in the subscription list and in the volume of business in other departments, of any year of the Courier's existence. Though we are beginning the present year under serious mechanical difficulties as a result of the Courier plant being cramped up in constricted space in one room on the second floor, while building operations are going on below, these difficulties are only temporary and it will not be long until the Courier will be permitted to occupy its new quarters at the old location, where it will be more conveniently and commodiously situated than ever before and in a better position than ever to give its patrons the best in all departments of the printing line. The Courier's policy in the future as in the past, will be to give its patrons a paper that is clean, reliable and fair, giving the news while it is in news and covering as completely as possible the local, state and national news columns and the job printing department, the Courier prints all its competitors by a considerable margin and success in the best proof of excellence. In the coming year as in past years our aim is toward constant progress and improvement and it is our intention to make the 1935 volume of the Courier, the best thus far of the series.

VISITS HIS BOYHOOD HOME

Mr. Jewell Finds Many Changes in South.

Stephen Jewell is home from an extended trip East, during which he visited the World's Fair and various sections of the South, but spent most of his time at the home of his boyhood in Mayfield, Kentucky. It has been 35 years since Mr. Jewell came west and in that time many changes took place at his old home, especially of the people, but the village school stood as of yore with no great changes except in teacher and pupils. Mr. Jewell visited the school and made a short address to the scholars.

Mayfield was within the lines of the Confederate army and Mr. Jewell had four brothers in that service. He was rather too young for a soldier and was left at home by his brothers to care for their mother. Two of his brothers were killed in battle, one at Shiloh and the other before Atlanta. Another brother, who was in General Forrest's old regiment, the Seventh Tennessee, was shot through the body at the battle of Franklin, the bullet lodging under the skin of his back, from where it was cut out by the surgeons. He survived and died only a few years ago. The bullet was given by the family to Mr. Jewell, who brought it back with him. He also has a number of other relics which he picked up on some of the battle fields he visited. He also brought back with him a bloodstained letter found on the body of his brother, killed at Shiloh. The letter was addressed to the brother and was a letter of introduction to the brother's wife, who was a sister of the brother's. The letter was written on a leaf from the company's roster book. It is a tender, manly, well written letter that was addressed to his parents, and the few lines of war news that it contains tell of the scarcity of provisions, clothing and money and of the battles they had lost, and of the likelihood that if the South lost that the Confederates would have to suffer for what they had done. But the tone of the letter was hopeful, the young man having the same American spirit of determined courage that animated the soldiers of both armies, and which buoyed up the Confederates through all their reverses, until they finally laid their arms down at Appomattox. Mr. Jewell says he found no animosity against the North in the South and the Ex-Confederates whom he met are now as loyal to the Union as are the old soldiers of the North. The industrial progress and prosperity of the South was a revelation to Mr. Jewell. His cotton and other factories were numerous and the people were prosperous and contented.

TELEPHONES 500C A MONTH

Miners and Farmers Can Have Cheap First-Class Service.

It is more than likely that by a year hence all the mining districts and farming sections of Josephine county will be connected by telephone lines with the long distance lines and the Grants Pass exchange. The Pacific States Telephone & Telegraph Company, which now has all the towns in this county connected by telephone and a local exchange in each town, is now undertaking to extend their telephone service to cover all the rural districts of this county. As will be seen by the subjoined statement by G. O. Oium, manager for this district, the company is offering a low rate to the farmers and miners who wish to put in telephones. These rural telephone lines are not expensive to build for the poles would cost the farmers nothing and the labor of cutting and setting the poles could be done during the winter months when there is no rush of farm work. Wire and insulators would cost about $10 per mile. The poles are supplied by the company, but the expense of installing them and of stringing the wire has to be borne by the subscribers. This work does not require an electrician for it is so simple that any bright person can learn the business with a little study, and Supt. Oium will teach persons how to do the work. These rural telephone lines would be of very great advantage to farmers and miners for in addition to being a convenience in having telephonic con-

Rev. Clark of Wilderville occupied the pulpit of the M. E. church Sunday.

The young child of Arthur Hussey was reported quite sick first of the week.

Miss Josephine Crow, our primary teacher will spend Christmas at home at the ranch.

The Merlin-Galice road is being repaired in hopes that it will be above high water mark by the time the heavy rains come on.

The time for new resolutions and good cheer is nearly here. In the absence of a public entertainment and Christmas tree, nearly every family had a home Christmas tree.

Harley Keyte, Carl Yancy and Barley Green returned lately from California, where they have been working the past summer and fall.

The basket social given at McConnel hall by the Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. Church, on last Friday evening, was a fine success. The net sum of $20 was realized.

THE DRAINAGE OF ROADS A RURAL MAIL SERVICE TO HELP BOOM THE TOWN

Water is the Greatest Enemy of Good Highways

Among the elements and forces of nature there are several enemies of good roads, but the greatest of them is water. It washes away the material of the road. It soaks into the road and softens it so that the wagon wheels cut into the surface, making ruts and holes. It permeates and softens the foundation so that the surface of the road shifts or breaks up. In the winter the water that is in the road freezes, expands and loosens and disintegrates the road material.

The most important thing in the building of roads is to lessen or prevent the ravages of water. Yet no feature of the road is so neglected as this. Many local road supervisors seem to give no consideration to the question of drainage, and the result is a

Ranchers and Miners on Upper Jump-off Joe Benefitted.

Josephine county is in the march of progress and is soon to have its first rural mail route. An application was made some time since for a rural mail route out of Grants Pass to embrace the Jump-off Joe section, and Friday, E. C. Clement, rural route inspector for the Pacific Coast States, was over the route, and while not definitely committing himself, yet he gave out that the proposed route met the Department's requirements as to possible condition of road, distance and number of patrons. It is quite certain that the route will be established and the service begun early in the spring. The route will be by the upper road to Jump-off Joe and thence down that stream to the lower road to Grants Pass, which will be used for the return trip. This rural mail service will eliminate Winona post office and cut off considerable mail from the Merlin and Hugo offices. The route will not reach all the miners and ranchers on upper Jump-off Joe, but will be so near that they can get mail from it.

Golden Gleanings.

This snow and rain looks nice to the miners, as it looks wintry now.

William Noble went to Ashland to spend Christmas with his family.

About 3 inches of snow on the hills. It looks nice to see the trees covered with snow.

The wondering Daisy of Wonder, says the second crop of hollyhocks are in bloom. How many times a year do they bloom?

C. Bennett, our groceryman was in Grants Pass last week. He has just moved into his new store. He has a large stock of goods.

Times are lively around Golden now. W. N. Noble has his grizzly moved and ready to begin piping. He will run night and day as soon as water comes.

J. W. McCollum made an extended business trip to Grants Pass the latter part of last week. Listen, don't you begin to hear those wedding bells?

Jim McCann, who has been having a severe case of typhoid fever, has improved as to be able to be brought out to his cousin's, Charles McCann's.

The entertainment at the school house was a complete success, was well supplied with cake and coffee. We give special credit to the lecture delivered by Brother X. Y. Z., subject, "The Apple in the Garden of Eden." Raised $15 toward enlarging the school library. On the vote for the best looking young lady in the crowd, Miss Pearl Lewis won the prize.

Mr. Wagner was successful in winning a prize. Everyone present enjoyed themselves and went home in the best of spirits.

The old year will soon be gone. How many will be turning over a new leaf, whether for a long time or a short time, who knows? But let us each strive to keep out of the ruts, and be gaining in the knowledge of a higher life.

There will be preaching at J. Hocking's on the first day of new year, at 3:30 in the afternoon. Zenoni.

There was a Christmas tree at the church Christmas Eve, and quite a crowd out, as bad as the weather was.

Clarence and Kirk Robinson are spending vacation at home. They will return to their school at Eugene soon.

Nice weather for holidays. Next Sabbath is quarterly meeting at Wilderville. Mr. Clark is to preach at 11 a. m. and the presiding elder is to preach in the evening.

There was no Sunday school last Sabbath, as people were up so late Saturday night at the Christmas tree. They were too late for Sabbath school. Mr. Clark preached at 11 o'clock, and at 6:30 o'clock in the evening.

The 14 months old babe of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lippell lay on a hot stove lid and burned his hip pretty badly Saturday evening last. Zenoni.

Road Briefs.

What Various States Are Doing to Improve Their Highways.

New York will establish a state plant to be operated by convict labor at Sing Sing, to crush stone for use in constructing good roads.

The Chicago Automobile club has organized a summer club to travel throughout the country around the city and take pictures of the bad roads.

At all the road conventions held during the last year the question of co-operation in road building between the federal government and the states has been a leading topic of discussion, and every convention held up to this time has endorsed the plan with practical unanimity.

The farmers of Vermont are asking for a million dollars for good roads next year.

During the past ten years Massachusetts has shown an increase of $35,000,000 in farm values, and it is attributed mainly to good roads.

It is said that a horse can pull 5,270 pounds on a level macadamized road, and it takes five horses to pull the same load on an ordinary dirt road and ten horses to pull the load in loose sand or mud.

Rural Delivery Notes

It is estimated by the postmaster general that postal receipts this fiscal year will approximate $144,000,000, which is nearly double the figure of less than ten years ago. This great expansion of the revenue—and the postal expense as well, which is even greater—largely due, of course, to the extension of the rural free delivery service.

The appropriation for the rural free delivery service for the coming year is $20,772,700, but this sum will not enable the department to create as many new routes as were possible last year. The reason for this is that of per cent of the appropriation will be used to pay salaries of carriers under the increased rate of pay.

It is expected that with the new order of things it will be possible to establish routes at the rate of about 600 a month. At this rate the entire appropriation will be expended by the time congress meets in December.

Miss Ruth Lutz, nineteen years old, of New Bedford, Mass. has been appointed a rural mail carrier on a route that has been given up by two men because of the rigors of the position.
