AN IDEAL RESORT BY OLD GRAYBACK

Limpid Lakes, Snow Fields and Scenery Sublime—Good Trail and Fine Feed.
Best Biglow of Williams was here Tuesday on business.
Miss Izma Spence made Grants Pass a pleasant trip Friday.
Miss Jessie Layton was visiting with relatives in Grants Pass this week.

Oscar Williams of Murphy, was at Provolet Sunday accompanied by Harry Daze, also of Murphy.
Miss Ada Ditsworth of Applegate left Saturday for Florence Rock on Rogue river after a successful term of school.

R. Blossom, of Medford, stopped over night at Provolet this week, while en route to Crescent City, Cal., where he will spend the summer.
O. M. Knox, the Powells Creek sawmill man, was at Applegate Sunday visiting relatives and and his many friends there. Mr. Knox shut his mill down Friday till after the Fourth, resuming work Wednesday.

L. C. Hyde and family accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Z. Hyde of Laurel Grove left Saturday for Evans Creek where they will look for a farm. Before returning home they will visit the big day dam at Tolo and the dredger at Foote creek. They will be gone two weeks.

John Berry and Martin Perrelli of Applegate, were at Provolet on business Monday. Mr. Berry states that he has a fine crop of potatoes and a large yield is assured this fall, with the new big yard of Perrelli & Flowers is looking very good but the yard was not poked and no crop will be picked this season.

The baseball at Williams last Sunday was one of the best games ever played at that place. The clubbers numbered 35 to witness the defeat of the home team. Both sides played with vigor. This is the second time Williams boys have played this season. They will play the same team on the Fourth at the Murphy grounds, which will be more interesting than the former game. The tally was Murphy 12, Williams 10.

The sun shines again in this vicinity, which is much needed for the hop industry of the Applegate valley. The cold, damp weather, heretofore has been favorable to the development of lice upon the hop vine. There is also a heavy dew dew, which falls like a heavy dew at night and often causes much of the young hops. The hop vines throughout the valley are very heavy this season and the young hops are setting in good shape. There has been a change in the hop growth this season.
The poor ground appears to produce the best vines, while on the best soil the vines are very light. The yards set in 1904 are more than average and their yield will be large if the lice and mold do not interfere.

There was quite an exciting runaway Sunday at 11 o'clock, at Williams. While Ross Bradley and Jess Lewman were backing a colt to work single. The animal went very wild for some distance, but just before reaching the farm of H. H. Sparlin it became frightened and started to run.
To release itself it began to kick and left the road running over a stump some two feet in height, throwing Bradley out backwards. Lewman held to the lines when it made a swing to the opposite side of the road running over a big log turning the cart over and throwing Lewman into the fence.
The animal soon released itself, but was soon caught by John Sparlin and brought back. One broken shaft was all the damage done to the cart.
Bradley got out without bruises, but Lewman was bruised considerably but not seriously hurt.

A picnic party left Wednesday for the Grayback mountains, where they will spend two weeks in berry picking and bee hunting. The party consists of Hon. James E. Copeley, H.
E. Lewman and wife and Miss Alice L. Lewman and others of Provolet.
The ladies expect to stay close to the camp and fish where it is cool. From that camp can be seen Grants, Williams, Applegate and the Rogue river valleys. When the atmosphere is clear of smoke one can see the Pacific ocean at the going down of the sun.
This view is very beautiful to one who likes the wild of nature. Mr.
Shasta and Mr. McLoughlin show their white robes. With a field glass the goose nest on Mt. Shasta can be seen very plainly. There is a good route to this camp by way of Sycam-our and feed is plenty for stock. It is only 60 miles from Oregon's mammoth caves, the biggest in America. So far as has been discovered they have no end and their rooms are polished with limestone, and the roof is covered with specumens of beauty and in many forms.
The air is pure and the cave contains running water. This cave has currents of wind, which will put out a candle, that blow in an outlet yet undiscovered. The Miller lakes are but 20 miles from this camp. These lakes are a mystery to all who have seen them for they are on a ridge.
There are five of them the largest one contains about 15 acres. In the summer they are covered with water flowers of various color, which look like lilies and daisies. These lakes contain no fish. Their beaches cover all faults for they are the pride of Josephine county. They are located south of Grants Pass in the Grayback mountains.
