constantly for Suffrage during the months preceding the election and while we are disappointed because the measure was lost, we still expect to work, for under the Initiative we will have another chance in two years. We are glad that the men of our county showed themselves so strongly in favor of extending the right of franchise to women, as their vote was nearly two to one for it. We have great reason to rejoice in the fact that the Liquor Dealers' amendment was defeated and believe that the good women have a right to some credit in that case. At any rate we did what of this place, returned to her work at we could with our influence and some say a woman's infinence counts for much and we know it does. Well, we will "keep everlastingly at it" and after while our influence will have a clean ballot to back it up.

According to the "Ram's Horn"a few months ago, a Portland, Oregon, saloonkeeper said to a friend : "I tell the saloonkeepers we can fix the laws regarding liquor drinking any way we that they have locked arms with it to get revenue." But they didn't fix the law this time. Mrs. Bainbridge, county president of San Francisco county, California, has a tent in Golden Gate park fitted up for a reading and rest room. Many weary ones come there and good literature is much needed, also song books and toys, games, etc., for the little ones. The W. C. T. U. state beadquarters were destroyed and with everything goue it is uphill work to get the women together, but the workers are doing their best. The officials are so well pleased with the 1906. work that they are asking for more of the same kind. Mrs. John B. Henderson became
