THURSDAY, JANUARY 19, 1905.

Senator Mitchell, who has not entered the senate chamber since his indictment, has, it is announced decided to go into senate and make a statement in self defense. He will explain whatever connection he has with the land fraud cases and claims to be able satisfactorily to explain every charge.

The land frauds investigation is daily swelling in dimensions and hardly a day passes that some new suspicion of complicity on the part of some public man is not launched. It is now rumored that the cancellation of hundreds of timber claims on account of bogus filings may occur. Southern Oregon and the Rogue river district are expected to be affected by this move.

Governor Chamberlain in his message to the legislature, recommended legislation towards establishment of whipping posts for wife beaters Senator Sichel has introduced a measure in accordance with this sentiment, prescribing a penalty of 40 lashes with a whip or one year's imprisonment for this offense. The legislators shou'd go further and provide spanking machines for obstreperous boys. The last is a sorely needed institution.

The long expected appropriation for the Celilo canal, to open the upper Columbia, will not be forthcoming this year if Chairman Burton of the rivers and harbors committee in congress knows what he is talking about. He thinks an appropriation for the Columbia jetty should satisfy Oregon this year. His position has raised a storm of disapproval in Portland and the "inland empire". It is claimed that the government is bound by virtual agreement to furnish money for both projects.

Missouri Flat Mining News.

Jesse Berner and Archie Willey, two Missouri Flat miners, were in Grants Pass over Wednesday night and returned Thursday to their mine with a load of supplies. To a Courier representative they gave news of the Missouri Flat mining district.

Mr. Berner, in company with Fred M. Miller, is operating a placer mine that belongs to Mr. Miller and Supt. Lincoln Savage, Mr. Berner having leased Mr. Savage's interest. This placer is located on Missouri Flat and is equipped with a No. 1 giant. Water is brought from Miller and Rocker creeks by a flume 1½ miles long and a ditch of three miles. Ample water during the entire rainy season is had under good pressure and as the bank is of but 20 feet of easy working earth a large area of bedrock can be cleaned each year. While it is a small placer, as compared with many of this district, yet it has always yielded good returns to the operators.

Mr. Willey is working for Messrs. Miller & Berner, but finds time to do some prospecting and recently he located a ledge on the Miller creek side of the divide between that stream and Oscar creek, that is showing up quite well. At the close of the placer season he expects to do some extensive development work on his ledge and ascertain its real value.

Robert Jackson and Chas. Foraker, two prospectors from Galice, have located a ledge on Miller creek, two miles up from Missouri Flat, and 1½ miles from the Mountain Lion mine. The ledge is well defined and runs from six inches to a foot in width and is of free milling ore and plentifully filled with gold that it is readily seen with the naked eye. In values it runs so high that it is not well to publish the figures, as it would prove distressing to the knockers and chronic growlers whose chosen vocation it is to run down every mining venture in Southern Oregon. Competent mining men who have examined this ledge, believe it will prove to be one of the great mines in Southern Oregon. Some 40 feet of tunnel work has been done and Messrs. Jackson & Foraker will continue the development until they have more fully demonstrated the extent and richness of their find.

New Placer on Hog Creek.

A rich placer find has been made on the head of Hog creek by Roy Garoutte, E. H. Yancy and another man, whose name, J. C. Cochrane, who gave the Courier the item could not recall. The parties are developing their claim by means of ground sluicing and a fine quality of coarse gold is being gotten in considerable quantities. This placer, while rather small in extent, promises to be quite rich, but owing to lack of water, can only be worked by ground sluicing during winter months, reservoir heads being used to increase the supply of water to be had from the creek. From indications it is thought a rich ledge is in the hill on which the creek heads and Mr. Garoutte and his partners intend, when placer work ceases in the spring, to do some extensive prospecting on the hill. Like many of the miners of Southern Oregon, Messrs. Garoutte & Yancy find they have a contest to make to secure their mines, a timber claim entry having been been made for the same piece of land. While it will put them to some expense to fight a contest, they have no doubt but what they will hold their claims.

CIRCUIT COURT NOTES

Shortest Term for Some Time—Jury Not Empaneled.

After a session of but six days, Judge H. K. Hanna adjourned the January term of circuit court Saturday night at 10 o'clock, the Judge holding an evening session so he could clear the docket and return to his home at Jacksonville, which he did Sunday morning. This was one of the shortest terms of court for Josephine county for some time past, and though there were a goodly number of cases on the docket, Judge Hanna succeeded in getting most of them disposed of and but few were continued and these only for the reason that the parties were not in position to have their cases called this term.

One of the chief factors in shortening the term was the fact that there was not a single jury trial, lawyers and litigants alike being willing to try their cases before the Judge alone, having such confidence in the judicial knowledge and absolute fairness and impartiality of Judge Hanna that they were willing to forego a jury and trust the merits of their cases to his decision. A part of the jurymen were discharged the second day of court and Wednesday morning Judge Hanna discharged the remainder. The jurymen appreciated the release and the taxpayers were saved a considerable expense.

The following were the jurymen in attendance:

Office in Competent Hands

Though comparatively new in the work of handling the clerical duties pertaining to the circuit court, he having been in office but a few months, County Clerk S. F. Cheshire dispatched the duties in a manner that brought him compliments both from Judge Hanna and the members of the bar. Though the work was dispatched with the utmost [illegible] yet when court adjourned Mr. Cheshire had [illegible] all [illegible] ready for the signature of the presiding Judge. And this work was done while he had the [illegible] of the county court [illegible] [illegible] being in session when the circuit court convened, and this term of county court handled more business than ever considered at any one session, there being 19 [illegible] in addition to the usual large amount of general business, the auditing of 323 expense bills. The record work of the county court was completed quite as promptly as that of the circuit court, and no neglect was done to the other duties that pertain to the office, for the clerk of Josephine county, in addition to being clerk of both the circuit and county courts does duty as county recorder, this county having no recorder, and attends to recording all transfers and to filing of papers, the issuing of marriage licenses and a multitude of other duties. And then there are the innumerable requests, both personally and by mail, on every imaginable subject even to the whereabouts of a deserting husband, the price of farm land, or of the record of some minor, obscure matter transacted years ago, that have to be attended to each day.

And it can be further said that Mr. Cheshire attends to all these multitude of duties with the assistance of but one deputy. That position is held by T. P. Judson and to him much credit is also due for the promptness and thoroughness with which the duties of the clerk's office are dispatched, for he is quite as hard a worker, competent and accommodating as is Mr. Cheshire.

County Jail Given Clean-up.

The Josephine county jail having been left tenantless of its six inmates by the thorough work of the circuit court last week, Jailer W. M. Cheshire has given the entire building, the cells and the corridor, a thorough cleaning, fumigating and ventilating to have it in readiness for the next occupants, who are soon to come from the ranks of the 25 to 50 hobos and transients, who visit Grants Pass daily in their migrations north and south along the railroad. The jail was left in a fairly decent condition by its late inmates, one of whom was an ex-sailor, and he, sailor-like, enforced cleanliness among his companions, at least as much as can be done with these white Indians, who are more filthy and degraded than were the original nomads of this country. Jailer Cheshire does his best to enforce cleanliness among the jail birds, but they come in reeking in rags, filth and vermin and an inborn aversion to water, and to make them keep clean is no small matter. But Mr. Cheshire is equal to the task and Josephine county's hobo guests get one thorough lesson in cleanliness and decency.

In deference to the general wish to hold no large public gatherings during the time the diphtheria was prevalent in Grants Pass the various Masonic bodies, except Melita Commandery, did not hold their installation on St. Johns Day as is their custom. The joint installation of officers for Reames Chapter No. 28, Grants Pass Lodge No. 84 and Josephine Chapter No. 26 will be held at Masonic Temple on Friday evening, January 27. A banquet and social hour will follow the installation exercises and it is expected to make of it the event a gathering of all the members of the Masonic orders in this vicinity.

Applegate Items.

Martin Pernoll took some fine fat hogs to Grants Pass last Monday.

Eat L. G. Smith's fancy candies and peanuts and live a hundred years.

F. M. Miller one of the owners of the Miller & Savage placer mines, went to Grants Pass last Thursday.

E. N. Provolt and H. Messenger took several head of beef cattle to Grants Pass last Saturday.

If you are undecided about what the sweetest thing is in this world, just ask Tom Carter or Link Fields.

B. W. Baldwin, one of our hop growers of Provolt, has been in Grants Pass for several days on the jury.

We are sorry to state that J. W. Gotcher of Williams, who has been ill for some time with rheumatism, is no better.

Mrs. A. L. Bailey and Mrs. R. F. Lewman were at Grants Pass last Tuesday doing some business and shopping.

Most all the dry gulch miners in this section are finding it rather dry for placer mining. The cold nights have made the water very low.

G. N. and J. R. Bailey were called to Grants Pass last Saturday on a law suit between Cramer Bros. and the Mountain Lion mine. They are owners of this property.

Mr. Arch Bunch, who has been sick at Grants Pass for the last three months with typhoid fever, has recovered his health and moved home to his farm at Murphy last week.

E. V. Provolt is doing quite a bit of improving on his farm this winter and is probably getting ready to make a bold stand like Herman Messenger did, (another bachelor) and take unto himself a better half soon.

Alex Watts is operating his placer mine with good success. He has one of the best paying mines and one of the best water supplies in this section. Mr. Watts is also a farmer and likes to see things move along.

Rev. Austin of Central Point is holding a series of meeting at the Williams Baptist church. The meetings began 10 days ago and good attendance is had and considerable interest is being taken in the meetings.

Wm. Fields of Foots creek, has obtained a position with the Rehkopf Hop Co. for the summer and moved his family over last Monday. Mr. Rehkopf has had some trouble about getting men to work for him this winter on account of the cold weather.

Mr. Roberts of the Bone of Contention mine, who left for Illinois some time ago, returned last week, bringing with him a young bride. We wish them good success and all the happiness in the world, but think it hard that he had to go so far to get a wife when there are so many pretty girls in Oregon.
