FINE SAMPLES OF GRAIN AND GRASSES

Applegate Farmers Make an Addition to the Josephine County Exhibit.

J. W. Gilmore is a Josephine county farmer who is doing his full share toward securing agricultural exhibits for the Josephine county exhibit at the Lewis and Clark fair. Mr. Gilmore conducts the store and postoffice at Murphy and also has a farm at that place. Two weeks ago he brought in a fine selection of different kinds of grain and turned it over to R. L. Coe, one of the members of the county exhibit committee, to be sent to Portland. Last Saturday Mr. Gilmore was in Grants Pass again for a load of goods and he brought another fine collection of grains and grasses. He left them at the Courier office so that they could be shown to the visiting editors of the National Editorial Association, who would pass through Grants Pass the following Monday. The editors being delayed and reaching this place late at night, their train made but a brief stop so the reception committee was unable to show them any specimens of the agricultural products of the county. The samples, however, will be turned over to the Lewis and Clark fair committee and will be forwarded to Portland.

The five samples are contributions from Mr. Gilmore, the Hayes brothers, Frank, Eugene and William, A. M. Burch, J. D. Wimer and J. T. Cook, and embrace wheat, oats, barley, alfalfa, timothy, velvet grass, bunchgrass and wild rye grass. All the samples are very fine and will convince Easterners of the fertility of the soil of Josephine county. Some of the oats are over seven feet high and the wheat six feet high, and both are unusually well headed. The timothy would do credit to an Illinois meadow, while the wild grasses show what kind of feed is found on the ranges of Southern Oregon.

Larger Engines for This Division.

So great is the traffic on this division of the Southern Pacific that more motive power has become a necessity. To supply this need it is reported among railroad men that a transfer of helper engines will soon be made. The three O. R. & N. 71 ton engines that have been here for the last two months, running as helpers across the Unqupa divide between Grants Pass and West Fork, go to Roseburg, so the report is, and will do helper work on that division north across the Calapooia divide to the Willamette Valley. The Grants Pass division will be supplied with helpers from the Blue mountain division of the O. R. & N. These are 90 ton engines and are thought to be strong enough to get the heavy trains over the steep grades north of this city. New helpers that are to weigh from 120 to 130 tons each, are to come from the factory in the East to help the O. R. & N. trains over the Blue mountains.

Passenger traffic on this line of the Southern Pacific has increased very rapidly of late and the regular passenger trains are run in two to three sections. With the specials that are run there are now from eight to 12 passenger trains daily passing Grants Pass. The freight traffic has also increased very largely, and the regular trains are frequently run in sections and there are also many special freights run.

Finds a Rich Placer on Hungry Creek.

S. M. Weston and his son, Cecil, returned Sunday from Siskiyou county, where they had spent a week in looking after some mining property they have in that county. On Hungry creek they have a vein of 18 feet and on Cottonwood creek one of 21 feet. Each of the veins have been opened up to an extent sufficient to prove that they are good properties and will justify more extensive development.

While on Hungry creek Mr. Weston discovered an old back channel of that creek that prospected quite rich. The placers along Hungry creek have been worked for 50 years and Mr. Weston thinks that he and his son have a claim that will justify a hydraulic plant, and which will be a big paying proposition. So soon as they get their top crop harvested this fall, from their yard on Rogue river five miles below this city, they will go to Siskiyou county to spend the winter and put in a hydraulic plant and work their Hungry creek placer property. They will also do some development work on their quartz properties.

That there is profit in gardens in the vicinity of Grants Pass is proven by the success of Albert Hood, who has a small garden east of town. Mr. Hood from one-sixth of an acre to peas has sold 800 pounds of green peas and harvested 300 pounds of dried peas, for which he has realized $40. This would be at the rate of $240 per acre. And he secured this big return without employing fertilizers or irrigation. He had the peas off the ground early enough to have planted a late growing crop had he been able to irrigate. The large part of the vegetables used in Grants Pass is imported from California and Willamette Valley, though the soil here is not eroded by any section of the Pacific Coast and the climate and the market are all that a gardener could desire. Truck farming is one of the most profitable industries in the vicinity of Grants Pass.

THE LOCAL HAPPENINGS

Brief Notes and Items of Interest and Importance.

A new line of colored stereoscopic views, two for 5 cents at the Courier building.

John W. Bacon and H. F. Taylor left Wednesday morning with two pack horses heavily loaded with a full prospectors outfit bound for the head of Steamboat creek. They go in by way of Holland and will spend six weeks on Steamboat and nearby streams from Grayback mountain, but if they strike it rich they may stay all summer.

J. W. Spence, who came from Langley, Kansas, early this spring to Grants Pass, expects his wife to join him next week, and if she likes this country, they will become permanent residents of this city. Mr. Spence is a painter by trade and formerly was in the shops of the Santa Fe Railroad Company. He is now doing the painting on the fine new house that is being erected for E. C. Dixon. Mr. Spence has a son in this city, who arrived here in the winter and is a machinist in the Grants Pass Iron & Steel Works.

The Southern Oregon Chautauqua Assembly will be held at Ashland, Ore., July 12th to 21st, inclusive. Reduced rates have been made by the Southern Pacific Co. on the certificate plan, from points on Oregon Lines. This Assembly promises to be of unusual interest. Among the prominent speakers will be Dr. F. W. Gunsaulus, Dr. Wm. A. Quayle, and Rabbi Stephen S. Wise. Special attention will be given the Musical Department. The Assembly building has been enlarged to double its former capacity, making ample accommodation for all.

John Randle has been appointed city dog tax collector and he has begun his work and announces that he will collect the tax on every dog in Grants Pass, which is $1.50 on male and $1.00 on female dogs. And Poundmaster Randle says that there will be no favors shown and that every owner of a dog will have to put up the license or get his dog out of town, or the luckless canine will go to dogland in a hurry. The ordinance makes no distinction as to whether the dog runs on the street or is kept in the house as to liability to a tax and all will have to pay alike in the orders under which Mr. Randle is working.

C. H. Clements, who recently opened a law office in the Masonic Block, has bought the abstract business of B. O. McCulloch and has moved his law office to the McCulloch building on Sixth and C streets near the Court House. Mr. Clements will reorganize his abstract business and the new firm will be known as the Josephine County Abstract Company. He and Mrs. Clements will reside in the rooms to the rear of the office and as she is an expert typewriter she will assist him in the office work. Both Mr. and Mrs. Clements are bright, hustling young people and they doubtless will make a success of their abstract business.

W. A. Hemenway, of Garman & Hemenway, has bought of Fred Geyer the old Miller place located across Rogue river, a mile from Grants Pass. There is 160 acres in the tract, of which 100 acres is fine level land suitable for fruit or crops. There was 40 acres of the land in cultivation years ago but it has been allowed to grow up to brush. Nearly all the land can be readily irrigated when a ditch is put through that district from Rogue river. There is a fine spring on the land and it is Mr. Hemenway's intention to dig back in the hill and open it so as to secure a larger flow of water, and then he will construct a reservoir in the ravine below and store water for irrigation. Mr. Hemenway intends to put the greater part of his land to fruit.

O. S. Goodnow, of Grants Pass, is pushing development work on his mine on Jump-off-Joe near the Hammersly mine. Mr. Goodnow has recently put in an arrastre on Jump-off-Joe at a point a mile from his mine where he has secured a fine water power and five acres of land. He has a good wagon road from his mine to the arrastre and this week he will begin to haul ore and expects to steadily operate his mill for the next three months while continuing development work. The work now done consists of two shafts, one of 20 feet and the other 40 feet, and a tunnel of 100 feet. The deepest point reached the vein is three feet in width and the ore is assaying $30 a ton. It is soft, free-milling ore and Mr. Goodnow expects to get good returns from his arrastre.

B. O. McCulloch has sold his abstract business to C. H. Clements and will spend the summer and fall on a vacation. Mr. McCulloch has been in the abstract work in Grants Pass for several years and with advancing age he feels that as he has a good competence he can lay aside active work and take life more easily. Mr. McCulloch will spend the summer and fall at Coquille and at Prineville. He will probably go to Coquille first, and will leave in a week or so. He will remain there for some time with his son, C. S. McCulloch, who conducts an abstract business at that place. He will then return to Grants Pass and from here go to Prineville where his other son resides and who is also in the abstract business. Mr. McCulloch will, if he can secure some one to accompany him, make the trip from Grants Pass to Prineville in his automobile, going by way of Klamath Falls.

HOP ACREAGE OF ROGUE RIVER VALLEY

Estimate of Last Week Increased to Give Valley 739 Acres—Big Crop for New Year

In the article published in the Courier, of last week, giving a sketch of the hop industry in Rogue River Valley, and of the acreage that there was in the vicinity of Grants Pass, mention was omitted of the yards of both Mrs. Edith Rehkopf and of Mrs. R. E. Ames. Their yards are located on the south bank of Rogue river six miles below this city.

Mrs. Rehkopf's yard embraces 23 acres and was all planted this spring. The ground is of the best Rogue river bottom and the vines have made such a big grow that experienced hopgrowers say that the yard will produce 400 to 500 pounds per acre this year. The yard is in charge of Ed Estes, who is one of the most experienced hop growers in the Valley. Mrs. Rehkopf has 85 acres in this field and she will probably plant the entire tract to hops, increasing the acreage each spring until all the land is planted.

Mrs. Ames' yard, which embraces eight acres, adjoins that of Mr. Rehkopf's and has been planted three years. The prospect for a big yield is very promising and will fully equal the best yards in the Valley.

The total acreage of hopyards in Rogue River Valley, by the estimate given last week, was 708 acres, of which 542 acres were in old yards and 166 in new yards. The yards mentioned above and which were omitted from this estimate will increase the old yards to 560 acres and the new yards to 189 acres, making a total of 749 acres for the Valley. There may be other yards that have been overlooked that will still further increase the acreage to hops in Rogue River Valley and place Southern Oregon well up to the front as one of the leading hop growing districts of the Pacific Coast.

Sheriff and Mrs. O. A. Halladay, of Charlotte, Michigan, arrived in Grants Pass Sunday, and Monday they left for the Michigan mine, of which company Mr. Halladay is secretary, to make a visit with their son, Frank Halladay, who came here early in the spring and is interested in the Michigan. Sheriff and Mrs. Halladay will be guests for a short time at the mine with the members of the company, and with Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Sowers of this city.

Mr. Halladay is sheriff of Eaton county, Michigan, and one of the leading citizens of Charlotte, in that state. While here he and Manager Sowers will visit the various stamp mills of this district and inspect them with a view of selecting the kind of a mill that they will install at the Michigan mine. They intend to put in a 10-stamp mill and they expect to have it in place within the next six weeks.
